CRISIS AT HAND FOR ROOSEVELT IN 1932 CHOICE

Tammany Angle May Decide Chances.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—The struggle for the Democratic nomination for President has already, more than a year before the national convention, reached a dramatic stage.

GOV. ROOSEVELT.

Revolving around the progress of the 49 year old governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt, toward the nomination, the drama has to do chiefly with certain actions on his part tending to "take the curse off him" as a wet and as a "Tammany supported" candidate in those parts of the country in which Democrats are predominantly dry (politically) and traditionally suspicious of anything bearing the Tammany brand.

Important Decision at Hand.

A thrilling moment in the action is now at hand. The governor is to decide what he will do about the charges filed with him alleging that Mayor James Walker of New York City is guilty of misfeasance in office. The governor has the power to remove the mayor.

Following certain recent meetings between Gov. Roosevelt and John F. Curry, leader of Tammany hall and between Curry and Louis Howe, the governor's confidential agent, it became known about that Tammany had warned the governor against sacrificing Walker to further the Roosevelt presidential ambition. Tammany could retaliate by sending anti-Roosevelt delegates to the national convention.

Tammany is under fire as never before since the days of Tweed. There has been uncovered a shocking amount of corruption in the Tammany controlled city government, police and courts.

Three Democratic Factions.

In the lurid glare cast by the New York City scandal, the Democratic party in the Empire state is perceived to be split into three factions. There is the Roosevelt faction, with its grass roots chiefly upstate. Then there are two factions in Tammany, one headed by John F. Curry, the leader of Tammany hall and Mayor Walker; the other headed by former Gov. Al Smith, Democratic candidate for President in 1928. Smith and Walker have not met each other for a long time and the elevation of Curry to the leadership of Tammany signalized the overthrow of the influence of Smith, who was credited at one time with having succeeded in pinning angels' wings on the notorious organization.

It has been no secret for months that Smith was no longer on good terms with Gov. Roosevelt. He has expressed pronounced coldness to the candidacy of the man who three times presented his name for the nomination in Democratic national conventions.

Raskob Favors Young.

Smith and Democratic National Chairman John J. Raskob are reported to be maneuvering to head off Roosevelt for the purpose of throwing the nomination to Owen D. Young, head of the power interests. One has expressed in some quarters, however, the suspicion that the real enemies of Smith and Raskob is Young, and that Young is merely being used as a stalking horse.

The 1928 campaign ended with a very widespread feeling in the Democratic party that it would be inexpedient to nominate a Roman Catholic for President for a good many years. Mr. Smith himself gave utterance to the belief that he never would be a candidate again. But of late he has been inclined not to foreclose the future. He has said if he might be a candidate again that that bridge is seventeen years hence.

There are two theories accounting for Smith's attitude. One is that in the business depression and the unpopularity of the Hoover administration and the increasing reaction against prohibition Al thinks that the circumstances tend to his election. Others have been greatly en-

THE SHELL SHOCK VICTIM

TRAGEDY ENDS BOYS' HUNTING TRIP; 1 KILLED

Death ended the hunting jaunt of three boys in Peterson's woods, near Devon and Lincoln avenues, late yesterday when one of the trio was accidentally shot. The victim was Felix Kesseler, 16 years old, 5510 Magnolia avenue.

Felix was roaming the woods during the afternoon when he met two other young huntsmen, Raymond Larson, 14 years old, 1702 Summerdale avenue, and Harry Johnson, 711 Briar place.

At sundown the three started for home. Raymond and Harry started to climb a muddy embankment when the Larson boy slipped, and the small caliber rifle held in his hands was discharged. The bullet struck the Kessler boy above the right ear, killing him instantly. C. R. Lind, attendant at an oil station across the way, on the Tessville side, heard the shot. He notified Albany Park police, who questioned Raymond and Harry.

FAMOUS BRITISH TRAIN WRECKED; 6 DIE; MANY HURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 22.—Six lives are known to have been lost this afternoon, when the famous Royal Scot express train, one of the fastest in the world and operating between London and Glasgow, Scotland, leaped the tracks and was completely wrecked outside the Leighton Buzzard station, Bedfordshire. Many were injured.

The dead are Sir Edward George Saltmarsh, prominent British wheat trader; the engineer and fireman, who were scalded to death; a dining car cook; a Glasgow passenger, and two unidentified persons. Physicians amputated the leg of a girl before she could be released from the wreckage.

Home Is Bombed Near Clark St. and Diversey

A time bomb was exploded early this morning under the rear porch of the three story flat building at 649 Dole avenue, not far from Diversey avenue and Clark street, owned by Adam Erhard, a retired barber. The blast ripped off the porches of the first and second stories and left the porch of the third story without supports. The damage was estimated at $1,000. The explosion was heard over a mile radius. Police said Erhard has been active against the operation of a nearby hotel he claimed was a disorderly house. He received a threat some time ago.

Marjorie Durant Escapes Injury in Plane Crash

Santa Barbara, Cal., March 22.—(AP)—Marjorie Durant, daughter of W. C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, and Dr. N. H. Brish, resident physician to Stanley McCormick, multimillionaire incompetent, escaped serious injury late today when their cabin plane crashed through an air field fence here. The two passengers and the pilot were baly shaken.

Three men, one a policeman, were killed and a fourth was seriously hurt when their automobile struck a hole in the pavement in the 6900 block on Grand avenue last night and careened head on into an oncoming street car. The dead:

POLICEMAN MIX.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Steve Janco, 22 years old, 2175 North Menard avenue.

The three, with Elmer Goerner, 27 years old, 2168 North Major avenue, who was injured, were driving east in Grand avenue. Albrecht's machine struck the depression in the pavement and bounced to the opposite side of the street, and head on into the west bound street car operated by Motorman William Sedgwick of 1150 North Ridgeway avenue. All four were taken to the Keystone hospital where Policeman Mix was pronounced dead by Dr. Lewis Eastman. Janco and Albrecht died soon afterward. Goerner will live.

Fill Holes After Crash.

Shortly after the accident a cinder truck appeared on the scene, and half a dozen holes were filled in. The driver declined to tell who sent him, stating he was acting under orders.

In a similar accident on Feb. 15 four persons were killed when their machine struck an unrepaired pavement hole in Western avenue, near 76th street and collided with a surface car.

The deaths of the three in the auto-street car crash yesterday and six others raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 258. The victims:

Kirth Stoonhour, 7 years old, 1375 East 76th street. Died in the Jackson Park hospital of injuries suffered on Friday when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home. Paul Winsburg, 949 East 54th place, was the driver.

Mrs. Dora Dugger, 38 years old, an attendant at the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane. Fatally injured when her automobile ran into a snow bank at 7600 Irving Park boulevard.

Paul Bauer, 49 years old, 1538 Columbia avenue, a trucking contractor. Died in the Rogers Park hospital of auto injuries received on Feb. 28.

John Sieszwisk, 40 years old, 3348 South Union avenue. Died of injuries suffered on Saturday in a crash between an automobile and a street car at 47th and Halsted streets.

Jens Fredrickson, 52 years old, 1909 North Crawford avenue, a janitor. Died in the Lutheran Memorial hospital of injuries suffered on March 14 when struck by an auto while crossing the street in front of his home. James Cameron Jr., 23 years old, 1640 North Karlov avenue, was the driver.

Mrs. Helen Tobin, 50 years old, 3817 Rokeby street. Died in St. Elizabeth's hospital of injuries incurred on Saturday when struck by the automobile of Joseph Hunyady, 1459 North Park avenue, at Milwaukee and Fullerton avenues.

DROP GERMAN PACT! BRITAIN WARNS AUSTRIA

Three Other Nations Demand Showdown.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 22.—The British government today warned the Austrian government not to proceed with the proposed customs agreement with Germany. The warning was based on the protocol of 1922 when the league of nations reorganized Austrian finances and Austria agreed to give equal tariff treatment to all countries.

The British position is that the proposed Austro-German customs union is an infringement of this agreement.

Three Nations Demand Showdown.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, March 22.—Minister Count Clausel of France, Minister Auriti of Italy, and Minister Vavrecka of Czecho-Slovakia called on Dr. Johann Schober, Austrian foreign minister, today demanding an explanation regarding the proposed tariff accord between Germany and Austria, which was practically concluded yesterday, and which is interpreted by these nations as the first step towards the union of Germany and Austria, which is prohibited by the treaty of St. Germain.

The Czech minister characterized the proposed pact as a drastic violation of the peace treaty and declared it would infringe a protocol signed at Geneva in 1922 under which Austria guaranteed to refrain from any combination which might affect her independence.

The Austrian government, it is learned, has expressed its willingness to have the question as to whether the tariff union violates the peace treaty decided by the permanent court of international justice at The Hague. Hungarian newspapers comment on the proposed customs union favorably, pointing out the possibility of forming a huge economic bloc to avert further development of the economic crisis in Europe.

RUMBLES OF WAR

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 22.—While the ambassadors of the four allied countries are protesting to the Austrian government, demanding explanations concerning the new secret trade agreement with Germany, the French foreign office today slipped off the muzzle of the Paris press—or maybe the dog went so mad that the muzzle broke.

"This international bombshell recalls singularly that which was caused in October, 1908, when the Austro-Hungarian ambassadors notified the world that Bosnia and Herzogovinia had been annexed," says the Journal des Debats. "The procedure was the same and in each case the intentions confront the rest of Europe with a fait accompli. This event is instructive and it must be remembered what that action by Austria, seconded by Germany, led to a few years later on."

This grim, if veiled, hint of a new world war does not come from one of the rabid Nationalist sheets, but from one of the oldest, most responsible and most influential Paris papers.

"Union Practically Realized."

All that the most reactionary organ of France, the royalist L'Action Francaise, could find today to say was in a screaming banner line: "Anschluss Practically Realized." The semi-official Le Temps, without a banner and in sober French, goes L'Action Francaise one better, saying:

"It is easy to understand how this project seriously arouses the central European states; it is easy to understand how it arouses all the mistrust of the powers who are trying to maintain order in Europe. This order now is dangerously menaced by the resurrection of German "might" in the center of the continent under the guise of an attempt to realize an old dream of a 'Mittel Europa' upon which Germany expected to place the yoke if she was victorious in the world war."

May Force Briand Out.

The militant French Nationalists, who have daily become more aggressive, are secretly overjoyed, as they are convinced that a large section of moderate opinion will be forced to join their ranks. The prestige of Aristide Briand, the peace loving foreign minister, has suffered the heaviest blow yet, and there is a strong possibility that he may be forced out of the cabinet by the parties of the right, which are in majority.

Great alarm is felt in diplomatic circles here, and it is feared that all the laborious progress of the last ten years towards international harmony may be undone within a few hours.

Royalty Hears Kid Weil Talk His Way Free

Joseph (Yellow Kid) Weil, maestro of con men, yesterday appeared as the headliner in the weekly police showup to recount in his most suave and beguiling manner his operations in fourth dimension business. It was no ordinary appearance, for royalty attended in the person of Count Folke Bernadotte, nephew of the king of Sweden.

YELLOW KID WEIL.

And Weil responded in no ordinary fashion. With the aid of his pal, Fred Buckminster, he exceeded his many previous entertainments under the dazzling lights. So well did Weil perform that an audience of 300 applauded and he was immediately freed.

Front Seats for Royalty.

Weil is not wanted here. He was arrested Friday at an L station and was to have been released Saturday, but Deputy Chief of Detectives Lawrence Rafferty demanded his appearance at the Sunday showup. Weil's protest that he must appear in Decatur this morning or forfeit a $6,000 bond was ignored. Deputy Rafferty reserved front seats for the royal party.

Before mounting the platform the Kid held an informal reception to police and reporters in his cell. As he dressed he complained that some one had stolen his tie and expressed wonderment at the presence of thieves in the jail. He was told that his loss was not great, since a man had recently had his mustache stolen in the same tier of cells.

"Thank goodness I have removed my beard," he answered.

He Takes Fred's Tie.

As he moaned the loss of the tie, Buckminster carefully knotted a livid cravat. Weil studied him a moment and said, "Buck, your tie." Buck protested.

"My dear fellow," Weil began. Buck handed over the tie. Weil continued, "The hue is not of the best, but it will serve. Thank you."

"Rats," said Buck. "There's no use refusing you. I'd have to give up my shirt if you wanted it."

Weil stepped on the platform at the showup attired in a green suit, white shirt, pearl spats, a blue topcoat, light felt hat and the tie. He bowed to Lieut. Walter Storms, master of ceremonies, and then to the count and his party. The more republican Buck refused to bow to a king's nephew.

Remembers Two Prisons.

"Have you ever been in Joliet?" Storms asked.

"I visited Warden Murphy there for education purposes."

"And Leavenworth?"

"Ah, yes, dear old Leavenworth," the Kid mused. "I took a 33 months' post-graduate course there."

Weil was asked to tell of his coups. He told of his greatest single stroke, taking $100,000 from a banker in a fake land deal. He described the purchase of a $5,000 pearl from a loop jeweler and selling back the same pearl for twice that amount through a confederate by ordering a matched pearl of the jeweler. He rocked his audience with laughter by recounting his effort to sell a horse and buggy at a reasonable price and his becoming annoyed because the prospective purchaser tried to drive a sharp bargain, with the result that the Kid kept the horse and buggy and "took" the customer for $3,400.

Buck Has His Say.

Weil was asked whether he had ever "taken" a policeman. He replied that he had not, and was interrupted by Buckminster, who said that he had been a policeman in Chicago during the World's Fair in 1893 until he met Weil and was induced by him to the latter's way of life. Records of the bureau verified Buckminster.

"Have you ever 'taken' a count?" Storms demanded.

"I have not had the experience," Weil bowed to Count Bernadotte. "But if I were in my youth, when I could have talked a police chief out of his front door, I should have liked to sit down with the count for about five minutes."

CONVICTS TELL OF KILLINGS IN JOLIET INQUIRY

Attack Davenport, Praise Warden.

Convict witnesses, testifying yesterday at Joliet penitentiary before a special investigating committee from the state legislature, asserted that the administration of Warden Henry C. Hill was businesslike and fair and that prison riots during the last ten days were mainly due to the supposedly unfair working of the present parole laws.

CAPT. B. A. DAVENPORT.

The committee members were also told further details about the shooting to death of three convicts in an attempt to escape from the old Joliet prison on Feb. 22. Some of the witnesses complained that Capt. B. A. Davenport, who was beaten during the riot at the Joliet penitentiary on March 14, had organized a corps of spies among the inmates and persistently tried to "frame" men he did not like.

Convict Rogers Testifies.

Principal among these witnesses was Harvey Rogers, 28 years old, who was sentenced to serve ten years to life for robbery and has been an inmate of the Joliet prison since July 13, 1922.

Rogers asserted he knew that under the law the state board of pardons and paroles could not grant him a parole until he has served ten years, but that he also was well aware the board could, if it wished, recommend that the governor give deserving men conditional pardons. Attorney General Carlstrom ruled that this is correct.

"I don't think that the members of the parole board know enough to talk intelligently about pardons to any one," said Rogers, who is a dental assistant in the institutional hospital. "We have some peculiar laws in this state. A man convicted of robbery under the law that punished me must remain a minimum of ten years. It is possible for a man who has committed a murder to be released in eight years and three months.

Criticizes Parole Board.

"The parole board hardens the men who go before it and ask for justice. It takes the blood out of them and puts in concrete."

He gave specific instances of men who, he said, were dying and eligible for parole, but were compelled to remain within the gray walls of the prison despite the efforts of prison physicians to save their families from the stigma of having a relative die a prisoner.

In discussing prison personalities, Rogers was frank. Warden Hill, Deputy Warden George Erickson and most of the captains he described as efficient, strict in discipline, but fair to all. Toward Davenport he was scornful.

"I wish he were here," said the witness, "so I could say what I have to say right to his face. It is a terrible thing for a man in his position to force information against others from weaklings among the prisoners and to use it to frame them for solitary punishment."

Hits at Col. Whipp.

Rogers added that the inmates disliked Col. Frank Whipp, state superintendent of prisons, who was believed by them to have given the order to shoot down the convicts who tried to escape on Feb. 22.

Representative William G. Thon of Oak Park, a member of the investigating committee, told him that Col. Whipp was not in charge at the time and had nothing to do with the killing. To which Rogers replied that the convicts believed he had, and that they knew Warden Hill was in a Chicago hospital on the date in question.

"We always thought the men killed were put on the spot," he said. "We knew that stool pigeons tipped off the plot. It was no secret that it was to occur on that date, and the tuberculae patients in the hospital were watching when the three men climbed up on the wall. The officials could have stopped that attempt anywhere along the line without killing."

Another Convict on Stand.

Another dental assistant in the hospital, Harold Split, serving a fifteen year sentence for murder, corroborated the good opinion held by the convicts of Warden Hill and his principal assistants, and, like Rogers, condemned Davenport.

He told of seeing the bodies of the convicts killed on Washington's birthday, Joseph Norkiewicz, Julio Chileno, and Alvin J. Kilmon, and noting then that one of the men had been fired on at such close range that the clothing and flesh were burned by powder.

"No keeps [keepers] that were in that shooting have ever come into the prison yard since," he said. "The convicts would like to know who they are. They think they know, but they can't be sure."

Deputy Warden Erickson took the stand and again told the prison administration's side of the Feb. 22 shooting, declaring that it would have been impossible to halt the break inside the walls. If armed guards had been sent in to do that, he said, it was feared they would be overpowered, and the convicts then would have had enough arms to release the whole population of the prison. The number of men involved in the escape plot was not known, he said.

Members of the committee were considering last night whether to call in the guards who shot the escaping men in February. These guards did not attend the coroner's inquest, and their identity so far has been kept a secret.

Porter Tells of Coakley Death.

The case of Joseph Coakley, Chicago convict, who died in solitary confinement on March 8, came into the investigation again. William Smith, porter in the solitary section, asserted that Coakley died of heart disease suddenly and that he had never called for help. Rogers had previously testified that most of the convicts believed Coakley, a disturber in the mess hall, had been killed in the solitary cells.

Smith related a story concerning his prison career. He said that after serving one sentence he was paroled to the charge of a deputy sheriff of Madison county and that this man forced him to cook alcohol for him.

"But the deputy didn't give me any fuel," he asserted. "To get some I had to steal it from a railroad car. A railroad detective saw me and shot me, and as the theft was a violation of parole I had to come back."

Clifford Hieronimous, 18 years old, one of four brothers sentenced from McHenry county last August to serve one year to life for robbery, said that he had a man of 45 as a cellmate. He said that he drove a car in which he and his brothers escaped after holdups. Hieronimous is a sufferer from facial paralysis. His father is a convict in the penitentiary at Waupun, Wis. The committeemen expressed the opinion that Clifford was only the product of bad environment, and should be in prison, if at all, in a place less rigorous than Joliet.

Call Parole Board Members.

It was announced that three members of the parole board, Chairman W. C. Jones, the Rev. R. Keene Ryan, and Thomas H. Cannon, would appear today and testify.

Originally the committee, composed of three Republican legislators, Roger F. Little of Urbana, Harry M. McCaskrin of Rock Island, and Mr. Thon, and two Democrats, Michael L. Igoe of Chicago and M. E. Bray of Litchfield, had intended to call some of the more notorious residents of the Stateville and Joliet penitentiaries.

Among these were Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, Martin Durkin and James [Fur] Sammons. It was decided at a morning conference, however, to delay their summons, possibly until tomorrow.

The last of the Illinois National Guardsmen on watch at the new Stateville prison, it was announced, will be withdrawn today.

PRAISE FOREST PRESERVE RULE UNDER CERMAK

Citizens' Association Tells of His Reforms.

Anton J. Cermak, Democratic nominee for mayor, received from the Citizens' association yesterday a formal statement approving his record as president of the forest preserve district with reference, in particular, to the purchase of forest preserve property.

Officials of the association told Mr. Cermak that as a result of "continuous and careful observation" they "are strongly of the opinion that the forest preserve lands bought during the last four years have, generally speaking, been acquired on a basis fair alike to the property owners and to the taxpayers and creditable to you."

Francis E. Broomell, president of the citizens' group, authorized the statement as a reply to insinuations made by city hall speakers who have attempted to make much of a 1926 report of the association criticizing land purchases by an earlier administration.

Praise Land Purchase Policy.

Referring to the 1926 investigation, the Broomell statement explained that the Citizens' association at that time did discover a waste of funds in connection with previous land purchases.

"We called these matters to your attention, with the result that you immediately expressed to us your earnest desire to do anything in your power to remedy the conditions pointed out," the message to Mr. Cermak continued. "You offered to adopt as your own any recommendations that we might see fit to make for preventing further waste.

"In response to your suggestion this association submitted certain recommendations as a part of a report issued in September, 1926, and you at once proceeded to keep your promise by moving to put them into effect. Acting upon your advice, the forest preserve commissioners promptly adopted our recommendations, the most important one being that the forest preserve district adopt the policy of instituting condemnation proceedings against every tract of land which it desired to purchase as means of assuring a fair price.'

Brings End to Abuses.

The statement called attention to the fact that President Cermak in his inaugural message to the county board on Dec. 6, 1926, indorsed the recommendations and that the association in its subsequent annual report announced that the abuses had been ended.

"As you succeeded soon afterward in inducing an advisory committee of well known citizens, headed by Gen. Abel Davis, to undertake the task of supervising the administration of the forest preserves, including all purchases of land, the Citizens' association did not thereafter investigate all such purchases in detail," the statement added.

"As a result of our continuous and careful observation we are strongly of the opinion that the forest preserve lands bought during the last four years have, generally speaking, been acquired on a basis fair alike to the property owners and to the taxpayers and creditable to you."

The high plane upon which another county institution, the Psychopathic hospital, has been conducted under the Cermak administration, was praised yesterday by Dr. James Whitney Hall. Dr. Hall serves on the staff of specialists cooperating with hospital authorities without pay.

Stage Huge Rally Tonight.

Three major events will speed up the Cermak campaign today, the most important a demonstration to be staged tonight in the Chicago Stadium, with Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Michael L. Igoe, and Mr. Cermak as speakers. Senator Lewis will arrive from Washington this morning.

Preparations are being made to accommodate 30,000 persons inside the Stadium and amplifiers will carry the speeches to overflow crowds outside. When Senator Lewis opened his Chicago campaign there last fall 15,000 persons were turned away.

Several parades will precede the Stadium demonstration, the largest that of the Chicago Truck Drivers' union, local 706, starting at 7 p. m. in front of the union headquarters, 904 West Madison street. This, according to Michael J. Galvin, president of the union, will be "an old fashioned, red fire political parade."

Five thousand members of the union are expected to participate, together w h the Chicago Federation of Musicians' band, led by James Petrillo. Red fire torches and banners will be carried by the marchers.

Floyd E. Thompson, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court, and Ernest J. Kruetgen, former member of the board of education, are slated to speak at the noonday luncheon of the Democratic organization, which will be held in the Hotel Sherman at noon.

NOTES OF THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

A vote for Cermak is a vote for the restoration of prosperity in Chicago, Newton C. Farr, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, asserted yesterday in a statement indorsing the Democratic nominee. Mr. Farr stressed the need for a constructive program to reduce the tax burden on real estate.

Nine of the fifteen unsuccessful aldermanic candidates at the February election in the 37th ward are to speak in support of the candidacy of former Ald. Wiley W. Mills tonight at the Mills headquarters, 5559 West North avenue. Mills is entered in the runoff against Ald. H. Taylor, who has the backing of the Thompson organization. Mills is supported by the 37th Ward Business Men's Republican organization and nonpartisan and independent groups.

Strict economy in the office of the city clerk if he is elected was promised yesterday by Peter J. Brady, Democratic candidate for that office, whose name will appear on the ballot with that of Cermak for mayor.

Officers of the recently organized Polish-American Cermak for mayor organization were announced yesterday by Frank V. Zintak, manager of the group. They are Julius F. Smietanka, president; Max Hencel, John Olejniczak, Albert Soska, Emily Napieralski, and Paul Drzymalski, vice presidents; Walter W. Wieczorek, secretary; August Kowalski, treasurer, and Frank J. Tomczak, financial secretary.

Among the indorsements of the Democratic nominee for mayor received within the last few days by the Cermak Business Men's organization were those of Edward R. Newmann of the Newmann Realty company, 4307 South Park way; Nathan C. Brown, insurance, 976 First National bank building; Dr. M. L. Dale, 3568 West Harrison street; and Dr. Frederick B. Moorehead, 1812 Peoples Trust and Savings bank building.

Women workers for Mr. Cermak in the Forty-second ward will be entertained at tea at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the home of Mrs. Waller Borden, 1020 Lake Shore drive.

A special invitation has been extended to women to attend a Cermak massmeeting to be held under the auspices of the German-American organizations supporting the Democratic nominee in Wicker Park hall, 2040 West North avenue, between 1 and 3 p. m. tomorrow. Mr. Cermak, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Ernst Buehler, Leopold Neumann, and Miss Charlotte Slavitt, an attorney, will speak.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Second ward Lyle for mayor organization, headed by Mrs. M. L. Davis, has joined forces with the Second ward Democratic ladies' auxiliary organization in the campaign to elect Cermak.

A group of business and professional women attended a tea yesterday in the home of Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, 1244 North State street, to discuss means of conducting the campaign for Cermak among loop women workers.

Two additional officials of labor unions announced the support of their organizations yesterday of the Cermak candidacy. They were Robert G. Fritchle, president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' local union 753, and James M. Kennedy, business representative of local 7 of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers.

WOMEN TO HEAR BOTH CAMPS IN MAYOR CONTEST

Both sides of the mayoralty campaign will be presented tonight at a massmeeting, to be held by the Chicago Woman's club at the club's auditorium, 75 East 11th street. The speakers will be Anton J. Cermak, the Democratic nominee, and Corporation Counsel Ettelson. The mass meeting will be held at 8 p. m. and will be open to the public. Mrs. Helen Hoyt Hilton, president of the club, will preside.

BARE THOUSANDS OF ILLICIT NAMES ON POLLING LISTS

Survey of Other Cities Shows Padding Here.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

There is evidence that the list of registered voters in Chicago is now padded with thousands of names. It is impossible to show the exact number, but if the ratio between population and qualified voters of eight years is a correct index to an honest registration, then there are tens of thousands of names illegally on the present list.

On that basis, it may be safely estimated there are 114,000 unqualified men among the 1,416,989 names on the list of registered voters. Election authorities point out that such a number of false names on the list, or even half that number, opens the door to ballot box stuffing, and a resultant unfair election.

Chance to Challenge Names.

Today and tomorrow blanks may be produced upon which to question the right of any registered voter to retain his name on the list. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday these "suspect notices" may be filed.

How many names will be erased, as a result of this procedure, remains to be seen. The chief difficulty arises from the fact that the judges and clerks of election have permitted the illicit names to get on the list and remain on.

The populations and numbers of registered voters of other large cities of the country have been obtained for comparison with Chicago, and these show that the ratio of registered voters to population is unreasonably high here. It appears that most of the Chicago inflation is in male voters.

Registrations Compared.

The registered male voters of Philadelphia are only 17.13 per cent of that city's population, while in Chicago the percentage is 24.32. In proportion to population there are 40 per cent more men registered in Chicago than in Philadelphia.

On the same basis there are 16 per cent more men registered in Philadelphia than in New York; and in turn New York is nearly 10 per cent higher than Cleveland. Chicago has 80 per cent more registered male voters at present than Cleveland on the basis of ratio to the population.

City—	Population.	Men registered.	Pct.
Chicago	3,376,438	821,177	24.32
Philadelphia	1,964,439	336,466	17.13
Cleveland	900,376	126,402	13.37
Pittsburgh	669,817	67,114	10.02
Baltimore	804,874	168,121	20.89
New York	6,930,446	1,018,712	14.70
Boston	781,188	150,046	19.21
San Francisco	634,394	134,242	21.16
Los Angeles	1,238,048	240,387	19.42
St. Louis	821,960	203,161	24.96

Chicago has a larger registration now than it had for the presidential election in 1928. New York in 1928 had 1,225,369 men registered as voters and now has 1,018,712—a decrease of more than 16 per cent.

Chicago, however, has had an increase in the number of men registered from 787,498 in 1928 to 821,177 at present, a gain of more than 4 per cent.

	Chicago excess.
Philadelphia	242,793
Cleveland	369,747
Pittsburgh	482,858
Baltimore	115,839
New York	324,841
Boston	172,863
San Francisco	166,723
Los Angeles	165,473
St. Louis	*21,881

*Deficiency.

These estimates of excess make the estimate of 114,000 false Chicago registrations appear conservative.

The table below shows the population, the registered men, the registered women, and total voters in each of the cities:

Chi.	3,376,438	821,177	595,813	1,416,930
Phil	1,964,439	336,466	179,782	516,242
Clev.	900,376	126,402	90,510	216,912
Pitts.	669,817	67,114	41,443	108,557
Balt.	804,874	168,121	119,330	287,466
N. Y.	6,930,446	1,018,712	549,308	1,568,020
Boston	781,188	150,046	123,554	273,600
S.Fran.	634,394	134,242	96,255	230,497
L.Ang.	1,238,048	240,387	219,382	459,769
St. L.	821,960	203,161	159,511	362,672

In nine cities combined the number of registered male voters is 16.55 per cent of the total population, while in Chicago 24.32 per cent of the population is registered as male voters.

SIGNS SPRING IS REALLY HERE MULTIPLY

Warmer Today

With bright skies and moderate temperature, Chicago yesterday enjoyed its first spring Sunday of the year. Fair weather prevailed over most of the middle west.

Beaches and boulevards were thronged in the city. The walk paralleling Lake Shore drive from Oak street northward presented a holiday promenade as thousands of men, women, and children strolled up and down the water's edge. Traffic lanes were jammed with cars, and many golf courses provided sport for devotees.

Slightly warmer temperature is predicted for today, with increasing cloudiness and probably rain tonight or tomorrow.

HILDING JOHNSON, NEWSPAPERMAN, DIES SUDDENLY

Hilding Johnson, for twenty years Criminal court reporter for the Herald and Examiner, died at Auburn Park hospital early this morning. He became ill last night at his home, 5805 South Rockwell street, and soon lapsed into unconsciousness. His physician, Dr. Orlando F. Scott, ordered him to the hospital, where death occurred a short time after his arrival there. He had been suffering from an intestinal disorder for a week, but worked up till Saturday night.

Mr. Johnson was about 40 years old. He began newspaper work on the City Press twenty-five years ago, then went to the newspaper with which he had been connected ever since. He had a wide acquaintance among judges and lawyers. He is survived by his widow and a son, 8 years old.

SHAW'S "LETTERS OF LOVE" BRING $4,500 FOR JOBLESS

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—In London last summer George Bernard Shaw told Mrs. August Belmont that if she had any "love letters" that he had written her she had better sell them, as they would bring "a lot of money."

Tonight Mrs. Belmont read some of the letters before an audience in the Junior League clubhouse and earned about $4,500 to go into the $350,000 fund that the women's fund committee, headed by Mrs. Belmont, is raising to provide jobs for single women and girls here.

She included the letters in a general sketch of Mr. Shaw that she had made up from his own writings, critical comments on him and his writings, and anecdotes concerning him. The letters were written in 1904 and 1905 when Mrs. Belmont, then Miss Eleanor Robson, was appearing in plays in London and New York. Mr. Shaw had seen her in a play in London, had her to lunch with his wife and H. G. Wells, and wanted to write a play for her.

The letters read largely concerned Shaw's play "Major Barbara," of which he declared that Miss Robson was the father and he was the mother. He said he had written the name part for her and that she must come to London and appear in it. As Miss Robson was under contract here and the London engagement would have been short, she did not accept.

Mrs. Belmont was introduced by John W. Davis to an audience of about 500 persons.

START SELECTION TODAY OF LAST 2 BROTHERS JURORS

Evidence Is Expected to Take Two Weeks.

The jury which is to hear the case of the state of Illinois against Leo V. Brothers, St. Louis gangster who is charged with the murder of Alfred Lingle last June 9, is expected to be completed today or tomorrow. Eight men have been sworn in and two who were under examination for the last panel of four were accepted on Friday by both sides. This leaves only two more to get when the session opens again this morning before Judge Joseph Sabath.

The evidential part of the trial is expected to take about two weeks. The state has presented a list of twenty-eight witnesses, and the defense has probably this many more. So far as the nature of the testimony may be inferred from the lists, it will be concerned largely with the identification of Brothers as the slayer. The defense has five or six witnesses to counteract this.

The eight men already sworn in as jurors are:

A Night Letter from Ring Lardner

Tucson, Ariz., March 22.—[Special.]—Word has been received from Willie Clough, the young Tucson semi-pro pitcher who hitch-hiked from here to Paso Robles, Cal., to try out with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was much impressed by his first contact with the big league team and wrote: "All the players has each got their own glove. They have changed the ball by taking out the old crippled rabbit and putting in a young one that is really spry. I think the change makes things easier for a pitcher. For instance, last summer in Tucson I use to sometimes pitch four or five innings but yesterday Manager Ens took me out before I had pitched two whole innings against the first team though I held them to twelve runs and most of them was waners."

REPEALER BILL IS SAID TO HAVE 26 TO 28 VOTES

State Senate Will Decide Issue Wednesday.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—[Special.]—Liberals and drys tightened up their lines today for the final battle in the senate on passage of the O'Grady - McDermott repealer of the state prohibition law. Liberals declared no break has occurred in the 26 votes which they lined up nine weeks ago—26 is the required majority—and that when the roll call shows passage assured two other senators may vote for repeal. They are said to favor the measure, but do not wish to cast the twenty-sixth or deciding vote.

SENATOR RICHARD R. MEENTS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The dry forces outside the legislature redoubled their efforts over the week-end to knock off, if possible, the twenty-sixth vote. Some liberal senators declare pressures of various sorts have been brought to bear on them. For weeks there have been evidences that the dry fight upon the senate is being made by forces from outside, such as the Anti-Saloon league, while the liberal battle is being made by actual members of the senate. This is outside the two flood days of oratory, which do not appear to have changed a vote.

Twenty-six Assured.

The list of 26 votes claimed by the liberals stands as it did when first put forth more than eight weeks ago. They say the following are lined up for repeal:

Downstate—Republicans: Mason, Michel, Paddock, Searcy—4. Democrats: Adair, Finn, Kline, Monroe—4.

Cook county—Republicans: Huebsch, Leonardo, Roberts, Serritella, Woods—5. Democrats: Broderick, Carroll, Courtney, Gillmeister, Graham, Huckin, Kielminski, Loughran, Maypole, McDermott, Mendel, O'Grady, Ward—13. Total, 26.

In addition to these, Senator Richard R. Meents [Rep., Ashkum], former Small floor leader, some weeks ago indicated that he may be for repeal. His district give a majority of 5,200 for repeal in November. He is noncommittal as to his vote Wednesday. Senator Martin R. Carlson [Rep., Moline] is from a district that went 2,800 for repeal, while Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet] has a district that went 16,000 for repeal, and the district of Senator Harold Kessinger [Rep., Aurora] voted for repeal by 6,700. Liberal leaders say they expect to pick up a vote or two from some Republicans rated as drys whose districts went wet on the referendum and rolled up large pluralities for James Hamilton Lewis for senator on a wet platform.

Harm Seen in Defeat.

Meanwhile among the dry Republican senators themselves there is talk that defeat of the repealer would be unfortunate for the party in the 1932 elections. Republican members have been declaiming for weeks that the future of the Republican party is tied up with the popular vote on the mandate, and that if it should fail through Republican votes in the senate it would be regarded as "another step away from the people."

Recently one of the dryest Republican senators, discussing this privately with a group of state officers, told them unless the party succeeds in "getting back to the people" on the prohibition issue it might as well hang a bow of crêpe on the Republican state ticket next election.

The first battle of the week is set for Tuesday, when the house is to consider the Schnackenberg resolution for a joint committee to draft a "fair and just" legislative reapportionment.

DIES OF INJURIES UNDER TRAIN.

George Orban, 17 years old, 2053 Walnut street, colored, died yesterday in the county hospital of injuries received Saturday when he fell beneath the wheels of a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad train at Rockwell street and Jackson boulevard.

SEES WET VICTORY

State Senator Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg, a dry leader, who concedes victory for O'Grady-McDermott bill to repeal state prohibition law when it comes to vote in senate on Wednesday. He conducted a private poll and found 26 senators ready to vote wet and 25 dry.

75 LABOR GROUPS CONSOLIDATE TO MODIFY DRY LAW

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Matthew Woll, president of the Labor's National Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act, today announced the adoption of a constitution and the formation of an advisory committee made up of officials from seventy-five national and international unions.

The purpose of the organization, as set forth in its new consitution, is to use all honorable means to bring about modification of the Volstead act. According to Mr. Woll, the labor modification movement now includes representatives of an overwhelming majority of the American Federation of Labor membership.

The constitution provides for associate memberships to be composed of all forms of local union organizations, friendly and cooperative associations and groups outside the labor movement. State branches are to be set up with membership units in all cities and towns.

"We shall strive through educational methods to inculcate in the minds of the people a spirit of American temperance; to promote adherence to an observance of state rights in all legislation pertaining to temperance and the personal rights and liberties of our people," the constitution states.

BERLIN CHEERS AS EX-KAISER'S SON 'GOOSE-STEPS'

BERLIN, March 22.—(AP)—Eitel Friedrich, second son of the former kaiser, goosestepped through the Lustgarten today with 5,000 "steel helmets," an organization of war veterans, agitating for a plebiscite to dissolve the Prussian diet. As his division passed the crowds lined at the curb cheered wildly.

Maj. von Stephani, a leader of the organization, declared in a speech that the steel helmet protest was not directed against the diet itself, but against the system on which it works.

U. S. FARM BOARD WILL GET OUT OF WHEAT MARKET

No Stabilization Buying for 1931 Crop.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Artificial stimulation of wheat prices by the government through large purchases on the open market, will be discontinued with the marketing of the 1930 crop, the federal farm board announced today.

In an official statement confirming hints given out by former Chairman Alexander Legge and James C. Stone, the present chairman, the board states flatly that it will not authorize the Grain Stabilization corporation to make stabilization purchases from the 1931 wheat crop. The board's stabilization activities, through which it has attempted to peg wheat prices since last November, will be abandoned, it was said, as soon as last year's crop is delivered, probably May 31.

No Aid for New Crop.

As a result of the board's decision the new wheat crop will be without the buoyant effect of the board's stabilization aid accorded through wheat purchases financed by the United States this year. In making its decision known, the board pointed to its past purchases of large wheat stocks and asserted that "it cannot indefinitely buy more than it sells nor indefinitely hold what it has bought." Farmers must know, the board continued, that "it cannot follow a regular policy of buying at prices above the market and selling below cost."

No definite sales policy for its present big wheat holdings was announced by the board. There were indications today, however, that should the farmers display a tendency to help themselves by restricting wheat acreage, the disposal of the 1930 crop holdings would be spread over a long period and sold slowly.

Coming just as the planting of spring wheat is at hand, the board's statement was interpreted as a warning that farmers cannot expect any more help from the treasury in artificially maintaining wheat prices and must look out for themselves by holding down acreages.

The Board's Statement.

The statement of the board follows:

"For many months the federal farm board and the department of agriculture have been urging wheat farmers to reduce acreage as a means of correcting the disastrously low prices that have resulted from increased acreage and overproduction. It has been pointed out that if we continue to raise a large surplus of wheat beyond domestic requirements growers in the United States will be obliged to take prices that largely are determined by what our exportable surplus will bring on world markets.

"Since last November the Grain Stabilization corporation has been purchasing sufficient wheat to maintain prices in this country. Because of this our prices have ranged some 20 to 25 cents above their usual relationship to world market prices. This policy was adopted to meet a most acute emergency. It has made wheat growers many millions of dollars and a large additional amount to growers of other grains. Farmers have also gained by prevention of a threatened additional shock to business in general.

Stabilization Cost Heavy.

"Stabilization operations are emergency measures and entail a heavy cost. The Grain Stabilization corporation has acquired and is acquiring very large stocks of wheat. It can not indefinitely buy more than it sells, or indefinitely hold what it has bought. It cannot follow a regular policy of buying at prices above the market, paying heavy storage charges, and selling below cost. Farmers know this and would not ask that it be done. It would not be, in the long run, in the farmers' own interest.

"It is too early now to set forth in detail what the sales policy of the Grain Stabilization corporation will be in the new crop year, except to say that stabilization supplies of wheat will be handled in such a way as to impose the minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices. It should be stated now, however, that the federal farm board will not authorize the Grain Stabilization corporation to make stabilization purchases from the 1931 wheat crop. There will be no question of change in the policy of the Grain Stabilization corporation with reference to the 1930 crop.

Now Up to Growers.

"In the light of the foregoing facts, growers must recognize the responsibility that rests upon them. The federal farm board is encouraged by reports from the principal wheat producing regions that growers are organizing to reduce acreage and market cooperatively. These and efficient production are the surest means of permanent relief. Some progress has been made, but it is only a beginning. The movement must be carried to all farmers in all regions. Spring planting of wheat is at hand. Let farmers in that region heed the warning to reduce acreage, and as planting time in other regions rolls around, farmers there should do the same."

The board made no mention of its attitude toward cotton, of which it also has made considerable purchases.

Amount of Loss Undetermined.

What loss the government will suffer through its wheat stabilization operations will not be known until the 1930 crop is sold. The grain stabilization corporation has on hand in excess of 100,000,000 bushels and may have as much as 200,000,000 bushels when all the future deliveries are in. Senator Borah, after his White House luncheon conference a few days ago, said the board probably would have 210,000,000 bushels of wheat by July 1. Officials said the prices paid for wheat ranged all the way from seventy cents to $1.25 a bushel. At least 60,000,000 bushels were bought at a price between a dollar and a dollar and a quarter. Losses will depend on sales prices and carrying charges.

May Revive Debenture Plan.

In some quarters there was a disposition to feel that the farm board's decision would make farm relief one of the chief issues in the next congress. There were indications that the radical Republican group would attempt to use the abandonment of the stabilization plan as a stepping stone toward enactment of export debenture farm legislation this winter.

Senator J. L. Dickinson [Rep., Ia.], former house farm leader, predicted that the board's announcement would result in a fall in wheat prices. He said the effect of the board's decision would be to remove the artificial means of holding up prices and allow natural trade conditions to determine the price of wheat.

"In my opinion," he said, "farm relief will be made one of the chief issues in the next congress, as a result of this changed program by the farm board."

Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], radical Republican and a leading advocate of the debenture plan for handling wheat surpluses, declined to discuss the effect of the farm board's decision. He said he intended to study it carefully in connection with his study of the agricultural system.

MRS. KUB WILL COMPLETE STORY OF GRAFT TODAY

Jury May Quiz Spy on Private Deals.

Shirley Kub, former spy for Acting Commissioner John H. Alcock, is scheduled to reappear before the special grand jury today to complete the narrative of police graft she is reported to have unfolded in the jury chamber last Friday.

While Mrs. Kub was passing a week-end in a county jail cell, secure from intimidation, Charles H. Mueller, assistant state's attorney directing the current probe of police corruption, was studying the mass of secret reports and documents Mrs. Kub had turned over to the grand jury.

It is reported that the grand jury will question her about a story that she promoted some enterprises for herself while acting as a police investigator.

Intercedes with Politician.

As the story goes, Mrs. Kub interested officials of a candy company in a proposition whereby she guaranteed to double their output by distributing punch boards to be used as sales bait. Police interference, the only obstacle to success, was overcome when the woman interceded with a prominent politician, as yet unnamed.

The politician, according to the story, secured an injunction restraining police from interference with the punch boards. Sales began to climb, and Mrs. Kub, for her services, was given a block of the company's stock.

When the sales peak was reached the woman, reaping the profits of her scheme, sold her stock to a purchaser who was eager to pay the high price he believed the profits warranted. Thereupon, it is said, the politician intervened to have the injunction dissolved. The police renewed their activity, the punch boards were withdrawn, and the business collapsed.

May Call Police Captains.

On the basis of Mrs. Kub's testimony it was anticipated that before nightfall the grand jury would subpoena a number of police captains and possibly the politician to corroborate or deny under oath, if they could, the police spy's statements.

The woman, now under a four months' jail sentence for contempt of court, a sentence imposed by Chief Justice McGoorty of the Criminal court before she changed her mind about testifying, may be dismissed. It was hinted that the grand jurymen would themselves ask Judge McGoorty to reconsider the contempt citation.

Such action would make unnecessary the contemplated move of Mrs. Kub's attorney, Harold Levy, who intends suing in Appellate court for a writ of supersedeas to secure her release on bail pending review of the contempt sentence. In the event of her release, state's attorney's aids indicated they would continue guarding her, lest the men she exposed attempt to retaliate.

DRY LEADER ATTACKS FRUIT JUICE SALES UNDER U. S. CONSENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—The question if and when a fruit juice is "spoiled by fermentation" was brought to the fore today by an elucidation of section 29 of the Volstead act by the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals.

Section 29 is that provision exempting from the operation of the law home made cider and other fruit juices which contain one-half of one per cent of alcohol or more, although not being intoxicating in fact. It is under this exemption that the country is being flooded by the California grape growers, for whom Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt is counsel, with home fermented wine possessing a twenty per cent alcoholic kick.

"The intention of those who shaped section 29 of the national prohibition act," said Dr. Wilson, "was not to protect a great commercialized trade in home wine materials. It was intended only to protect those who made fruit juices in their homes from prosecution upon technical charges if such juices should, by natural processes, become spoiled by fermentation."

FIND CORN BELT CAN COMPETE IN GROWING WHEAT

Compare Illinois Costs with Kansas.

BY PAUL POTTER.

That corn belt farmers in Illinois will continue to compete successfully with the vast wheat growing areas of Kansas and Oklahoma is forecast in recently announced cost of production studies at the University of Illinois and the Kansas State Agricultural college. The detailed figures of these studies are now being compiled for the federal department of agriculture, it was learned yesterday.

Chief in the advantages listed for growing wheat in a diversified farming area, such as Illinois, is that this grain may be seeded in the fall and serve as a nurse crop or protection for newly sown sweet clover or other legume crops. By this procedure, the university farm management experts find, overhead costs on good farm land are spread over an entire year and upon more than one crop.

Bushel Costs 90 Cents.

"It cost Illinois farmers about 90 cents a bushel to grow wheat in 1930," declares R. H. Wilcox of the Illinois College of Agriculture. "But this does not settle the bothersome question of what they should do with the crop even under present price conditions.

"A small grain nurse crop such as wheat helps in getting the necessary hay and pasture crops started, and also in a large part of the corn belt there is less net expense in getting a new legume seeding where wheat is used than there is where other available grain crops are used. Even on farms where a nurse crop is not always necessary some straw is needed for live stock."

As a feed crop, farmers are finding wheat usually produces more total nutrients an acre than oats, and often more than barley. As a result it can be used to good advantage in the live stock program. Further, the crop can be handled by labor and equipment when there is little productive use for this in any other field work.

List District Figures.

In east central Illinois, where land varies in value from $125 to $175 an acre, Wilcox finds it costs about 88 cents a bushel to grow wheat. About 10 hours of man labor, 16 hours of horse use, and an hour and one-half of tractor time are required to grow an acre of wheat in this area. It costs about 93 cents a bushel to grow wheat in the St. Louis area.

"A quick calculation of the cost of growing sweet clover in wheat gives us an estimate of about 8 cents an acre for labor of seeding in the east central area," says the Urbana report. "There is the extra cost of the seed, which varies widely. The clover is sown in spring in the fall seeded wheat, while if oats is used as the protecting crop, the clover and oats are sown together."

Reports from 502 Kansas farms on the cost of producing winter wheat in 1928 show an average cost per bushel of 95 cents, with yields ranging from 9 to 28 bushels per acre. The costs per bushel ranges from 73 cents to $1.62, according to farm economists at the Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan. Similar reports from 349 other farms supply an average cost of 99 cents per bushel for growing spring wheat in Kansas.

Study Variation Costs.

The variation that exists between farmers in their ability to produce at a profit is pointed out by the Kansas authorities in a comparison of two farms in Gray county. The first farm of 960 acres yielded 9,000 bushels of wheat, requiring 3.8 minutes of man labor per bushel, and costing the owner 73 cents a bushel to produce.

The second farm of 1,000 acres yielded 20,000 bushels, taking 3.3 minutes per bushel, and cost the owner but 33 cents a bushel. Both farms were valued at $40 per acre, the first having equipment charges of $11.15 per acre and the second equipment charges of $10.35. Both used tractor power and harvested with combine harvester threshers.

FEDERATION TO FIGHT WAGE CUT, GREEN ASSERTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today asserted that organized labor was prepared to fight any attempts to reduce wages "with all the strength it possesses."

WILLIAM GREEN.

"Reduction in wages have been favored and encouraged by a few bankers and some employers whose desire for standard profits has overcome their better judgment," said Mr. Green. "If they are persisted in, a return to normal conditions will be delayed for two years or more."

"It is only through the development of the purchasing power of working people to the highest possible point that a market can be found for the goods which we are producing in an ever increasing volume," he asserted.

"In the light of these facts," he continued, "the American Federation of Labor conceives it to be its duty to resist, with all the influence and power at its command, any attempt on the part of employers to reduce wages. Furthermore it will be the policy of the American Federation of Labor to direct its efforts when favorable conditions permit, toward compelling those employers of labor who have reduced wages during this period of unemployment, to restore them."

FIVE NEBRASKA U. STUDENTS SEIZED IN LIQUOR RAID

Lincoln, Neb., March 22.—(AP)—Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of men at the University of Nebraska, today said he had been informed of the arrest of five university students in a raid last night on an apartment across the street from the campus. Dr. Thompson said he would attempt no investigation until tomorrow.

The students are Fred Wickman, 19, Tekamah, Neb.; Jack Calkins, 18, York, Neb.; Warren Crawford, 19, Lake City, Ia.; George Cook, 24, Casper, Wyo.; and Max Von Borgen, 20, Lincoln. All pleaded not guilty to charges of possession of liquor in justice court last night and were released without bail to appear Thursday.

Dance Hall Quarrel Ends in Shooting by Watchman

An altercation which began inside the dance hall at 3800 Armitage avenue ended on the street early this morning with the shooting of Frederick Soderstrom, 27 years old, of 1456 North Harding avenue. He was wounded in the left leg. Ingwald Kramer, 1809 North Keeler avenue, a special watchman at the hall, was held. According to Kramer, who says he is a former city policeman, Soderstrom struck him in the hall and the two went outside to settle their differences.

couraged by his recent trip to Raleigh, N. C., to believe that the south would not bolt him again.

Smith May Name Candidate.

The other theory is that Smith, while having no thought of running again, is carefully refraining from doing anything that would relegate him to the side lines, where he would have little influence in the naming of the candidate. There are many Democrats who believe that Smith, as the leader of the northern wets, will virtually dictate the nomination, and that if Roosevelt fails to win Smith's favor he is doomed to defeat.

At outs with Smith, Mayor Walker has evinced a good deal of friendliness for Roosevelt.

Whether Roosevelt will be more helped or harmed by his acts tending to take the curse off him in the south and west is a matter of much speculation among Democratic politicians. It is suggested that while cultivating the dry anti-Tammany south and west he may lose the wet north, which will constitute the overwhelming majority of the convention.

Roosevelt a Tammany Baiter.

Roosevelt started his political career as a Tammany baiter. He was so well known as a despiser of Tammany that he became the logical man to take the Tammany curse off Al Smith by moving Al's nomination in three conventions.

But when the judgeship scandal in New York City had broken and Roosevelt was a candidate for reëlection last fall, it was charged that by refusing to authorize certain inquiries he had shielded Tammany from exposure. From the south and west there immediately emanated warnings that this charge would militate against support of Roosevelt in those regions.

When he started his second term, the governor turned Tammany down on an important appointment. Then when the charges of misfeasance against District Attorney Crain, Tammany officeholder, came the governor ordered the inquiry on his removal with what was called unseemly alacrity. It was charged he was bent on crucifying Tammany to make political capital for himself.

Flirts with Dry Faction.

No less interesting is the Roosevelt flirtation with the dry south and west on the prohibition question. To begin with, while the governor is for repeal of the 18th amendment and the substitution of a state option plan, he is a comparatively recent convert to the anti-prohibition cause. He spends much time in Georgia and is popular in the south, which probably would prefer him to any other wet candidate.

When Raskob proposed to put the Democratic national committee on record for his home rule prohibition amendment the southern drys flew to arms and Roosevelt came to their support with a meeting of the New York Democratic state committee, which adopted resolutions opposing the Raskob move.

As a result, Raskob was deterred from asking action by the committee on his proposition at the time. He postponed action to the next meeting, next winter. The result was widely hailed as a victory for Roosevelt over Smith and Raskob, which won him much favor in the south.

Also Treats with Radicals.

Dry sections of the party are now cheered by reports that Roosevelt will oppose a wet platform. The dry Democrats are prepared to accept a wet candidate if they can have a dry platform.

Of interest attaching not to the nomination but to the election, is also the recent flirtation of Roosevelt with the radicals. In two messages to Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska and a telegram to the meeting of radicals a fortnight ago, the governor sought to demonstrate that while not present, he is one of them. And the radicals evinced a preference for him.

UNABLE TO BUY CHILD MEDICINE, KILLS IT, SELF

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Out of work and living in a dingy Brooklyn tenement, Mrs. Mary Baldwin early today killed her 5 year old son and herself. The child had been sick and the mother spent a good part of the night trying to get medical attention. But, lacking the money to pay for a prescription, she had failed. Neighbors found them lying hand in hand on the floor of a gas filled room.

She had separated from her husband four years ago, and since had lived for a time with another man. Before giving up she wrote notes to both of them and left a third asking that they be notified.

Some of the neighbors did what they could, but thought a hospital would be better. Mrs. Baldwin started out last night carrying the child. They went to the Green Point hospital. The child's illness was there diagnosed as acute tonsilitis, but the officials said they had no available beds. They gave her a prescription. At other hospitals she encountered the same story—no beds available. Lacking anything else to do, the two returned home and today the bodies were found.

So many men have shouted the praises of our Rogers Peet Scotch Mist topcoats that it is not unusual to find people who think that "Scotch Mist" is just another name for "Scotch cheviot."

A pretty compliment, but inaccurate.

Scotch Mist* is a Scotch cheviot, but it's Rogers Peet's own particular kind of Scotch cheviot.

Nearly 20 years ago they showed the Scots how to weave their cheviot so that in addition to its traditional strength and beauty it would be wetproof, too, for rain or shine service.

Ever since then Scotch Mist* cloth has been their exclusive property; woven to their order in Scotland, imported by them, hand tailored by them into the smartest topcoats any man can wear.

Of course, there are now other topcoats imitating Scotch Mists,* but Scotch Mist* was the first all-weather coat, and it still is.

We alone have the exclusive sale of Scotch Mist here in Chicago, and it's only $55.

ROB 3 THEATERS AS CLIMAX OF WEEK-END CRIME

Series of Holdups Nets Bandits $10,000.

Three neighborhood motion picture theaters, two on the northwest side and one on the west side, were held up by bandits last night. The holdups were a continuation of robberies which for the 24 hour period ending at 6 p. m. totaled 34. In none of the crimes was any of the perpetrators arrested.

In the first movie robbery, a gunman approached the ticket cage of the Douglas theater, 3236 West 22d street. He handed a note to Miss Victoria Adler, 3307 South Troy street, the cashier, telling her to hand over the receipts. She obeyed, and the thief got away with $100.

Another Theater Robbed.

Shortly afterward two armed men entered the box office of the Drake theater, 3558 Montrose avenue, held up Miss Lillian Malt, 4412 Drake avenue, the cashier; Attorney Mort D. Goldberg, 5060 Cornell avenue, part owner of the theater, and Aaron Cheshan, the manager. They took $250 from Goldberg, but failed to get $50 in the office safe.

Almost at the same time two bandits held up Miss Idye Bachman, cashier of the Elston theater, 3167 Elston avenue, and took $5 from the cash drawer. Less than 15 minutes before John McFarland, 2857 South Ashland avenue, the manager, had withdrawn $30.

Two gunmen riding in an automobile forced the car of Mrs. Bella Salus, 3012 Harper avenue, to the curb at Halsted and George streets last night. One of them threatened her with a revolver, took her mink coat, valued at $500, her purse, containing $12, and drove off in her machine.

Garage Manager Slugged.

Five armed men raided the offices of the Quincy Parking garage at 20 Quincy street, between State and Dearborn streets, shortly before 2 o'clock this morning in an attempted robbery, and slugged the manager so severely he was taken to a hospital. The manager, Gordon W. Frederick of 6238 Hillside avenue, was alone in the office when the five entered. He was slugged when he failed to open the cash drawer quickly enough. The robbers fled without loot.

Earlier in the day two robbers entered the chain store of the Radio Doctors, Inc., at 504 South State street, herded four clerks into the basement, and compelled Isadore Chez, 18 Glengyle place, to open the safe. According to Chez, the loot amounted to between $3,000 and $5,000.

This and the other thirty-three robberies listed up to 6 p. m., netted thieves about $10,000.

In chronological order as recorded in the police teletype the week-end record of crime was as follows:

SATURDAY.

4:45 p. m.—Clar Williams, 1309 North Kildare avenue. He was crossing Kildare avenue at Division street when two gunmen held him up and escaped with $13.

5:10 p. m.—Vincenet Kaniski, 2846 North Spaulding avenue. Held up at Western avenue and Augusta street. Lost $10 to a pair of robbers.

5:30 p. m.—Stanley Smith, proprietor of a bakery at 4015 Diversey parkway. Two men looted the bakery till of about $10 and escaped.

5:50 p. m.—Richard McBride, 540 West 61st street, attendant in a Standard Oil station at 3858 Wallace street, robbed of $22 by two men.

7:45 p. m.—Paul Holub, 1875 Cyborurn avenue. Five men entered his grocery, took $50, and escaped.

7:50 p. m.—Joseph Silver, operator of a laundry at 15 North Orden avenue, robbed of $12 by one man.

8:20 p. m.—Edward J. Halley, 4400 North La Vergne avenue, the attendant in a filling station at 2545 South Western avenue, was robbed of $15 by a gunman.

8:40 p. m.—Clyde Jones, 1954 Cleveland avenue, attendant in a Standard Oil station at 1147 West Huron street, was relieved of $30 by two robbers.

9:05 p. m.—Joseph Rehak and his son, Louis, proprietors of a meat market at 3724 West 22d street, robbed of $288 by three men.

9:20 p. m.—John Hudla, attendant of a filling station at 4611 West Superior street, robbed of $16.50 by two men.

9:20 p. m.—Otto Norstadt, 948 North Massasoit avenue, the manager of a National Tea store at 3117 Armitage avenue, yielded $75 to a single robber.

9:30 p. m.—Jacob Meyer, 3201 West Grand avenue, accosted by two robbers in a filling station at 3165 Armitage avenue. Meyer was about to hand over his wallet when an approaching car frightened the gunmen away.

9:20 p. m.—Samuel Night, 4541 Washington boulevard, attendant in a Standard Oil station at 5200 West North avenue, handed $12 to two gunmen.

9:25 p. m.—Walter Lucas, 3637 South State street, Walking along South Park way, he was accosted by three Negro gunmen, who forced him into a vestibule at 4016 and took from him $4.

9:30 p. m.—John Ahearn, 4732 West Superior street, attendant in a Standard Oil station at 4803 Augusta street. Two men in a car took $25 from him.

9:35 p. m.—William J. Sutton, 209 West 47th street, the owner of a meat market at 48th street and Wentworth avenue, gave entry to five men representing themselves as police officers. They robbed him of several hundred dollars in cash and checks.

9:30 p. m.—Jessie Andrees, 315 East 57th street. Walking east in 60th street when, at Wabash avenue, a Negro snatched her purse, containing $2.

9:45 p. m.—Norman Rummelhoff, 2121 North La Vergne avenue. Two men in a car held him up at the Standard Oil station of which he is attendant and escaped with $15.

10:12 p. m.—Anthony Capougri, 2922 Poplar avenue, attendant in a Standard Oil station at Jackson boulevard and Wood street. Robbed of $18 by two men.

10:15 p. m.—John D. Ek, 6579 Lakewood avenue, attendant in a Standard Oil station at California avenue and Washington boulevard. Lost $30 to single robber.

10:30 p. m.—Raymond Beukema and his wife, both of 6248 South Kedzie avenue. A robber held them up in a garage in the rear of their home and fled with $15.

10:35 p. m.—Cecil Hunt, 4236 North Western avenue. Two robbers held him up in a filling station of which he is attendant and escaped with $35.

11:35 p. m.—Mary Brennan, 1048 Foster avenue, clerk in a bakery at 1321 Wilson avenue. A gunman held her up and fled with $40.

SUNDAY.

12:05 a. m.—Joseph Maier, 1104 Thorndale avenue, owner of a delicatessen, lost $12 to a lone gunman.

1 a. m.—Paul Ackerman, 1246 North California avenue, owner of a fruit store at 3737 West Chicago avenue. Ackerman and a friend, Bernard Corenfest, 2144 North Park avenue, were walking by 1800 North Central Park avenue when a pair of gunmen held them up, obtaining $400 from Ackerman and $78 from Corenfest.

2:25 a. m.—Stephen Kozan, 3039 South Keeley avenue, a Yellow cab driver. Two men who hired his cab at State and Lake streets had him drive to Madison and Wood streets, where they robbed him of $5.

2:35 a. m.—Richard Junior, 5171 South Michigan avenue. At 52d street and Michigan he was held up by two men and robbed of $12 and his watch.

3:30 a. m.—Jean Walsman, a Checker cab driver, of 533 South Millard avenue. A bandit who hired his cab at 35th street and Western avenue had him drive to 58th and Sangamon streets, where he robbed him of $6.

4:20 a. m.—William Christenson, 230 Florimond street, manager of a restaurant at 768 Milwaukee avenue. Robbed of $70 by one man.

4:30 a. m.—Peter Stift, 2222 Lewis street, ticket taker in the Willow street elevated station, robbed of $5 by one man.

5 a. m.—Theodore Schrieber, 2322 North Halsted street, a cab driver, was robbed of $5 and his cab by a passenger at 18th street and Kostner avenue.

9:25 a. m.—Two gunmen forced four employes at the Radio Doctors, Inc., 504 South State street, into the basement and made the manager open the safe. The loot was between $3,000 and $5,000.

In addition to the robbery of the Radio Doctors, one robbery was reported yesterday afternoon. At 2:25 p. m. two gunmen held up Henry Tovak in his haberdashery at 15 West 35th street and fled with $12 and a dozen shirts.

DOWNTOWN RADIO SUPPLY STORE HELD UP

Left to right: Isadore Chez, manager, who was forced to open safe of radio store at 504 South State street; Joseph Wolf, assistant manager, and H. J. Weinstein, M. Cohen, J. B. Dolar, and Will Asher, who were forced into basement while bandits obtained $3,000 to $5,000.

U. S. DRY LEADS CICERO RAIDS; HUNT GUNMAN

Federal Prohibition Agent Roy M. Budd, who was disarmed and arrested in Cicero on March 4 while he was gathering evidence about the liquor situation in the Cotton club, a cabaret, early yesterday led a squad of dry raiders through the suburb. In his pocket Agent Budd was carrying a John Doe warrant charging an unidentified gunman, the one who made him surrender his own pistol, with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Six reputed Capone hangouts were visited by the raiders. In the Hi-Ho club, 2242 South 48th avenue, liquor was seized. The Alton and the Great Western hotels, at 22d street and 48th avenue, were entered, as were the Hawthorn grill, 4831 West 22d street; a restaurant at 2007 South 48th avenue, and the Cotton club, reputedly operated by Ralph Capone. No liquor was found in any of these and no arrests were made.

William Dillon, chief of police of the village of Forest View, surrendered on a bench warrant March 18, but another warrant charging him with assault and interference with a federal officer was not served when Agent Budd and Daniel Coakley, Chicago policeman, who was with him when he was insulted, failed to identify the chief.

ROBBED ON STREET.

Arthur Schriber, 2911 Prairie avenue, lost $12 last night when he was robbed by two men in front of 4220 Prairie avenue.

RADIO MAN LOST OFF SUBMARINE ON TEST VOYAGE

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Police craft and airplanes were hunting the waters near Swinburne island tonight for Willard Grimmer, 27 year old radio man, who was swept overboard from the submarine Nautilus today as she slid into New York harbor after her run from Clayton, Del. The Naulilus is the craft in which Sir Hubert Wilkins intends to make the voyage under the north pole this summer.

First reports did not make clear how Grimmer, who had just been married, fell overboard. Swinburne island it a little more than two and one-half miles from quarantine, and the rescue craft were quickly on the scene.

The Nautilus made the voyage from Delaware under tow, and it is not expected, therefore, that she was making high speed when the accident occurred.

ROB STORE, GET $50.

Two armed men held up Ira Clark, 4310 Sheridan road, and Howard King, 5223 North Hoyne avenue, in the pharmacy at 2001 Montrose avenue, last night, and escaped with $50.

THE DANERSK COLLECTOR'S PIECE FOR THE MONTH OF MARCH

It was ingeniously fashioned so that the top rested upon two leaves which rose as they were pulled out, thus adding length without disturbing objects lying on the table.

We have adapted this Old English device to a simple Early American tavern table of maple and white walnut. The result is one of the most fetching and convenient little coffee tables that ever stood in a living room.

For the month of March only we are offering this quaint piece for $19.50. Frankly, the price does not adequately reflect our cost of building the table; we are making the price unusually low so as to prompt new friends to collect Danersk Furniture.

Now you can also see many other new pieces, equally choice in joinery, which we have recently designed and built for living room, dining room, bedroom. And here's the last bit of good tidings—prices of all Danersk furniture have been adjusted to the lower current costs of making.

HUNT BELCASTRO IN MURDER OF JOHNNY GENERO

Police Link Two Former Shootings to Killing.

Public Enemy James Belcastro, alleged king of the bombers, was being sought yesterday by police for questioning in the death of Johnny Genero, minor racketeer, brother of Public Enemy Joseph [Pepe] Genero, who was slain in his automobile Saturday night at 29th street and Normal avenue. Ten men are being held pending the inquest this morning, but police expressed the belief that Belcastro can clear up the killing.

Capt. Michael Hughes of the Deering street police attributed the killing to a feud between the Belcastro and Genero factions, adding that he anticipated further shootings. On Jan. 11, 1930, Genero was shot five times while on the street, but survived his wounds. He broke gangland's code and accused Belcastro.

Factions in Election Split.

On the anniversary of the attempted assassination this year Belcastro was shot leaving the home of his brother-in-law, Public Enemy Rocco Fanelli. The Belcastro and Genero factions were once under the leadership of "Mike De Pike" Heitler, but split shortly after Belcastro and Joseph Genero were arrested in connection with the 1928 primary killing of Octavius Granady. Dispute over the division of a $250,000 election fund was believed to have been the cause.

Joseph yesterday visited the Deering station where James Vince, 3205 Prairie avenue, who were riding with Johnny during the shooting and escaped injury, was being held.

In addition to Vince the police were holding Bruno Rodi, a saloonkeeper; Sam Sapo, Louis De Lucca, Angelo Lucia, Sam Rodi, James De Lucca, Frank Caruco, Vito Bartucci, and Sirafino Santroala. Bruno Rodi and Sam Sapo were named with Belcastro by Johnny Genero as plotting his death a year ago.

Find Ball Bearing in Skull.

Dr. I. M. Feinberg, coroner's physician, found a large ball bearing in Genero's skull on making a post mortem examination. The physician said the ball may have been fired from a revolver or shotgun.

Genero was killed by a gang of gunmen who trapped him in his car after a short chase. The killers rode in a roadster, two in the front and two in the rumble seat. Genero was on his way to his mother's home when the roadster closed in on him.

SPEAKER LONGWORTH SEES NO INCREASE IN TAXES NEXT SESSION

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—House leaders joined senate spokesmen today in declaring that the current decrease in income taxes would not be followed by tax revision upwards at the next session of congress.

Following conferences with administration and treasury officials, Speaker Longworth [Rep., O.] said today that he saw no occasion for increasing taxes. While admitting that the treasury deficit probably will be considerably larger than had been anticipated, Mr. Longworth asserted that a tax revision would not come up for action in the next congress. He expressed the opinion, however, that a strong movement to raise the tariff on oil would develop when congress meets.

Other house leaders who expressed agreement with Mr. Longworth on the tax situation were Representatives Bertrand Snell [Rep., N. Y.] and Willis C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.].

ARBITER RAISES CLEANERS' RATES TO AID INDUSTRY

DR. B. M. SQUIRES. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, arbiter of the cleaning and dyeing industry in Chicago, yesterday announced an increase in prices at a meeting of 3,000 tailors, drivers, inside workers, and plant owners in the Plumbers' hall, 1340 Washington boulevard. The minimum price for cleaning a man's suit was set at $1.25. The new scale becomes effective today. The old scale was $1.

"Bankruptcy threatens the industry unless the level set in the price war is raised," Dr. Squires said. "Under the old scale workers were unable to receive a decent wage and the owners a proper return on their investment. The new scale will win public confidence and put an end to charges of racketeering. It provides for a fair service for a fair pay."

Capital-Labor Arbitrator.

Dr. Squires, economist, federal arbitrator during the war and arbitrator for capital and labor in many industries, was appointed arbitration chairman for the cleaners and dyers in January. Last December when the price war threatened the $15,000,000 investment and the $10,000,000 annual business of the Master Cleaners and Dyers' association, he was appointed virtual director general for a united industry.

Approximately 90 per cent of the members of the association formed the Cleaners and Dyers institute and signed a price stabilization contract under which Dr. Squires was given authority approaching that of K. M. Landis in baseball and Will Hayes in the movie industry. The contract provided for a fair return on invested capital, a return to labor to afford maintenance of present living conditions, and equitable service to the public.

Follows Bombings and Killings.

The contract provided that the business of a cleaner giving unsatisfactory service or violating the contract, can be taken over by the arbitrator. Its adoption followed the bombings, acid throwings, and killings in the price war which resulted in a slump in business. The union of members was the work of Frank Harschen, secretary of the Master Cleaners and Dyers association.

On his appointment, Dr. Squires started a study to determine the price scale, which was made public yesterday. It is expected that those members of the association who have not signed the contract will follow in the plan for stabilization of the industry.

Dr. Squires has appointed submanagers for each shop to conduct the business under himself if the contract is violated. He will list present group customers of shops to prevent a complaint among members of stealing trade.

STAGE COCKFIGHT FOR SOCIETY FOLK IN RENO RESORT

Reno, Nev., March 22.—(AP)—Society has acclaimed sky-limit gambling, legalized last week in Nevada and today the natives, the "good time" folks, and the divorce seekers largely turned their attention to a cockfight which was well patronized.

The city's first "society night" was celebrated far into Sunday morning at the most fashionable night club in town. Saturday night, always an event in Reno, has taken on new significance, including an added show of prosperity, full dress suits, and evening gowns.

Last night the scene in the famous blue room of the previously mentioned suburban resort resembled nothing more than the premier of an important motion picture. It was Saturday night, according to the calendar, but not according to the clock.

The silver voiced entertainer kept the crowd informed of what was going on. The entrance of each celebrity was announced, together with descriptions of his or her apparel. Frequently the information was given that the persons described were here to take the "cure," which in local jargon means divorce.

Reno has been somewhat concerned over competition in the divorce mart, expected to result from "three months" residence laws passed by Arkansas and Idaho. But the same legislature and governor that passed and signed the legalized gambling bill, retaliated by passing a new and more liberal divorce measure. Divorce cases may be filed in Nevada, beginning May 1, after six weeks' residence.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should learn all about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

Public
Announcement

In fairness to both labor and cleaning and dyeing plant owners, it is necessary at this time to announce a slight increase in prices.

To continue on the low price base which the public has been enjoying for the past year would mean ruination to an industry doing a business of $15,000,000, with an investment of $8,000,000 and employing about ten thousand people. Also, it is impossible to continue the quality of workmanship and service to which Chicagoans are accustomed.

On March 23rd, the following cleaning charges will be effective:

MRS. PICKETT, WIDOW OF DIXIE WAR HERO, DIES

Glorified His Gettysburg Charge in Song, Story.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special]—Mrs. George Edward Pickett, widow of the Confederate hero, died today in a hospital at Rockville, Md. She was 84 years old.

As the "baby bride of the south" she was the toast of Dixie during civil war days. Born in Nansemond county, Va., the daughter of Dr. John D. Corbell, she was one of the prettiest belles of Virginia when the civil war was at its height.

It was on July 2, 1863, that Gen. George Pickett carried the stars and bars to the heights they never were to reach again.

Strikes at Heart of North.

Lee's army had come up from Virginia into Pennsylvania and was striking at the heart of the north when, almost by accident, his gray thousands came to grips with the blue ranks of Meade at Gettysburg.

Two days of terrific fighting resulted in no decision. On the third day Lee was determined to carry Cemetery Ridge. Longstreet was to press the advance. He selected Pickett to lead the charge.

Nine o'clock was chosen as the hour, but it was one o'clock before the confederate batteries opened in full force and almost two before Pickett asked permission to charge. Longstreet had sent the infantry forward.

Raked by Union Rifle Fire.

It was 1,800 yards to the federal line and as Pickett's men swept forward in close ranks they were raked by Union cannon, then by rifle fire. They penetrated the Union lines on the crest, but of the 4,500 men who followed Pickett, swinging his plumed hat, 3,393 fell dead or wounded.

The chances of the confederacy fell with them, although two years of fighting were ahead. Lee retreated to Virginia and the last invasion of the north ended.

Two months after Gettysburg, on Sept. 15, Pickett and La Salle Corbell were married.

When their first born arrived—he was to become Maj. George E. Pickett, U. S. A.—bonfires were lighted along the confederate lines before Richmond. Gen. U. S. Grant from federal headquarters sent scouts to learn the cause. Learning, he ordered bonfires lighted on all the federal front.

A Gift from Grant.

A few days later there went through the opposing armies a baby's silver service, inscribed:

"To George E. Pickett Jr. from his father's friends, U. S. Grant, Rufus Ingalls, and Surgeon General Luckley." Grant had known Pickett in the United States army and in Illinois.

Richmond fell, and of the occupation by the federal troops Mrs. Pickett wrote:

"A carriage passing my home was surrounded by guards and followed by a retinue of soldiers. After it had passed, the cavalcade paused and a man alighted from the carriage and came back to our house and asked: 'Is this George Pickett's place?'

"'Yes, sir, but he is not here; he's in the lines at Five Forks.'

"'I know that, ma'am, but I just wanted to see the place. Down in old Quincy, Ill., I have heard the lad describe the home. I am Abraham Lincoln.'

"'The President?' I gasped.

"The stranger shook his head.

Lincoln Meets Mrs. Pickett.

"'No, ma'am; just Abraham Lincoln. George Pickett's old boyhood friend.'

"'I am George Pickett's wife, and this is his baby.'

"I had never seen Mr. Lincoln, but remembered the intense love and reverence with which my soldier [Gen. Pickett] always spoke of him. Putting the little one back in my arms, Mr. Lincoln said:

"'Tell your father, the rascal, that I forgive him for the sake of that kiss and those bright eyes.'"

Gen. Pickett died in 1875. Since then Mrs. Pickett had lived mostly in Washington. She had been an author, lecturer, and social leader.

Pickett and Lincoln had met in Quincy, Ill. Pickett, a Virginian by birth, had gone to Illinois to study law in the office of an uncle. Mr. Lincoln learned that the youth was ambitious to become a soldier, and obtained the appointment at West Point. Pickett resigned his commission in the United States army to serve his native state when the civil war started.

Even Presidents fondly referred to Mrs. Pickett as "Mother Pickett." She knew them all from Lincoln. Diplomats, actors, authors came to her drawing room. She wrote reminiscences of Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Jefferson Davis, Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Clara Barton, and Louisa May Alcott.

To the time of her death she still was weaving word pictures of the characters she found interesting—and who found her interesting. Most colorful of all her manuscripts was the one she left unfinished, "My Memory Chain."

Mrs. Pickett is survived by two grandsons, Lieut. George E. Pickett III., and Capt. Christian Pickett of the United States army, by two sisters, Mrs. W. F. Cotten and Mrs. W. C. Eley, and by one brother, Dr. E. F. Corbell.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon.

89 YEARS OLD

MRS. DORA COWIN.

Mrs. Dora Cowin, 4645 North Paulina street, yesterday celebrated her 89th birthday in a gathering of friends and relatives. Mrs. Cowin was born in Vermont and journeyed with her family to Barrington when she was 2 years old. For the last 75 years she has lived in Chicago. She is the widow of Thomas Cowin, a civil war veteran.

THE LAST WORD from PARIS

In Our Spring Opening Today

Fashion defies fact . . . the Spring mode is thoroughly inspirational. It bans uniformity and puts a premium on individuality. We present today the most interesting versions of the colorful Paris Fashions.

To the woman who finds it expedient to economize and yet will not be satisfied with ordinary clothes, Chas. A. Stevens & Bros.' French Room will be a mecca of discoveries, because we believe chic is the only true economy. We have chosen for you only the smartest of the new . . . the supremely fashion right thing with quality, of course, pre-eminent.

Intricate—Interesting—
Individual—

Because of the very intricacy of the new mode, its brilliant use of color and strong contrasts, great care must be used in choosing the costume and even greater care in assembling it. In this troubled sea of choice it's a joy to choose at a shop that specializes.

PROTEST BILL CLOSING SCHOOLS FIVE MORE DAYS

Myers Sets Expense of Plan at $1,768,000.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

State Senator Thomas J. Courtney has introduced a bill into the legislature which would close the Chicago public schools for five additional days each year with full pay to all teachers. The Courtney proposal is to establish by law "teachers councils" over which former Superintendent of Schools McAndrew had much difficulty.

The bill requires the board to provide for teachers' councils composed of all experienced classroom teachers in the school system "to counsel and confer with the superintendent of schools as to the best manner of conducting common schools." The senator's bill requires that the recommendations of the proposed teachers' councils shall be published in the official record of the board.

Then the bill says: "Five days in any school year, spent by a teacher, during school time, in attendance upon such teachers' councils, shall be considered lawfully expended in the service of the school district, and no deduction of wages shall be made for such attendance.

Must Close the Schools.

"It shall be the duty of the board of education to specify in its rules the dates of the meetings of such teachers' councils and to close the schools for such meetings for not to exceed five days in any school year."

To that last sentence, President Lewis E. Myers of the board of education objects.

"Notwithstanding that the bill was only introduced four days ago," commented President Myers yesterday, "I have already received several letters from taxpayers and parents objecting to it.

Puts Cost at $1,768,000.

"The closing of the schools is expensive. The disbursements of the board of education, on the basis of the 1931 budget, are approximately $356,000 a day. Five days at that rate means $1,768,000 in expense. That will be the approximate cost to the people of Chicago of the Courtney bill, if it becomes a law.

"During the year there are 70 days of summer vacation. There is a week's vacation in the spring and another at Christmas, and the schools are also closed on Labor day, Columbus day, Armistice day, Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday, Good Friday, Memorial day, two days at Thanksgiving, and the day the state officials are elected. Now the Courtney bill provides for closing the schools five more days at an approximate yearly cost of $1,800,000.

"I am told that the new rules which the superintendent and his staff have prepared provide for local councils to meet twice each semester on school time, the maximum for each meeting to be two hours. If, in the judgment of the superintendent, this is sufficient, I am ready to accept his recommendation; but I am opposed to any legislation that will add to the expense of the board of education without adequate, practical return."

EFFECTS OF SMOKE FATAL.

James Stephenson, 50 years old, a printer, died yesterday at the Holy Cross hospital from the effects of smoke when he was trapped in his burning home at 5530 South Trumbull avenue Friday.

MOVE 3 BILLIONS ALONG GUN LINED GOTHAM STREET

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—The Irving Trust company moved three billion dollars through eight blocks of lower Broadway early this morning. For two hours every pedestrian and automobile passing through those eight blocks was in direct machine gun range.

Armored trucks, filled with squads of men armed with rapid fire rifles and chemical guns, stood at Broadway curbings, while similar trucks blocked off side streets.

Between these guarded lines fast trucks raced at high speed carrying the billions of dollars in gold, securities, and currency from vaults in the Woolworth building to the company's new vaults, buried 72 feet in bed rock beneath the new fifty story Irving Trust building at 1 Wall street.

7 CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE; PARENTS 6 OTHERS SAVED

Victims Are Trapped in Their Home.

Holderness, N. H., March 22.—(AP)—Seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Avery died in the little parlor of their back roads home early today in a fire which consumed the building in less than a quarter of an hour.

The dead:

Sperle, 20; George, 14; Harry, 10; Alfred, 9; Milton, 5; Daisy, 3, and Joseph, 5 months.

The parents and six other children, three of the latter severely burned, escaped. The burned children were: John, 18, Frank, 17, and Thomas, 16. All were taken to a hospital in Plymouth, where it was believed they would recover.

Youth Rouses Family.

Sperle, returning home early this morning, discovered smoke and roused the others. All except the five months old Joseph had huddled together in the living room when some one inadvertently opened a door to the rear of the house. Instantly flames, carried on the draft, shot through, enveloping the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery, two small sons and a daughter, Violet, 8, escaped through the small door leading to the road.

Baby Falls into Flames.

A few minutes later the upper floor gave way, carrying with it into the inferno below, the crib in which was the baby.

Neighbors, roused by the flames, summoned the single motor truck which is Plymouth's only fire equipment, but by the time it had arrived there was nothing that could be done.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery had one of the largest families in the state. They have had nearly 20 children, several of whom are dead while others have homes of their own.

Two Babies Burn to Death.

Mineville, N. Y., March 22.—(AP)—Two girls, Ellen, 2 years old, and Katherine, 10 months, were burned to death and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Montha, were seriously burned when their one room home was destroyed by fire today.

Empire dresses are easy to wear with No. 89-120, accenting the high, nipped-in waist. Long, shaped, web panels insure smooth abdomen and hips. Lightly boned, of brocade, sateen-lined. Softly moulded bust section of knitted rayon. Satin shoulder straps with rubber inserts. Sizes 34-44. $12.00

★ The star of the collection, No. 97-100, looks frivolous in peach batiste and lace but plays a strong part well. Elastic sections and very clever shaping give a curve in at the waist and a curve out over the hips in the new slender, unbroken way. Hardly any boning and you can wear low-back frocks with it. Exquisitely made with smooth, uplifting bust of écru embroidered net. Sizes 32-40. $10.00

No. 508 has chic little silk lacings at the sides that define a smart waistline. Brocade and rayon-faced knitted web, lined with batiste. Six garters. Sizes 24-34. Price $5.00. No. 258 in batiste, $3.50. No. 758, peach satin, $7.50. No. 1068, silk brocade and imported web, $10.00.

Débutantes will just love brassiere No. 1001. Well-defined uplift with 2 devices to give a snug fit in front and back! Sizes 30-38. Price $1.00. $3.50

Not so unrestrained . . . these GODDESSES of SPRING

Curves are in but not the unrestrained ones of the Venus de Milo . . . Nemo-flex offers the proper foundations for every type of figure for 1931 . . . . . .

Garments that give the slight but oh-so-necessary flattening in front and back. Very gently moulding girdles or combinations that define the waist and keep hips and thighs from looking too "generous"! And feather-weight larger garments which somehow manage to control abdomen and diaphragm without making you feel as if you were in a strait-jacket.

Not brute force—but clever boning and expert shaping have made the sensational success of Nemo-flex garments. Clever women will rush to the shops for these new designs. Kops Bros., Inc., New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Boston, Toronto, London.

Nemo-Flex

AT THE BETTER SHOPS

No. 65-750 practices clever deception on the larger figure. Boned reinforcements control abdomen and diaphragm. Trolley garters keep the front line smooth. Elastic gores prevent top bulging. Of fine brocade, knitted web and knitted rayon. Sizes 34-48. $7.50

No. 764. This long side-closing girdle will be a brilliant success because it secures waistline smoothness by two sections of elastic at each side with shaped strips of material between them. Light front and back boning. Rayon batiste and knitted web, lined with sateen. Six garters. Sizes 34-46. $7.50

Exclamations are in order over this delicious pink dotted brocade for the figure which needs but slight control. Four short bones over the diaphragm. Four in back—from the waist down only. The top section of soft rayon gives the new rounded effect. No. 89-580. Sizes 32-42. $5.00

The last word in uplift brassieres for the full bust is No. 3524. Diaphragm is flattened by reinforcing strips with short bones. Back closing. Elastic shoulder straps. Garters. Sizes 36-52. $5.50

More Awards in the Chicago Tribune's TRUE WANT AD EXPERIENCE OFFER

B. L., 739 Case Street, Evanston, Ill.—I had been laid off from work and work was scarce. I made a call at a friend's home before going home. He had a new car and asked me to buy the old one. I could not do that, of course, but told him that as I was out of work I could fix up the car, then sell it for him. He agreed, naming the price he wanted. Next Sunday the Tribune carried an ad that I had a good car for sale. Before noon I had a buyer and Monday I received my share of the sale which, needless to say, was very welcome.

Mrs. May B. Culp, Fort Dearborn Hotel, Chicago.—In 1930, on Mothers' Day, I spent the day at my daughter's home. At 10 p. m. I took the L. C. train at 71st and got off at Van Buren St. When I got home, I found that I had lost a diamond and sapphire bar pin. I felt sure I had lost it in the L. C. train and made inquiries then, but of no avail. I put an ad in the Chicago Daily Tribune (as I had done before with good results) and can say I now am the happy possessor of my pin, thanks to your want ad section.

Mrs. O. A. M., 1430 Hyde Park Blvd., Chicago, Ill.—When my son and I returned from a two months' vacation in Michigan last summer we had no idea where we would live when we got here. Coming through Lansing I bought a Tribune and while he drove I studied the ads of furnished apartments to rent. We stopped at the first one on the list and liked it so well we moved right in and have been here ever since. This is the third apartment I have obtained through the Tribune.

G. A. H., Weed St. and Smith Ave., Chicago.—Four years ago, in going through the Sunday Tribune Want Ad Section, I ran across an advertisement of a postage stamp dealer who was offering a packet of 1,000 different stamps for one dollar. Having collected stamps years ago when I was a boy, my wife and I hunted up my old collection. I decided to visit this dealer and add the lot he was offering to my collection. This was the start of many visits to this dealer, and the result was that I spent many hundreds of dollars building up my once small collection. At this date, I have accumulated a very exceptional collection for which a small Tribune Want Ad was entirely responsible.

Clara Walters, 3244 Lawrence Ave., Chicago.—Some time ago I placed an ad in the Sunday Tribune for music pupils. It read—Piano pupils young or old; results assured. By the end of the week I had enrolled 10 pupils. This proved to me that the money was well spent.

Another Group of Prize Winners in TOMORROW'S

HERE are five more prize-winning True Want Ad Experiences as told by Chicago Tribune readers. The writers of each of the letters reprinted here will receive $5.00 in cash.

Read these letters. Note the various ways in which Tribune Want Ads have been of helpful service to these Tribune readers.

Have you had a True Want Ad Experience which you think is as good as some of these? Send it to the Tribune!

$1000.00 in Cash Awards will be paid by the Chicago Tribune for the best True Want Ad Experiences submitted in accordance with a few simple rules.

Five True Want Ad Experiences will be published in the Tribune daily and Sunday for 29 days. Send in your experience today!

THE SIMPLE RULES:

1. Each day for the 29 days starting Sunday, March 22, 1931, the Chicago Tribune will publish five (5) True Want Ad Experiences. You are invited to send in a True Want Ad Experience and try for one of the cash awards which the Tribune will pay.
2. $5.00 will be paid to each person who submits a True Want Ad Experience which is published. IN ADDITION, from all the letters submitted the following grand prizes will be paid to the persons whose letters are adjudged the best of all: First Grand Prize, $100.00; Second Grand Prize, $50.00; Third Grand Prize, $25.00; next ten Grand Prizes, $10.00 each. Total in prizes, $1,000.00.
3. Letters will be selected which, in the opinion of the judges, relate experiences in which Tribune Want Ads have performed the most helpful service, as judged from all the circumstances given in the letter. In making their decisions, the judges will be governed by the facts given in the letters. Neatness, but NOT grammar and literary skill, will be considered.
4. This offer is open to all, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just send in a brief letter.
5. Letters must not exceed 100 words in length.
6. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. The Tribune may be examined at any of its down-town offices or at public libraries free of charge.
7. All letters must be received in the Tribune editor before 6:00 P. M. on Monday, April 20, 1931. No letters will be returned.

Address all letters to TRUE WANT AD EXPERIENCE, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. Please state your name and address, and whether you may use your name if prizes are awarded. If not, only initials will be used.

9. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate prize will be made to each tying contestant.

HOOVER TO LAND IN PORTO RICO AT DAWN TODAY

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD U. S. S. ARIZONA, March 22.—At the present rate of travel President Hoover will arrive in Ponce, Porto Rico, at dawn tomorrow and will be the second chief executive since Theodore Roosevelt, in 1906, to set foot on Porto Rican soil. He will be met by Theodore Roosevelt Jr., governor of Porto Rico, and then whisked away 90 miles over the splendid El Camino, a real royal highway, to San Juan to spend the night. After replying to greetings from the natives and Porto Rico's officialdom, the President will return to the Arizona on Tuesday.

As the trip nears its first objective it is increasingly clear that the administration contemplates no concession to any native movement in the direction of independence or statehood.

May Decide on Future Rule.

One of the administrative questions which President Hoover may settle as a result of his personal inspection will be whether Porto Rico will remain under the control of the department of war. In the case of the Virgin islands, it was recently decided that a civil governor under the department of the interior should replace the naval administration.

There is talk in some Washington circles of establishing what would amount to a bureau of colonial affairs. There are many arguments offered in favor of such a step. These aim at increased efficiency and the development of a line of "career men," somewhat after the British model. The drawback is that while British power is synonymous with colonial government, anything approaching a frank avowal that the United States has colonies would bring about a certain repetition of the outcry of imperialism.

If finances were the sole consideration, the United States could afford to get rid of Porto Rico, because the island cost the government money, but the Virgin islands come under the heading of expenditure for national defense.

Porto Rico a Problem.

Porto Rico presents the particularly troublous picture common to possessions inhabited by peoples in the inert tropical climates; improvident with the complacence transplanted from Africa, politically effervescent, and with the emotionalism of the Latin peoples.

At the moment Porto Rico is comparatively quiescent. The fomentation for independence, which made the island another Philippines a few years ago, has died down. The hurricane of 1928 aired things out in a forceful way, and brought home the advantages of dependency upon a power whose heart and pocketbook were sentimentally ready for a touch at the appeal of its little brown brother.

Eleven million dollars for rehabilitation and more, given by the Red Cross, was a potent argument for dependence and thus the independence and statehood movements weaken under the logic of arithmetic.

During the fiscal year 1930 Porto Rico received $7,000,000 more than it turned into the United States. The United States collects income tax and customs and Porto Rico keeps it, besides getting federal aid for education, agriculture, roads and harbors.

FLYER LOST

GLENN W. BROPHY.

MANILA, March 22.—(AP)—A fruitless search for Glenn W. Brophy, Los Angeles aviator, who disappeared Thursday while flying from the Chinese coast to Manila, ended today with the return of three destroyers which had combed the South China sea.

A search by army planes ended yesterday after a greater part of the island of Luzon had been covered.

It was generally felt here that Brophy was forced down shortly after leaving Macao, China, and hope that he still remained alive was based on the belief he may have been picked up by a Japanese or Chinese fishing boat.

GREAT BRITAIN YIELDS TO GANDHI TO ESCAPE 'WAR'

Will Let Him Reopen Safeguards Question.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW DELHI, India, March 22.—Approval of an ingenious formula, which will leave Mahatma Gandhi free to reopen the whole question of safeguards in the proposed constitution for India at the next round table conference without lowering the prestige of the British government, is expected from London tomorrow.

It will probably be announced by Viceroy Lord Irwin in the course of a public address this week, thus clearing up the dispute which has threatened to wreck the truce between the Nationalists and Great Britain.

The formula, which has been agreed upon between Gandhi and the viceroy, it is learned, merely states that while the British believe the safeguards are "highly desirable," Gandhi and the other parties at the conference will be free to open the entire question anew.

Gandhi Is Satisfied.

This has satisfied Gandhi who, in view of the recent speeches made by W. Wedgwood Benn, secretary of state for India, and Lord Chancellor Sankey, declaring that the safeguards as designed in London were indispensable to the future constitution of India, asked the British government to state clear whether they were so indispensable that they could not be revised or even suppressed during future negotiations.

It is also expected that the formula will appeal to London conservatives, since it leaves them to open or raise the question of new safeguards if they wish.

With the "holy man" beginning his weekly 24 hours of silence tonight before departing for Karachi for the all-India Nationalist congress convention, interest in India tonight shifted to Lahore, where Bhagat Singh, the fiery young revolutionary, and his two companions will be hanged on Tuesday for the murder of a British police officer.

No execution, with the exception of the Sholapur hangings, has aroused such deep feelings in India for years, and meetings of protest are being held throughout the country today demanding commutation of the death sentence.

Thousands Plead for Mercy.

Hundreds of women marched six miles in the blazing heat to New Delhi to stage a demonstration before the viceregal lodge this morning. Petitions containing thousands of names poured into the viceregal lodge last week, while the city council at Amritsar, where a bloody massacre occurred ten years ago, passed a resolution asking the viceroy for mercy.

Bhagat Singh himself has not asked for mercy, and has refused to join his two comrades in signing a petition asking for commutation of the death sentence. Instead he wrote to Lord Irwin as follows:

"The only think I ask for is that I be shot as befits a prisoner of war and not hung as a common criminal."

So that his presence will not stir the excited crowds into violence on the day of the hanging, Mahatma Gandhi has postponed his departure for Karachi 24 hours. He will spend Tuesday traversing the deserted Sind desert.

FLYERS HUNT FOR MISSING PLANE WITH 7 ON BOARD

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 22.—(AP)—An intensive search was made today by five planes for a plane of the National Airways, carrying six passengers and a pilot, which has been missing between Melbourne and Sydney since yesterday.

Considerable anxiety was expressed over the absence of the plane. It was last seen about 3:30 p. m. yesterday at Wagaratta, 145 miles north of here.

The search will be continued on a wider scale tomorrow. Among those who will join in looking for the missing plane is Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, famous Australian flyer.

Marshall Field & Company Announces Special Events That Add Emphasis Even to The Price-Decennial

Important Special Selling of Small

ORIENTAL RUGS

$2.95 to $75 beginning today

These are the lowest prices we have ever placed on Oriental Rugs of this high quality—to our knowledge

To qualify for our Price-Decennial, values must be superior—quality for quality—to those outstanding values we advertised during the 1920-21 deflation period. In this selling of small rugs we go farther and say "not within the memory of our most experienced rug buyers have we sold Oriental Rugs comparable to these in quality at such low prices."

Rugs are a necessity. Now you can buy "luxury rugs" at prices you would ordinarily pay for "necessary rugs." Every home, apartment, club or hotel can now be provided with Oriental Rug refinement at a saving of many dollars.

A word to connoisseurs:—you especially will appreciate these Decennial values. You'll probably want two or more . . . but you are most welcome to buy one.

$2.95, Turkish Anatolian Rugs, 1.6 x 3.0

Closely woven, bright colors in such a variety that practically any choice can be satisfied. Compared with regular prices these values are sensational. Just pause a moment—and consider this price for an Oriental! Isn't it stirring?

$3.75, Kelim Rugs, 2.6 x 3.0 feet

$10.50, Lilahan Rugs, 2 x 3 feet

Lustrous, silky, soft—you'll want 2 or more at this exceptionally low price.

$18.50, Persian Rugs, 3.6 x 5.6 feet

Heavy deep pile, rich colors, small figures and geometric designs. Here are values you will immediately recognize as exceptional.

$12.50, Persian Rugs, 2 x 4 feet

Soft, silken weave, mostly rich rose or deep red in coloring. This size fits admirably into innumerable places.

$30, Hamadan Rugs, about 3.6 x 6 feet

$40, Sarouk Rugs, about 2 x 4 feet

$40, Lilahan Rugs, 3.6 x 6 feet

Gorgeous, deep colors, fine texture, luxurious pile—the kind of rugs you'll be proud to own for years and years. (You'll be proud of the savings you're making, too.)

$50, Lilahan Hall Strips, about 2.8 x 9.7 feet

With that rich sheen for which fine Lilahans are noted. Use one for a short, narrow hall—two for a longer hall—it's real economy.

$75, Sarouk Rugs, 4 x 7 feet

Aristocrats, every one. Beauty, refinement, individuality are woven into these rugs—and they are offered to you at prices heretofore unheard of.

$75, Lilahan Rugs, 5 x 7 feet

Everything good could be said about these rugs. Very silky—and highlights fairly ripple across their richly colored surfaces. Don't fail to see this group—and to take advantage of the savings.

THE HIGHER CONSISTENCY IN IOWA.

A thousand indignant farmers, bearing banners, marched into the Iowa state capitol at Des Moines the other day and thereupon the deliberations of the legislature were abruptly suspended. The farmers had come to protest against enforcement of the Iowa law compelling the testing of dairy herds for tuberculosis and the slaughter of animals found to be infected. The banners and the spokesmen demanded that the law be changed to permit the voters of each county to determine whether testing was to be undertaken within its borders.

Gov. Dan Turner, learning of the rumpus, came on the run. He said he had to enforce the law, but "I guarantee to you that, so far as lies within my power, your rights shall be maintained, your lives and property protected."

The uninformed observer might come to the conclusion that Iowa's governor was talking nonsense. The property which he pledged himself to protect so far as lay within his power is diseased cows. The law requires him to see that they are destroyed. The rights which he pledged himself to maintain are the rights to sell tuberculous milk to be fed to babies in Iowa and Illinois, a practice which the law of Iowa was intended to prohibit. It would seem that he has promised to attempt something he cannot consistently do.

This analysis, however, is superficial. It overlooks the higher consistency, and Iowa statesmanship is consistent if nothing else. Iowa has contributed its large share to the prohibition of unadulterated alcoholic beverages and the substitution of others which blind and paralyze; now its governor has pledged himself to do what he can for tuberculosis of the bones in growing children. The same crusading zeal which brought about Iowa's triumph in the one field may be expected to achieve results in the other.

Perhaps all that Mr. Turner meant to say was that he would use his influence toward a modification of the law to permit county option in the matter of the destruction of diseased cattle, as requested by the farmers. Under those circumstances, enforcement would present relatively few difficulties. Communities which wanted tuberculous milk could have it and those which did not want it could do away with it; or, perhaps more accurately, communities which thought pasteurization an adequate safeguard could rely on that safeguard, and others would not. This course has much to recommend it and it is somewhat astonishing, therefore, that the voice of Iowa has not been raised in defense of a similar arrangement, as between states, for the control of alcoholics. If it is possible to produce and sell tuberculous milk in one county and prohibit it in an adjoining one, it ought to be possible to permit beer to be made and sold in Illinois and prohibit it in Iowa. There is no possibility that a brewery in Rock Island will contaminate the soda pop of Davenport with alcohol, but there is considerable reason to fear that a tuberculous herd in one Iowa county will infect a herd in the adjoining one.

A CITY ISLAND.

About half a million cubic yards of stone and dirt is dumped into Lake Michigan annually by the city of Chicago. It is now dumped in deeper water beyond the thirteen mile limit and scattered uselessly over an indeterminate area. By concentrating this material in one place in shallow water an island of great value to Chicago could be built over a period of years. It might well take a decade or so of dumping, but 500,000 cubic yards of stone and dirt each year is too much to waste. On land a half million cubic yards of material is a pile 200 feet by 300 feet by 150 feet high.

A retaining structure would, of course, be necessary for the dumping, and this would require relatively shallow water. At eight, six, four, and three miles distance from the Chicago shoreline the water is usually about 60, 40, 35, and 30 feet deep, respectively. But the water is 21 feet about four miles off Jarvis avenue on the north side; it is 18 feet deep three miles off Devon avenue. Over the south park shoals, two miles off 55th street, the water is eight feet deep or less. These are shallow spots where islands might be built.

In a zone between the two mile limit and the eight mile limit a city island could be built at a distance from shore to be determined by the cost of the retaining structure. This structure, or "perimeter," as the engineers say, must be as wide as it is high and be composed for the most part of stone in large size. Though experts differ as to the feasibility of the island, some saying it is easily possible, others saying it will cost too much, there is little doubt that with a will and half a million cubic yards of material available free every year the island can be made.

Dumping indiscriminately in the lake beyond the 13 mile limit is of doubtful wisdom for a continued policy. The soil and dirt washes inland, fills up the harbor, and perhaps endangers the water supply. Expert studies have shown that clays and colloidal soils will move as much as 20 miles in water before settling. To concentrate this dumping within an inclosure, eventually building an island therefrom, will save the city's harbor and water and build an island of unique value. In 1929 more than 340 scowloads of material were scattered over the bottom beyond the 13 mile limit.

Valuable as the park extensions have been to Chicago, they could not compare in value with a city island, from two to six miles out, as a center for yachting, recreation, for a hotel perhaps, and as a place always cool and but a few minutes from the loop. A city island would pay Chicago in time many times over.

THE IRISH DEMOCRACY.

President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State spoke to the people of the United States by radio with greetings fitting the occasion, which was St. Patrick's day. The means he used could be but little more astonishing to the past than the sanction with which he spoke, he being the president of a free people whose fruitful new conditions are being created by a democracy of their own, won by their own persistence through terrible centuries.

The Free State has not escaped the effects of conditions felt throughout Europe and America, but its prosperity is a reality and a sure prospect. Ireland under its own government offers the average man a new life on his own competence. The resources were always there. They had supported an early culture when Great Britain was darkened by the conflict of fighting tribes and breeds, but when the dark ages were carried to Ireland they remained until the twentieth century. The island was the key to England and life was almost extinguished in the struggles for it. What wars did not do in extermination land proscriptions and trade restrictions did. A vigorous and competent people survived and that approximates a miracle. The survival had to be one of centuries, not merely of generations.

The economic revival of the Free State is one attributable to the propulsive force of real democracy releasing the initiative, the confidence, hopefulness, and imagination of a people free to achieve their destiny with the elements in their hands. There is probably no other force which can equal it. It accounted for the spread of the American republic. It dares everything because it believes that everything is possible.

THE SMALLER BALLOT.

By action of the election officials the city ticket has been cleared of inconsequential candidacies which had no other effect than to increase the size of the ballot, the cost of printing it and the confusion of the voters. With election law indulgence, eccentric or vain citizens can make the ballot a playground and have done so. Voters have had difficulty in the handling of the ballot sheets because of candidates to whom a place on the ticket was a species of out of door sport, a soap box in a public square.

The protection of minorities does not require a freedom of public printing giving the voter a blanket size instead of a slip when the latter can carry all valid candidacies. If the eccentric entries have any color of validation in ambiguities of the election laws a redefinition of conditions should be undertaken. There should be something more than the wish to run for office required for place on the ballot. It is, of course, necessary to protect independent candidacies, but they should show a reality of support.

NEIGHBORING MARKETS.

President Rubio of Mexico, by disapproval, has defeated a plan for the settlement of some undeveloped areas by Slavic colonization. He said that the country had a problem of returning nationals and could not encourage or receive immigration. The United States is interested in the success of developments in neighboring countries which will sustain labor at home, use native resources, and produce customers for goods. American legislation has not extended immigration restriction in this direction, partly for reasons of state and partly because of the influence of employers in some sections who want migratory labor. A healthier condition both ways would be found if American capital gave the foreign workman a sustenance at home and in his improved condition found markets for American goods.

A Mexican program which enabled that country to contain its labor, increase the requirements of life, and afford means of satisfying them would take Mexican labor out of the American market, where it increases unemployment, and put American goods in the Mexican market, where they would make employment.

The advantageous thing is the spread of American standards of living on the other side of the border, not the spread of hungry labor on this side.

MICHIGAN MONOPOLIES.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

Michigan farmers have a "monopoly" of several crops that, while not complete, makes the supposed United States Steel "monopoly" look like a piker in percentage of total business.

One of these monopolies is of the soft white wheat that alone can be relied upon to make good cakes, pastries, cookies, and crackers.

If you bite into a good pie crust or "dunk" a salted wafer anywhere in the United States, whether Florida, Maine, California, or Michigan, chances are about nine in ten you are eating Michigan wheat. It's the finest on earth for these purposes and commands a premium from all millers. Nowhere on earth are the soils and climatic conditions as favorable for producing soft white wheat—"cake wheat."

Then there's the luscious Michigan red kidney bean, in the production of which New York is our only competitor. Recently some unscrupulous canners paid this product the flattery of fraudulent imitation, designating the much inferior and flavorless pink bean as a "red" on the label. But in the real thing we share production only with New York, and with proper law enforcement we should be able to prevent spurious labeling.

Still another Michigan farm monopoly is the white navy bean, in which again we share production only with New York, and in normal years leave that state only a minor proportion of the crop. The sole foreign area where identical beans are produced is Japan, recently shipping in vast quantities over the $3 tariff per hundredweight. A flexible tariff boost to $4.50 would be legal and restore the business to Michigan farmers, hit last year by unfavorable weather conditions in addition to the Japanese crop produced at a starvation cost of only $1 per hundredweight plus $3 tariff and about 45 cents for transportation as ballast through the Panama canal to the New York market.

It is predicted that a coming Michigan agricultural monopoly will be the wonderful Petoskey russet baking potato. Michigan State College is now showing the state's farmers how to produce this crisp and ideal table luxury, and when the state gets into action the superior Michigan russet is going to run the Idaho baked potato right off the hotel bill of fare.

So long as our soil, and weather, and tariff behave themselves these "monopolies" will stay with Michigan. Nature gave them to us, and apparently intends them to remain.

ALONE IN THE DESERT.

And ALL this TIME, far out in the GREAT WASTE of SAND in the LONELY DESERT, standing under a lone PALM TREE, his staring EYES fixed on ILLIMITABLE space, stands a LONE, WAN FIGURE. It is Jimmie Walker, mayor of the GREAT METROPOLIS of New York. Is he THINKING great THOUGHTS with which to HURL back the ACCUSATIONS that have been MADE against him to the effect that he permitted GREED, and GRAFT, and VICE, and WICKEDNESS, and TAMMANY to flourish like the GREEN BAY TREE under his BENEVOLENT REIGN as GRAND VIZIER of GOTHAM? Nay! Some LOW-DOWN guardian of a FLOCK of SHEEP has just pointed to Jimmie's pale purple spats and hooted, "Take 'em off, DEARIE, take them DAM THINGS off, or SOMEBODY will take a SHOT at you!" And HIS HONOR the MAYOR is TRYING to think up an APPROPRIATE and KILLING WISE CRACK to hurl back at the next BA BA NURSE who tries to spring another HUMOROUS BIT like that.

NOW ON THE WIND.

Now on the hilltop calls another spring,
The buds will soon be bursting on the tree;
O silver fields, lift up your blossoming,
O sun, lie bright forever on the sea!
The grimmer jest that hushes all our laughter,
The sharper pang belittling all our pain,
The flying moment and the long hereafter
Shall be forgot till winter comes again.
O little time for loving and forgetting,
O little time, so sorry and so sweet!
O little world, so tremulous a setting
For all that is too beautiful and fleet!
Now on the wind the homing birds appear,
Loud with the music of another year.

DOROTHY KISSLING.

SOMETHING'S got to be done about this terrible overcrowding in the prisons. Maybe we'd better make a rule to stop sending fat men to the penitentiaries; they take up too much room. Fat men are always kicking, too, about food, movies, and everything. Well, then, what shall we do with fat men who won't behave? Let us shoot the fat men and send only slim men to jail. It's just an idea, but it may be good. Write to your congressman today.

GOSH! WE'VE GOT A MISSION!

Edwarda, the School of Journalism frosh, set us thinking about our mission. She sent us a long questionnaire, and one of the questionnaires she aired and to which we gave the air was, "What do you regard as your mission as a columnist?" After weeks of patient self-study, Edwarda, we've decided our mission is to teach all and sundry to use the dictionary. We do the trick with lagniappe. They write in and say, "I've looked in all the dictionaries and lagniappe isn't there." At first it struck us as strange, because lagniappe is in our dictionary. We concluded that while the word was in our dictionary some fiend in human form had clipped it out of all the other dictionaries in the world. And then by patient inquiry we discovered that the dictionaries in which the earnest seekers had sought for lagniappe were usually the Handy Man's Dictionary, the Tom Thumb Dictionary, the Vest Pocket Dictionary, the Magnifying Glass Dictionary, and other cute little dictionaries like those. We startled the patient seekers by telling them to look in the big grown-up dictionaries, the unabridged, and they all said: "Good gracious! We never thought of that!" That, Edwarda, is our mission in life as a columnist. Lagniappe! And many of 'em!

SEA HORSES.

In the flaming, flaring vastness of the kindling dawn of day,
On the rolling, surging waters stretching towards the blood-red sun,
Lies a little tramp boat steaming through a mist of rainbow spray,
The rusty paint is scaling from her cargo-dented sides,
The weather-cloth is flapping on the narrow, slanting bridge,
Yet through the western ocean and through tropic seas she rides,
Still bearing on the old world's trade as though a privilege.
The lovely lady liners pass her petulantly by,
With never any gesture of endeavor to salute,
The lordly warships never deign to cast on her their eye,
Yet all the ports of all the world regard her as a friend,
She and ten thousand like her who just tramp the lonely seas,

LAGNIAPPE.

FROM A ROUGH CALCULATION, after looking at the letters in the exchanges from delighted people who have seen the first robin of springtime, we should judge the number of robin redbreasts now in Illinois at 6,854,765,989; Indiana, 307,432,954; Iowa, 7,555,376,484; Wisconsin, 6,424,999,666. And these are merely the first robins. When the rest of the tribe move north—well, it looks as though it would be quite a large number.

WHY do fettered convicts, in prisons grim and bare, rare back on their hind legs, and assert their manhood if they don't get good food, and the rest of us sit like dumb driven cattle at the dinner table of the rich and meekly say, "Yes, please," when the butler comes around and asks in a menacing manner if we want another helping of spinach?

NARROW PEOPLE.

ONE of the two groups into which Hippocrates divided people was the long-thins. Whenever one found a person, man or woman, markedly of this type he could expect that person to have a certain type of personality, to possess certain mental characteristics, and to be subject to certain diseases. The long-thins have long necks and long legs. Their shoulders are narrow and their bodies are slim. The long-thins rarely have high blood pressure, and few of them die from apoplexy.

In accordance with the same specifications they tend to escape Bright's disease and heart disease. On the other hand, they have more than their proportion of constitutional low blood pressure, and persons with low blood pressure are prone to be mines of symptoms and complaints.

These long-thins are quite apt to have dropped stomachs and other fallen organs. Among the persons of this type develop most of the cases of stomach ulcer and duodenal ulcer. The people who are most subject to consumption are of a type that is essentially long-thin, but that is somewhat modified. They have narrow faces and long necks and their limbs tend to be long, but their bodies are somewhat short, their chests are flat and, occasionally, deep, and their shoulder blades stick out.

The long-thins are introverts. They are likely to be quiet and restrained, to read and think, but not to talk much. Their personality is apt to be of the quiet, timid type. Rarely are they good mixers. When they become mentally disordered the disturbance is prone to be of the dementia præcox type. Wheeler says men and women of this type are active, intense, intellectual, self-centered, often deficient in a sense of humor, and fond of reforming. The caricature of Uncle Sam, which was accepted half a century ago, represented him as being a long-thin. Perhaps that Uncle Sam died of stomach ulcer, because the present day fellow is fat, voluminous amidships, and headed for apoplexy.

BOTTLE-FED BABY.

Mrs. A. T. writes: I have a baby three months old. The doctor tells me to give her the bottle every three hours, but she cries more often than every three hours for her bottle. In this way she drinks almost double the amount of milk the doctor ordered. Will this harm her in any way? She is gaining weight.

REPLY.

Babies of that age are usually on a four hour schedule, or getting ready for it. A two hour interval allows the stomach no rest. Don't you think you are dealing with a spoiled baby?

NEED NOT DO MUCH.

Mrs. S. W. B. writes: For the past year I have lived in a hot air heated house. My ears have given trouble since that time in their failure to secrete wax. My ears are dry unless I use sweet oil in them to soften the wax. What shall I do? For the past two weeks my ears have not responded to the oil.

REPLY.

I never heard that living in dry air would stop the secretion of ear wax, but it may do so. Evaporate water enough to keep the air moist if anything need be done. Your letter does not suggest much need of doing anything.

IT IS DANGEROUS.

C. D. writes:

1. Is it dangerous to remove moles on the face and other parts of the body with a medicine which is made for the purpose?
2. Is there any treatment which will cause a birthmark, which is about the size of a dollar and pink in color, on the neck, to disappear?
3. Would it be inherited by the children?

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. Operation is done for some. Others are otherwise treated.
3. No.

MAY BE DUE TO SINUS.

W. V. K. writes: For some time I have been bothered by a constant frontal headache accompanied by a burning sensation in the nose, throat, and ears. I am told it is catarrh.

1. Will it in time impair the sense of hearing?
2. Is it curable?
3. Can it be communicated to others?

REPLY.

1. The answer should be based on more information than you appear to have.
2. Your story indicates an infection of the frontal sinus. If this is the trouble, proper care should result in cure.
3. No.

"A. F. Z."

Chicago, March 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A. F. Z. has a legacy to come due one year from now. If A. F. Z. should die before that year expires: 1. Would his present will take care of this legacy? 2. What is an administrator's fee? A. F. Z.

1. It probably would, but we cannot advise to advantage without knowing the wording of the will giving the legacy and the wording of his own will.
2. The statute specifies not over 6 per cent of the personal property. Within this limit the allowance is largely discretionary with the judge.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RIGHTS IN CEMETERY LOT.

Chicago, March 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. My father, who is now dead, bought a family cemetery lot. My mother is living and married again. My brother thinks he is the sole heir and can do as he pleases. I have a little girl buried in the lot whom he would put out if it weren't for mother. 2. How can I prove that my small brother and I have equal rights? MRS. L. L.

1. If your father left no will, his children would share equally.
2. No legal action would seem necessary to prove your rights. Ordinarily it is not worth while to probate an estate merely to establish the title to cemetery lots. We suggest that you give notice of your rights to the cemetery association.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TO ATTACH INSURANCE.

Chicago, March 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is it possible for a real estate agent who has judgment against me for two months' rent, amounting to $120, to hold or take my life insurance, which is made payable to my wife, for the amount? It is a straight life policy. G. A. D.

If, under the wording of the policy, you have the right to change the beneficiary, then it can be subjected to the claims of your creditors.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 23, 1915.

LONDON.—Food and ammunition utterly exhausted, decimated by death in battle and disease, the garrison of the Austrian fortress of Przemysl surrendered to the investing Russian forces. The siege lasted 187 days.

ROME.—The stoppage of railway freight traffic with Germany via Switzerland, the promulgation of the national defense law, the order for the expulsion of suspicious foreigners, particularly Germans and Austrians, and the contemplated censoring of news from Italy were developments of the strained situation.

NEW YORK.—The second spy to be executed in London is said to have died in the Tower on March 5. The first German spy to be executed was Lieut. Hans Carl Lody of the German naval reserve. Three German spies were arrested just prior to the sailing of the Tuscania from Liverpool on March 12. Their names were stated to be John Hann, Muller, and Meyer.

CINCINNATI.—Three express cars loaded with ammunition consigned by a Massachusetts company to the Italian consul at New Orleans passed through Cincinnati today, accompanied by a heavy guard.

PEIPING.—It is reported that four of Japan's seven demands relating to Manchuria have been conceded by China, with slight modifications. The details have not been made public. In the face of the negotiations, it is also learned that the Japanese are pouring troops into Manchuria.

CHICAGO.—William Lorimer, Charles G. Fox, Thomas McDonald, and Joseph P. Gallagher, officials of the bankrupt La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, were arraigned before Federal Judge Carpenter. They pleaded not guilty to charges of violating the national banking laws. Charles B. Munday and H. W. Huttig, also under indictment, were given another week to enter their pleas.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 23, 1901.

LONDON.—Japan has notified the powers directly interested in the far east of her determination to oppose at all costs any secret agreement or treaty between China and Russia by which Russia is given special advantages in the Manchurian territory contiguous to the Corean peninsula. The news has caused no little uneasiness in official circles which is increased by the persistent refusal of the Russian foreign office to throw any light on the alleged Manchurian treaty.

CHICAGO.—Plans for the proposed lake front Palace of Industries took on a more definite form when the Chicago Commercial association decided to at once ask the legislature for a site on which the $2,000,000 structure can be erected. If the site is granted Chicago soon will have a public building capable of holding 20,000 people in which expositions, athletic carnivals, and other entertainments may be held.

CHICAGO.—F. E. Coyne took the oath as postmaster, filed his $500,000 bond, and forwarded it to Washington. He will take charge of the office on April 1.

BACOLOD NEGROS, P. I.—During the present week there has been an almost thorough collapse of the Visayan insurrection. There have been 800 surrenders in Leyte, and the insurgent commander, Gen. Fullon, handed in 180 rifles. Gen. MacArthur cabled the war office, "This ends the insurrection in Panay."

EDITORIAL.—The bill introduced in the legislature by Representative Sullivan of Cook county, which provides that voters who are too drunk to mark their own ballots shall be assisted by two election officers in so doing marks the climax in idiotic legislation. A man who is so drunk that he cannot mark his ballot should lose his vote.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 23, 1881.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Edwin Booth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McVicker, is seriously ill in London and reports indicate there is little hope for her recovery. Mr. McVicker is the well known theatrical manager of this city. Mrs. McVicker will sail from New York for London today to be at her daughter's bedside.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The contest over the marshalship of the northern district of Illinois was settled by the appointment of A. M. Jones. There is no doubt his nomination will be confirmed as Senator Logan is a member of the judiciary committee to which the nomination will be referred. Albert Woodcock was nominated by President Garfield to be collector of internal revenue of the Third [Sterling] district of Illinois in the place of Mr. Jones.

BOSTON, Mass.—Ex-Secretary of the Interior Carl Schurz was tendered a reception at the Hotel Vendome. Col. Charles R. Coleman presided and speeches were made by James Freeman Clarke, President Eliot of Harvard, and others.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The bill prohibiting the sale of deadly weapons to minors passed the senate and goes to the governor for approval.

NEW YORK.—Gen. Grant sent in his resignation as president of the World's Fair commission. It is understood that the general gave as his reason the lack of interest displayed in the fair by residents of New York.

CHICAGO.—The Republican city convention nominated Ald. John M. Clark for mayor. He received the votes of 115 delegates to 96 cast for James T. Rawleigh. Jesse Spalding sent a letter withdrawing from the race, stating that he believed he could be of more service to the party working in its ranks than as a candidate. Ald. Clark is 45 years old. John Raber was nominated for city treasurer. Thomas Sennott for city clerk, and W. T. Underwood for city attorney.

PETTICOATS.

Chicago, March 18.—The editorial on "Petticoats for Women" was entirely out of reason, similar to the average advocacy of short dresses. Moderation, the happy medium, is always correct. Even slender women look topheavy in knee length skirts, and never graceful. Beauty of face and form is lifeless without the charm of grace. A group of women pulling down their skirts every little while attracts and distracts one's attention, while legs protrude from every direction. Even the boldest of men are embarrassed at times.

Women who are now wearing the shoe top length speak of the ease they enjoy when they sit down to lounge in absolute comfort. A silk petticoat is a light, soft, slippery foundation. The dress hangs more gracefully, and the wearer, satisfied she is not being "X-rayed," can relax. No petticoat means a vulgar display, even with an indoor light. Let us leave the extreme in styles—short skirts and trailing dresses—for the theaters—where we go to be entertained in the land of make believe.

A READER.

SYMPATHY FOR CONVICTS.

Chicago, March 20.—I do not believe that newspaper sympathy had anything to do with the riot in Joliet prison. There is very little sympathy in the heart of newspapers or the American people toward the prisoners. The American public is utterly indifferent towards this grave condition which confronts this country.

Yes, the prisoners can be subdued with tear bombs, gas bombs, solitary confinements, and many other agencies of torture, but that will be temporarily only.

I am not one of those sloppy sentimentalists who condones the wrong, but I sincerely believe that every criminal as well as minor law offender should be placed in the hands of scientifically trained men and women. We do not allow laymen to treat the physically sick people. If anybody, it is the mentally sick person who is entitled to expert treatment. In the long run it would be more economical and Christian.

Normal human beings have no desire of committing a crime or any other offense against society. It is on this ground that I defend the prisoners. Every crime is an indictment against our civilization, and some day we shall be forced to make this embarrassing confession.

KATE S. MAREE.

PRISON GUARDS.

Chicago, March 15.—While this committee is investigating the Joliet penitentiary have them look into the conditions of the guard. I think he is as bad off as the convict, only he has a different name. He has to work 12 hours a day and sleep seven and eight in a room. No shower bath. He gets his hair cut and shave on his own time and is in charge of 30 or more convicts with only a cane as protection.

The convicts work about 6 hours per day, sleep two in a cell and have many things that the guard has not. About the only thing the guard has is a little liberty, but that don't amount to much when you have to work 12 hours and sleep 8 hours behind those gray walls and take a chance with your life, all for $115 a month. The convict is sent there for some crime he has done, but the guard is there trying to make an honest living and how some of the married men do it is beyond me. Give the boys an eight hour day.

ELMER C. GOSS.

REFERRED TO VARSITY PROFS.

Chicago, March 16.—Your headline of March 14, "National Frat Merges with N. U. Scribblers," is plenty wet. Since when is a great fraternity like Phi Gamma Delta referred to as a frat? You should inform your headline writers that frat is a contraction that is no longer in good usage. It is correct only in connection with noncollegiate Greek letter groups of drug store cowboys and then only as an expression of contempt. Frat never appears in the vocabulary of a well educated person. C. W. C.

SHARING THEIR HAPPINESS.

Chicago, March 16.—Why is it that every nit-wit who spies any bird or beast, from a robin to a skunk, heralds it as a sign of spring, and insists on telling the great news to all the newspapers? ARTHUR PORGES.

OVERHEAD STREETS EXTENDED.

Chicago, March 21.—There is a measure pending at Springfield to make available a part of the state highway funds for the construction of overhead streets in Chicago to connect up with the highways. A good idea, but there is also agitation for electrification of the railroads in Chicago. The railroads are having tough financial sledding. Since the railroads follow natural grades leading out to the highways, and since they possess ideal rights of way over which to construct these needed overhead streets, why not peel this state highway fund contemplated for the purpose with the railroads and permit them to construct the overhead streets wide enough to accommodate both vehicle traffic and passenger trains?

It is just possible that once this local elevation of railroads has proven a success that the overhead lines would be extended in many instances throughout the nation. It may be that in this suggestion will be found the secret to future successes in railroad operation in this country. Not only could fast light passenger trains operate over the elevated lines, but light and low flat car trains could be provided upon which autos and trucks could be run under their own power and transported on long hauls cheaper than driven under their own power. Auto drivers and truck drivers on long hauls could drive days and go aboard the trains nights and sleep, and the truck drivers could make their deliveries direct from the trains on arrival. The idea should appeal to the express companies operating in and out of the big cities.

JESSE T. KENNEDY.

FROM THE POSTAL CLERKS.

Chicago, March 17.—The forty-four hour week bill for postal employs was enacted in the closing days of the Seventy-first congress and becomes effective July, 1931.

During the long battle for this legislation your publication gave editorial and news stories in support, and the Chicago Postoffice Clerks' union, Local 1, of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, are not unmindful of the fact and desire to extend to you our most sincere thanks.

The enactment of this law will have a triple beneficial effect. It will create more work for substitutes, it will stimulate morale among postal workers, and will thereby increase the efficiency in the postal service.

P. H. SENGSTAKE,

A JURY OF HIS PEERS.

Sterling, Ill., March 16.—"Another Ox Ed" says Virgil Kirkland should have been tried by a jury more specifically his peers in regard to age. Let me say that I am young and that I am acquainted with a great many other young people of both sexes who, had they comprised the jury, would have placed the death penalty on Kirkland in less than the three hours that it took the farmer jury to reach their compromise verdict.

WALTER E. BRIAN.

A DISAGREEMENT.

Apple River, Ill., March 19.—In THE TRIBUNE of March 18 is the coroner's report exonerating the government officials in the case of the shooting of United States Mail Driver Roberts, who had begun the affair by shooting one of the government officials, apparently under the mistaken supposition that they were bandits, whereas the government officials were correctly doing their most obvious duty.

But in the same issue there is an editorial headed, "Prohibition Shoots Up Mail Truck," and it says, "It was consistent with enforcement of the great experiment that the shooting should start first. . . . The quick trigger work, so typical of federal and state prohibition, has its natural and apparent causes." ALBERT TORSET.

COLORED WARDS.

Chicago, March 17.—Why is it that you always have to represent the Third and Fourth wards as colored wards? A large portion of the Third ward is white and half of the Fourth ward is white. Give this section of the south side a chance and it may blossom into another gold coast. D. H. CANTWELL.

AMERICAN FLYER DASHES TO SCENE OF VIKING WRECK

Forced Down by Darkness Only 50 Miles Away.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, March 22.—(AP)—Lieut. Robert F. Fogg of Concord, N. H., landed his open plane at Hampden, 50 miles from Horse island, at 5:57 p. m. today, on a flight to the scene of the Viking disaster. He was accompanied by Ay Mangalone, news reel cameraman. It was considered unlikely he would continue to his destination, as darkness had set in.

LIEUT. ROBERT F. FOGG.

Balchen Reaches Newfoundland.

CORNER BROOK, Newfoundland, March 22.—(AP)—After a seven hour flight from St. John, N. B., Bernt Balchen and his two companions, en route from Boston, Mass., to help save survivors of the sunken Viking, brought their amphibian down here today. They made a rough but safe landing on the waters of the Humbermouth in the Bay of Islands at 1 p. m.

Hope of continuing immediately to Horse Island to start the search for two Americans and 24 other men, presumably lost in the explosion which destroyed the sealing ship a week ago, was dissipated when the flyers found that the gasoline supply here was not suitable for the big plane.

It was revived almost immediately, however, when arrangements were put through for a special train with 8 casks of airplane gasoline to leave St. John's, several hundred miles away on the east coast, within a few hours. Whether the fuel can arrive tomorrow, however, is problematical, because of weather conditions.

Third Plane Forced Down.

An express train due at St. John's last Friday has not yet arrived and the tracks are impassable in many places.

A third plane, piloted by C. F. Kent, who took off from Moncton, N. B., Saturday, with the intention of obtaining news pictures, was down at Pictou, N. S., with spark plug trouble.

Information from the vicinity of Horse Island was that the eight men who constituted the last of the survivors of the Viking had been taken off this morning, six of them on stretchers, by fifty seamen under direction of a Dr. Patterson, one of the rescue ship surgeons.

With their departure, Horse island, whose three families have done their best to feed and attend to the wants of the injured, lapsed again into the solitude that was its accustomed lot before last week.

The departing survivors and rescuers headed for the steamer Sagona, which already has aboard the greater part of the Viking's shattered company. The Sagona was locked in ice several miles off shore and the only way led across treacherous floes which jam White bay.

PROSECUTORS AND POLICE CHIEFS TO CONFER TODAY

The conference of prosecutors and police chiefs from leading cities summoned by State's Attorney Swanson to discuss plans for fighting organized crime, will open this morning at the Palmer house. State's Attorney Swanson will make the address of welcome, and District Attorney Burton Fitts of Los Angeles, who suggested the conference, will respond.

The first session will be devoted to a round table discussion of the purposes and problems of the conference. The afternoon session will be given over to permanent organization of the group and election of officers.

At a banquet in the evening District Attorney G. E. Q. Johnson will be the speaker. He is to recount his

CHINA SEEKS LOAN OF $50,000,000 TO BUILD FACTORIES

Aims to Give Work to Thousands.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, March 22.—The Nationalist government feels that the most certain method of reducing its foreign obligations and in time to recoup its finance at a period when silver is at so great a discount, having recently reached a value of five to one as compared with gold, is to develop manufacturing on a large scale.

Not only would this give employment to thousands but, owing to the cheaper labor in China, it is contended that with the higher tariff the net results to China as a whole would be vastly greater than at present.

The nation-wide factory development scheme, with modern machinery, originated with Dr. H. H. Kung, a graduate of Oberlin in Ohio, and at present minister of industry.

Dr. Kung says it has been decided to erect five large factories in as many regions of China for the manufacture of textiles, fabrics and other articles now imported. It is estimated that the cost of erecting five such factories and equipping them with machinery will total fifty million silver dollars and it is proposed to raise this sum by the flotation of public loans.

The China Association for the Promotion of Agriculture—agriculture also comes under the ministry of industry—has plans afoot for the modernization of farming. This association, at a meeting held recently in Nanking, adopted resolutions covering these four subjects:

1. A careful and intensive study of agricultural conditions as developed in soviet Russia.

2. Nation-wide lectures on agriculture to be arranged.

3. Ways and means to be devised to establish advanced agricultural institutions.

4. The translation into Chinese of important books in foreign languages on the subject of agricultural development and economies incident thereto.

J. P. Morgan Quits Paris for Mediterranean Cruise

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, March 22.—[Special.]—J. P. Morgan, who arrived in Paris Friday on a visit, left this evening for Villefranche, where he will join his yacht for a Mediterranean cruise. During his short stay in Paris, it is stated by his agents here, Mr. Morgan did not transact any business.

REFLOAT LINER CAUGHT ON REEF; 200 TAKEN OFF

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 22.—(AP)—The Canadian Pacific liner Montclare, which went aground on a reef off the island of Cambria in the Firth of Clyde last night, was refloated today and proceeded toward Liverpool.

The 200 passengers from the ship, who had taken to lifeboats after the vessel crashed on the reef in a thick fog, were picked up by tugs. They included a score of mothers and their children. The crew remained aboard.

IT'S HARD JOB TO JOIN COMMUNIST PARTY IN RUSSIA

Out of 160,000,000 People Only 1% Belong.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MOSCOW, Feb. 20.—[By mail.]—Only 1 per cent of the population of Russia holds membership in the communist party. Of the 160,000,000 inhabitants in this vast soviet federation, there are about a million and a half men and women in "the party."

Joining the communist party is no simple thing. You don't merely enroll, like lining up with the Republican or Democratic organizations in the United States. To be eligible an applicant must be sponsored by two members in good standing who vouch for him or her.

Then he must undertake a course of study, which may require six months or perhaps a couple of years, to enable him to pass the examinations. The course includes a curriculum of the works of Marx and Lenin and other socialist philosophy with which the candidate must be familiar.

Must Be Active in Cause.

After he has mastered that he must prove to the committee passing on him that he is active in "the work." He must show that he is performing voluntary work, for which he is not paid, outside his working hours, in furthering the "cause" and leading others to espouse or at least support it. A good many reveal their fervor by denouncing "whites" and members of the former aristocracy or upper classes, hiding away in their squalid lodgings and clinging, perhaps, to a set of silver or a bit of jewelry, or scraping up funds for special masses in the Orthodox church.

When a man—or woman—joins the party, he pledges his entire life to work for the party; to obey any dictate or command, to proceed to whatever post, no matter how remote, he is assigned, to transfer his labors from whatever he is doing to any other job they may put him at. He undertakes to accept a maximum wage or salary of $150 a month, regardless of his independent earning power.

Americans Draw Higher Pay.

Many of the projects of the five year plan have communist engineers drawing $125 a month, working side by side with other Russian engineers not members of the party, and earning twice that amount, and with imported American and German specialists, earning perhaps four or five times that sum.

Only about 200,000 members of the communist party are—rather, were—peasants. The organization is extreme leary of loading up its ranks with tillers of the soil, and prefers to keep it exclusively to the proletariat, the factory worker, the inhabitant of the city.

Practically all of those who were accepted as members while they were "on the land" as peasants have since changed their vocation. Most of them did so immediately. A few are now the presidents of big collective farming communities, but practically none of the peasants in this enormous movement, which has absorbed about 30 per cent of the agricultural effort of the country, are communists.

Must Be Atheists.

Communists by the tenets of their beliefs in Marxism and Leninism must automatically be atheists, but generally there is no hard and fast rule on the subject, and members of the party may accompany devout wives to church occasionally on feast days. If a member gets in bad with the party for some reason, however, the fact that he has been seen entering a church or talking with a priest carries considerable weight against him.

There is some fat with the lean, however. A member of the party always gets lodgings where lodgings are available, and if he has a family he can get two or even three rooms, where his neighbors are crowded into one. He gets his food cards without difficulty and his cigaret ration, but he must not be addicted unduly to liquor. Applicants who are booze hounds are rejected, and if they start hitting up the vodka they are disciplined or fired out.

Key jobs, not necessarily the soft spots but the important posts, gravitate automatically to party people. Although they may be entirely lacking in special knowledge for the place, they are made heads of industrial operations, ranking above the skilled engineers and specialists. This permits the party to keep a grip on all its projects and to keep the nonmember employes lined up.

Graft a Capital Offense.

In case of inefficiency or sabotage or any of the other peculiar industrial crimes which are classed as counter-revolutionary the party members are punished just as inexorably as the rest. Grafting is a capital offense in soviet Russia and many party members have been tried and executed or sentenced to long prison terms for dishonesty.

The powers that be show no desire to increase the membership in the party and there has been no letdown in the requirements exacted of every applicant. In the years succeeding the revolution it was believed that the leaders would start a drive to enroll the nation, or certainly the industrial workers solidly in their ranks, but this has failed to materialize.

The big shots in the Kremlin believe that a tight, powerful, cohesive organization of a million and a half is a far greater lever on the colossal population of the vast country than a huge membership of a majority of the twenty million or so urban workers. A smaller pork barrel suffices for the existing number, and with a selected list it is easier to hand out the plums to the faithful.

Two Rivals for Queen's Crown

BERRIEN SPRINGS AND NEW BUFFALO SELECT 'QUEENS'

Ninth in Family Winner in One Contest.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Berrien Springs, Mich., March 22.—[Special.]—La Verne Stemm happened along ninth in a family of ten children, so she knows all about seniority rights. Now she's due to learn about beauty's privileges, for she was named last night as "Miss Berrien Springs" in the current contest for blossom queen of southwestern Michigan. The annual fruit belt fête will be staged the week of May 4 to 10 at St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

Lined up with La Verne in the finals to be held April 1 at Benton Harbor, when one of the princesses will be accorded the carnival crown, will be Inez Bancroft, chosen at the same time to represent the neighboring town of New Buffalo. Inez defeated six attractive rivals in her home town, while La Verne won over five other girls at Berrien Springs.

Can't Dance, But How She Can Ski!

It was something of a shock to the crowd attending a hop following the judging, in honor of "Miss Berrien Springs," that the belle of the ball does not dance—but how that girl can ski. La Verne is small and lithe, standing 5 feet 4 and weighing 115 pounds, and is outstanding in an area where winter sports flourish.

Her silky brown hair, serious blue eyes, and white teeth prejudiced the judges in her favor as against five other entrants. For a while, however, her chances were seriously menaced by the appealing charms of Helen Hamilton, the runnerup, who is 18 years old, just 5 feet high, and hefts no more than 98 pounds. Helen is a high school senior of the identical type as La Verne, with blue eyes and light brown hair, but with a short bob.

Blonde Wins at New Buffalo.

Inez Bancroft was one of six blonde girls and one brunette competing at New Buffalo. She is the only girl in a family of four, the daughter of William Bancroft, a garage proprietor.

In an empire gown of French blue chiffon, with a narrow belt of salmon pink velvet ribbon and moire slippers of the same pink shade, Inez took her bows and the armful of pink roses presented to the winner. She is a fine skinned, delicately colored beauty, with golden bobbed hair and azure eyes.

Eleanor Krkavec, 18 years old, who was born in Chicago but moved to New Buffalo ten years ago, was a strong contender for the title and a popular second choice.

Dies in Six Story Plunge After Dice Game; Six Held

Birmingham, Ala., March 22.—(AP)—An unidentified man was killed today in a plunge from a sixth floor window of a hotel to the roof of an arcade after a dice game in the hotel room. Persons occupying adjoining rooms told police they heard sounds of a disturbance and a man's cry, "Don't throw me out the window!" a moment before the man was killed. City detectives arrested five men and a woman.

19 SEIZED IN RAID ON FLAT.

Nineteen persons were arrested in a raid on a beer flat at 3252 Wallace street yesterday by Sergt. Richard Piper and a squad of Deering police. Six of those arrested were girls under 21. Joseph Matunas, 25 years old, 3330 South Halsted street, was booked as keeper.

WOMAN SLAIN BY SPURNED SUITOR WHO KILLS SELF

South Bend, Ind., March 22.—[Special.]—An unsuccessful love affair terminated in a double killing here today, with Julius von Holshek, 64, a farmer of Ardmore Heights, and Mrs. Helen Sanders, 54, as the victims. She was his former housekeeper.

Their bodies were found by police in Mrs. Sanders' home. She had been shot five times, and Von Holsheck once. Investigation by Coroner B. J. Bolka indicated that Von Holsheck, who had been courting the woman, had murdered her and then committed suicide. Von Holsheck left an explanatory note, the contents of which were kept secret.

It is believed he had asked Mrs. Sanders to wed him and, on her refusal, killed her.

DANDRUFF
Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

ADMIRAL RANKS AS MUSSOLINI'S RIGHT HAND MAN

Then Comes Italo Balbo, Italy's Air Hero.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Italy, March 22.—How does a dictatorship work? Dictatorily, of course, but with this difference: There are men behind the dictator, men of whom one seldom hears, but nevertheless men who determine largely the kind of shadow which the willful personality of the dictattor casts across the political life of his country.

In Italy Benito Mussolini stands above all others. He is secretive, solitary, he makes no confidences even to his brother, Arnaldo, who runs the Mussolini paper in Milan. He keeps aloof from the social life of his ministers; there are no dinner parties in the Villa Torlonia, and it was somewhat of an event when Il Duce was announced as among those present when the British minister gave a banquet for Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, on the recent visit of the London ministers.

Any study of the art of dictatorship as practiced by Mussolini would begin with this point of solitariness and secrecy and . . . his card indexing of his men, the minds behind the dictatorial throne, so to speak; the minds which adumbrate the dictator.

Three Groups of Men.

These can be placed into about three categories: First, the group of men who are Mussolini's immediate counselors and helpers, with a sub group of men whose political work is appreciated but whose chances to rise to the rank of immediate counselors are questionable; second, a group of men who have Il Duce's confidence for their work in some particular field, and third, those men who have been leading figures in previous years of the Fascist régime but whose influence on political affairs today is either on the wane or vanished altogether.

Costanzo Ciano, minister of communications, an admiral, hero of the war in the Adriatic, father-in-law of Mussolini's daughter, known as the greatest organizer in Italy, as witnessed by his reorganization of sea and land transport, is certainly the outstanding figure of the day in Italy apart from the premier. Il Duce has had Ciano in power since the beginning of the Fascist régime, and he is the only man who has been consistently charged with the highest responsibilities.

Gen. Italo Balbo, air hero and 35 year old newspaper man, risen to a high point in popular esteem through his exploits as chief of the air force, ranks close to Ciano in the estimation of his chief. These two men, in case of accident or inability of Mussolini to carry on would likely assume power.

Hero of Trieste Ranks Third.

Third in importance comes Giovanni Guirati, the hero of Trieste, former minister of public works, then president of the chamber of deputies and secretary of the Fascist party.

Gen. De Bono, war hero, former head of the militia, former governor of Lybia, and now minister of colonies, still maintains his prestige as one of Mussolini's best men, which he acquired at the time of the march on Rome.

In the second category comes a man hardly ever heard of, even in Italy. He is silent, hard working, faithful Alessadro Chiavolino, the duce's private secretary. He decides who can see his master and who cannot. He reads all the correspondence and sends replies if it is unworthy of Mussolini's attention. In his way he is the most powerful man in Italy after il duce.

"Boy Minister" Listed

After Chiavolino comes young Guiseppe Bottai, the boyish minister of corporations. He ranks with older men like Senator Gentile, the philosopher and theorist of the Fascist régime, and de Stefani, former minister of finance, under whose ministry the most audacious reforms were planned. He is the youngest of the cabinet.

The third category includes men who were former prominent figures in Fascism but who have since been retired. Among these would first come Roberto Farinacci, the fiery secretary of the party at the time of the Matteoti murder.

Federzoni, president of the senate, is another personality who cuts a figure in the duce's council. He is one of the founders of the old nationalist party and a friend of the king.

Last, but not least, is Margherita Sarfatti, a handsome woman, art critic and writer, whose friendship with il duce began when he was merely editor of the paper in Milan. She is author of Mussolini's biography.

ALL GERMANY MOURNS 'THEFT' OF UPPER SILESIA

'Our Protest Stands,' Cries Chancellor Bruening.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 22.—Impressive ceremonies were held throughout Germany today in commemoration of the day, ten years ago, when the people of Upper Silesia cast their votes in a plebiscite to determine which nationality they would choose—German or Polish—in fulfillment of the provisions of the Versailles treaty. Since then Germany has bitterly felt that, though three-fifths of the population voted for her, the allies disregarded the plebiscite and gave the bulk of the country and its vast industrial wealth to Poland.

For half an hour church bells tolled as memorial services were held at several points along the German-Polish frontier. School children started their ceremonies on Friday, when 10,000 of them gathered in Beuthen for memorial exercises. Their songs and the speeches of their elders were broadcast to all the schools in Germany which can boast of a radio.

Today Chancellor Bruening and the Prussian home minister, Dr. Carl Severing, spoke at Beuthen, while Gen. Hoefer, former chief of the Upper Silesian self-defense corps, spoke at Ratibor, which is close to the Czecho-Slovakian border.

Bruening Addresses 50,000.

Dr. Bruening first visited Annaberg, where he placed wreaths on the graves of 21 fallen members of the Upper Silesian defense force. He then proceeded to Beuthen, where he attended the dedication of a memorial hall to 200, including members of the Italian occupation troops who fell fighting the Polish insurgents, who terrorized the population on the eve of the plebiscite.

Addressing an audience of 50,000, the chancellor spoke of the injustice of the partition, whereby one-third of Germany's most valuable territory and close to 1,000,000 inhabitants had been torn from the fatherland. The chancellor said the German people had expected that after their victory in the plebiscite the whole of Upper Silesia would remain a part of Germany. He said:

Germany Still Protests.

"The allied supreme council rejected Germany's appeal, but Chancellor Joseph Karl Wirth in meeting the reich council on Nov. 7, 1921, declared Germany's protest and demand for justice should not be swept out of existence.

"The position today is unchanged," he concluded. "The Upper Silesian population can rest assured that they can rely on the help of the entire reich."

President Paul von Hindenburg sent messages to Upper Silesia, proclaiming the thanks of the German people to those who ten years ago had "proved loyal and true in days of bitterest distress."

430 Prizes, Totaling		$5,000.00

4. This offer is open to everyone—man, woman, boys and girls—except employees of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

5. Tune Tangle Crosswords are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do NOT send in each puzzle separately. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Tune Tangles," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight, 15 days after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

6. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Letters with insufficient postage will be returned by the Postoffice Department. Contestants may submit as many sets of puzzles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

7. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be consulted at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

8. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

A Pre-view by Fanny Butcher

THERE is a sudden and devastating cult for a book called "1066 and All That" by W. C. Sellar and R. J. Yeatman [Dutton]. It is, may we say, an infection from overseas. The contents of the volume appeared in England. Over 45,000 copies were sold there before Noel Coward brought it to America and shared it with enough kindred spirits to start, before its appearance on our own bookstands, a clique such as rarely had been of late. It now appears in an American edition and, bulwarked with such phrases as:

"I consider '1066 and All That' one of the most enchantingly funny books I have ever read," from Noel Coward.

"Possibly the best thing of its kind ever done" from Gerald Gould in the London Observer.

Thus it makes its glamorous way among a people who think the English kind of humor, like English accent, is something slightly unpatriotic.

"1066 and All That" is the same sort of book as "Boners," published a few weeks ago here. "Boners" was a collection of actual mistakes by schoolboys. It contained, we were forced to admit, a good many mistakes that sounded synthetic. "1066 and All That" is all synthetic. It is a history of England with every possible mistake made in it, and besides a subtle reconstruction that is, provided you know the right answers, devastatingly funny. To the person who doesn't, the book is flatter than a caterpillar that has lain unwittingly under a steam roller.

I have found, after a long life of close contact with those who call themselves sophisticates, that jokes—over the heads of most people—are the most cherished.

The pettiest puns are those which only the seventh son of a seventh daughter are in on. "1066 and All That" has the disarming quality of being funny not only to the insiders, but to anybody who ever had a look at English history. It might be a close section of the amount and type of English history that resides in the under layers of the minds of most of us.

The idea of the book is howlingly funny. Phrases here and there make even the solemn guffaw. Such as for instance:

"Whenever he [Richard I.] returned to England he always set out again immediately for the Mediterranean and was therefore known as Richard Gare de Lyon."

"Among his [Robin Hood's] Merrie Men in Greenwood forest near Sherborne were Will Scarlet, Black Beauty, Viola Melville, Little Red Hiding Hood, and the famous Friar Puck, who used to sit in a cowslip and suck bees, thus becoming so fat that he declared he could put his girdle round the earth."

"During this reign the hundred years' war was brought to an end by Joan of Arc, a French descendant of Noah, who, after hearing angel voices singing do re mi, became inspired."

"The brilliant theory of Mr. Darwin was propounded in his memorable works, 'Tails of a Grandfather,' 'The Manx Man,' 'Our Mutual Friends,' etc. This was known as Elocution or the Origin of Speeches."

How mad foolery it is, and if you're in that mood, heigh ho for "1066 and All That." It gets its title, by the way, from one of the two dates in it. Every English schoolboy knows the date of the battle of Hastings the way we all know 1620, the date of the landing of the Pilgrim's chorus, as the authors of this book would say.

Another funny book published today is "The Timid Soul," a volume of cartoons by Webster with a gentleman named Caspar Milquetoast as the leading figure. He lives up to the title of his pictorial biography on every page. Basil Lardner has written an introduction to the volume which has nothing whatever to do with the book and scarcely mentions the artist-author, except to say that he was born in Hospital, Mich., but which tells much about the author of the introduction. He submits that his [Ring's] wife must have been a timid soul herself not to be able to say no."

Biography of Gen. Sibert Story of Great Engineer

"William L. Sibert," by Edward B. Clark [Derrance] is the biography of a great army engineer, considered by Mr. Clark perhaps the world's greatest engineer. He built the great Atlantic locks of the Panama canal, created the Gatun lake and built the Gatun dam.

He was chief of the chemical warfare service during the war. It was due to his initiative that the nine foot channel of the Ohio river was planned and carried to completion. He reorganized entirely the harbor and seaport facilities of Mobile, Ala. His last public duty was as chairman of the commission appointed by President Coolidge to study and to report on the Muscle Shoals proposition.

The book is not only the record of his public achievements, but a tribute to Gen. Sibert as a man.

Good morning!

Now here's an operetta composed for the screen—not a stage production rehashed for shadow purposes! Sigmund Romberg and Oscar Hammerstein II. are responsible. And they get a hand from THIS interested party! "Viennese Nights" is charming.

I won't say that you'll find anything very new in the plot; but I will assure you that in this show are delectable music, stunning stagings, and costumes, laughter, pathos, and, yes—quite a bit of suspense. The film is all in Technicolor and, while pretty long, manages to hang right onto your interest.

The trend is toward sentimentality rather than jazz. It will go straight to the heart of mother and grandmother and I feel that today's dancing daughters are, too, going to like it a lot.

The cast is peopled with delightful folks—and how Vivienne Segal and Alexander Gray CAN sing! So can and does Walter Pidgeon, too, and he's stunning in his uniform of the Imperial guard. [I think that's what it is.] Jean Hersholt, Louise Fazenda, Alice Day, and Bert Roach all creditably uphold the standard of good acting.

Unless I'm mistaken you'll all come away humming "In Vienna," "We Make a Happy Pair" or one of several other tunes that will linger with you for a long, long time.

If you think you hear somebody calling you as you cross State street at Madison, you'll be right.

Cast your eyes S. S. W. and you will see that the voice belongs to a prepossessing youth with leather lungs and a pretty uniform, who is urging you to invest in a seat in the Castle and a good look at "Drums of Jeopardy."

Now "Drums of Jeopardy" is a melodrama which features Warner Oland in a sort of Fu Manchu rôle—though this time he's Russian instead of Chinese. It's a thriller from which the censors have carefully deleted most of the thrill. In the most exciting places lips move—but from them issues no sound. Which greatly disturbs the film's continuity and keeps the observer considerably in the dark as to whyforea.

This isn't an African jungle picture—as the title would lead you to think. No. These "drums" are Russian jewels and the film deals with the activities of a Russian, Dr. Karlov, who seeks vengeance on the males of a one time royal family—one of which has caused the death of his beloved daughter.

Acting, directing, plot, and sound—what there is of the last—are all right.

SPANISH KING, QUEEN WILL ANOINT FEET OF 24 SELECTED BEGGARS

MADRID, March 23.—(AP)—Two dozen beggars, many of them blind, were selected today for the annual ceremony in which the king and queen, aided by Spain's grandees, humbly anoint their feet.

Bishop Sion, chief chaplain at the palace, selected 12 men and 12 women from several hundred candidates for the ceremony which will take place in the palace on Holy Thursday, April 2.

King Alfonso and Queen Victoria will be seated on their thrones when the unfortunates are brought before them. Their majesties will then descend and anoint the feet of their poor subjects. Each supplicant will also receive a basket of food and new clothes.

Is Your Child Shy at Parties? Maybe He Has Good Reason

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

There was one kind of shyness that we did not include in yesterday's article. And that was the kind described in this letter.

"I have a dear little boy of 5 who has an alert mind and exceptional memory, but he is shy and retiring when it comes to meeting new people and going new places. He was invited to a little friend's birthday party last Saturday and he was happy and excited when buying the birthday gift.

"I took him to the hame where the party was to be. I had explained to him before I went that it would be impossible for me to stay with him and thought nothing more of it. But after I had left him at the party in high spirits and was about half a block away I turned to find him running and crying after me."

Little children's reluctance to go to parties and to stay alone at them causes a great deal of distress to everybody concerned. And so often young and inexperienced mothers can't understand it—or grow impatient with it.

Look at it from the child's standpoint and it will not seem so strange. Small children's parties are usually to the child a blur of noise—excitement—confusion—strange adults and carefully planned, sometimes strange contests, or games. In these games or contests one child wins a prize which means to the other little boys and girls that they have failed with consequent heart burning. It is not to be wondered at that many children feel adrift on a strange sea when their mothers leave them at a party.

The sensitive, rather emotional child is apt to feel particularly so, and if he is too wretched at these real parties it would be well to postpone them a little. The same child will usually be happy at a little casual gathering which is not called a party.

In fact, I've a sneakin' theory, from personal experience, that the ones who have the best time at little children's parties are usually the grownups, who love the preparation, decoration, sociability and festivity of it all. As far as the small sons and daughters themselves are concerned, I think the real parties might well be omitted without their ever missing them.

Small intimate groups of children, informally given a simple treat, provide more real pleasure for young children—and sometimes for older ones, too—than the deliberate invitation affair.

'VIVE CHARLOT!' YELLS PARIS; CROWDS MEET PET MOVIE COMEDIAN

PARIS, March 22.—(AP)—Charlie Chaplin received another ovation when he arrived here today from Venice. A large crowd gathered at the railroad station and there were shouts of "Long live Charlot!" as the little film star smiled and bowed his way to his automobile.

Chaplin went immediately from the station to the Hotel Crillon, where he is staying.

The picturesque little English comedian, whose unique shoes and derby are as well known in France as in America, arrived here at 2:24. He plans to remain here several days.

The only engagement the actor has accepted so far is a luncheon tomorrow at the Quai d'Orsay with Foreign Minister Aristide Briand.

For an hour before Chaplin arrived the enormous crowd thronged the station, taxing the efforts of police to hold them in check. A near riot ensued when the train arrived and the smiling comedian appeared on the platform and waived his derby to his admirers familiarly.

South Africa Is Seeking Tighter Curb on Movies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, March 22.—Agitations by the church and by the public against the showing of films calculated to injure public morals and the recent prosecutions against certain movie proprietors for displaying doubtful posters add interest to a bill to be introduced in parliament shortly by Doctor D. F. Malan, minister of the interior.

The bill covers a wide field, the "prohibitions" suggested numbering about 20. The bill proposes a new national board of censors that would not approve any film, in its opinion, prejudicial to the safety of the state, calculated to disturb peace or good order, or is offensive to decency.

Then "in particular" the board would be given additional prohibitory grounds for rejecting a film which depicts:

Improper impersonation of the king.
Scenes holding up to ridicule or contempt any member of the king's military or naval forces.
Irreverent treatment of death.
Nude human figures.
Excessively passionate love scenes.
The bill also would bar scenes:
Purporting to illustrate "night life."
Containing reference to controversial or international politics.
Representing antagonistic relations of capital and labor.
Tending to disparage public characters.
Tending to create public alarm.
Vampire women; the drug habit; white slave traffic.
Juvenile crime and, in the case of older persons, scenes of the technique of crime and of excessive criminality.
Excessive and brutal fighting.
Pugilistic encounters between Europeans and non-Europeans.

Exhibits are held throughout the day and a program of entertainment continues through afternoon and evening.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, March 22.—Thousands of children born in the tropics virtually are starving to death in the midst of plenty because the available diet lacks nutritive elements. In the interior towns and villages the natives confine themselves to an unvaried diet of plantains, bananas, rice, or other plant foods.

DR. EDWIN O. JORDAN.

Dr. Edwin O. Jordan, head of the department of hygiene and bacteriology at the University of Chicago, now in Panama doing research work at the Gorgas Memorial hospital, has confirmed these conclusions, arrived at when he was in Porto Rico at the School of Tropical Medicine.

Dr. Jordan is investigating the health of native groups here and is seeking the cause of intestinal disorders suffered by tropical people.

Examination of Canal Zone and Panama City residents revealed that they are comparatively free from the bacteria being sought, and in consequence the field work has taken him to the interior jungles and the remoter towns and villages of the republic.

U. C. Adds Parieasaur Skeleton to Collection; 100 Million Yrs. Old

The skeleton of the parieasaur, recently discovered by a University of Chicago expedition to Africa, was placed on exhibition at the university yesterday. The specimen, estimated to be 100,000,000 years old, is the first of its kind to be mounted in this country and the fourth of its kind found.

The Chicago fossil is the only complete specimen known. It was found near the Hottentote river, Africa, by Prof. Alfred Romer and Paul C. Miller, curators of Walker museum at the university.

"Despite its highbrow appearance, the parieasaur probably was a very stupid and sluggish beast; its brain case is extremely small in proportion to its weight," Dr. Romer said. "The position in which it was found suggests that it wandered too far into the mud and quicksand and was unable to extricate itself."

Thousands at Flower Show; Prizes Awarded

Rockford Garden Club Gets Medal.

First announcement was made yesterday of some of the awards in the fifth annual flower show which opened Saturday at the Merchandise Mart under the auspices of the aGrden Club of Illinois. The awards were told while thousands of visitors from Chicagoland and even a special trainload of flower admirers from Indianapolis were passing through the two acres of exhibits.

Results in only one class were announced, as the judges reported close competition in other classes would delay placings until late today. In the gold medal class for large gardens exhibited by some of the 102 clubs affiliated in the exposition, the Rockford club members placed first.

Their garden, 20x20 feet, depicts an English terrace and is set off by an iron fence taken from the roof of a home in Rockford and which the garden club members report is 150 years old and hand wrought.

Second prize was given the Freeport entry—a Japanese iris garden. Flossmoor was third with an April garden containing violets, primulas, grape hyacinths, polemoniums, and daffodils. Special mention was given Beverly Hills, Glen Ellyn, Wilmette, Oak Park, and River Forest gardens, and special premiums were given to Warren and Arcadia terrace entries. The show closes Friday night.

Large groups evinced special interest in four large displays made up of flowers from the conservatories of North Shore estates. One of these is a 40x20 foot display of blossoms from the estate of Mrs. Ogden Armour, Lake Forest. Another is also from Lake Forest, from the conservatory of James Norris.

Two other exhibits in this group are made up of selections from the estates of Stanley Field, De Forest Hulburd, F. P. Hixon, Cyrus McCormick, Lester Armour, Robert McGann, James Simpson, Warren Wright, Julius Rosenwald, Felix Lowry, G. L. Price, H. L. Hoover, Philip D. Armour, Watson Armour, Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Harry B. Clow, Albert B. Dick, Robert J. Thorne, Clayton Mark, R. H. McElwee, John T. Pirie, Charles H. Schweppe, Louis F. Swift, Mrs. John R. Thompson, William V. Kelley, Theodore W. Robinson, and B. A. Eckhart.

THE STAGE

"LADY IN PAWN."

THE CAST.

Elwin Israel	Guy Bates Post
Gordon Vandall	William H. Sams
Theodore Rayner	Ian Emery
Harland Scald	Lee C. Millar
Fairchild	Plumpton Wilson
Lenaya Rayner	Lilian Kemble Cooper
Louaine	Esther Mitchell

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

GUY BATES POST, a familiar star in the theatrical firmament ten years ago and more, returned to active service in the drama last night at the Apollo, where Ralph T. Kettering, Chicago impresario and playwright, staged "Lady in Pawn." Mr. Kettering assumed the financial risks of producing the play and also one-half of the burden of authorship. Which is more than A. H. Woods or Gilbert Miller or Lee Shubert or any of the other Broadway executives of the theater can say for themselves. The recrudescence of Mr. Post was therefore complicated with symptoms of a Kettering night and portents of a Chicago renaissance in building better plays for bigger audiences.

"Lady in Pawn" comes under the classification of polite melodrama. It is, perhaps, too polite, because in some of the stretches of its suave, well phrased conversation I yearned for gunshots, hues and cries after the villain, and the piercing screams of a heroine defending her immaculate honor. A shock and a thrill are needed somewhere in the texture of "Lady in Pawn." Mr. Kettering and his collaborator, Mr. Rosendale, doubtless wanted to weave something of this kind into their plot; but they were prevented by their thesis. The villain is also their hero, and he is a perfect gentleman after his fashion, incapable of laying a shameless hand upon a lady except to drape a pearl necklace around her throat.

The story deals with a modern Shylock who swanks among the surf board riders and sun tanned heiresses of Florida's Côte d'Or. He is more ambitious than his Venetian prototype—he wants not merely one pound of flesh, but 130. He wants his carnal collateral, not sliced from the place nearest the heart, but tenderly and smoothly intact, fashionably swathed in silks and seductively abloom with talcum. He wants his neighbor's wife, pledged to cover a loan.

This elaborate fellow, known as "Twenty Per Cent" among his friends, has a mania for fantastic forms of usury. So when he is asked to gamble $100,000 on a chain of shoe-shining palaces, he says: "Certainly—if I get your wife when you default."

He had loved the girl, you see, for years; had been betrothed to her, and had been jilted in favor of a younger and a poorer man. He had a grievance against the husband and a reasonable excuse for framing a subtle scheme to regain the girl of his oriental dreams. A part of the bargain is that he shall hold her in escrow, as a guest in his elegant villa, while the husband is in New York attempting to transform shoe shining from a servile trade into a fine art.

This "escrow" business, with the pawned lady lounging around the house in beach pajamas, might have developed into something hectic and sensational if the modern Shylock [his name is Elwyn Israel] hadn't come out of Bulwer-Lytton instead of life. He is so great a gentleman that the world will never be able to live up to him.

All that he does with his enticing piece of collateral is to try to poison her character with luxurious living. There was one moon-smitten night when he became reckless and pressed a light kiss upon her unresisting lips; but that didn't count. They both agreed immediately that it was a mistake, and their remorse was admirable.

Does he come into complete legal possession of his lady in pawn? Well, go find out for yourselves. At any rate, he won his bet against the shoe shining business.

Mr. Post plays this curious rôle with the monocle and subtle manners of Disraeli and the sly, sinister softness of Walker Whiteside acting a swell Chinese poisoner. This is melodrama pianissimo. Lillian Kemble Cooper has the patrician style that the play attributes to her part, and the others are effective, especially William H. Sams as old Twenty Per Cent's lawyer.

Except for the shoe shining enterprise "Lady in Pawn" goes in for high life with rapturous gestures. The allusions to aristocratic haunts and habits in the dialogue are so numerous that if Messrs. Rosendale and Kettering hadn't signed the manuscript I would have attributed it to Zoe Akins.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Pope Will Live Outside Vatican This Summer

Refits Villa 15 Miles from Rome.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 22.—Pope Pius XI will set a precedent about mid-July this year when he moves from Vatican City to establish his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, overlooking Lake Albano in the Alban hills, fifteen miles from Rome.

He will be the first pontiff to have lived outside the Vatican since 1870. Rome is excessively hot in the summer. For some years the pope has been urged to live during the summer months in the cooler residence belonging to the church outside Rome. He suffers much from heat. But until the Lateran pact and, in fact, until now he was unwilling to break a precedent.

After a lapse of sixty years a pope will occupy the papal villa of Castel Gandolfo. It's overlooked by the penacle of Rocca di Papa. The villa faces the valley of the Tiber.

The Swiss guards will be stationed before all the entrances of the villa and the Roman nobility attached to the papal court will display their gorgeous uniforms.

For some time the Castel Gandolfo and its grounds have been undergoing renovation and repairs. It had been allowed to fall into decay through almost complete abandonment. It is being restored to its original architectural beauty. The apartments being prepared there for the pope are replicas of the ones he occupies in the Vatican.

Preacher Fears War Will End Churches; Cites Student Unrest

Religious forces must mobilize to kill the germ of war, or war will kill Christianity. Such is the belief of Dr. Fred B. Smith of New York, moderator of the National Council of the Congregational Church. He spoke last night before the Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall.

"Education is the only thing on which every one is agreed. Fathers, mothers, sons, and daughters are all in accord that it is necessary to go to school," he said. "College students are leading revolution and upsetting the world. Mentally we are all confused."

Dr. Smith declared present conditions of international unrest, strife and jealousy must be faced without delay. Differences of opinion about any of the problems, he said, is not dangerous, but an indication of growth and progress. The main dangers when differences of opinion are faced, he argued, is in the prevailing philosophy that they must be settled, ultimately, by force.

"Always in the past when suspicions and hatreds have reached a certain heat, education, religion and conciliation have failed," said Dr. Smith. "War became the final method of settlement."

The Congregational leader said he was unable to point to real progress toward peace since what he called "the debacle of 1914-'18." He declared the advance made by the Hague tribunal, league of nations, Locarno treaty, the Kellogg peace pacts, and reduction of armaments is offset by failures in other directions.

Northwestern's Musical Show Starts Tomorrow

Northwestern university's annual WAA-Mu show, a musical comedy production under the auspices of the Women's Athletic association and Men's union, will open Tuesday evening at the New Evanston theater. This year's show, "Many Thanks," will be played in Evanston four days and have its final appearance at the Civic theater Saturday. "Many Thanks" was written by Trevor Bardette, a senior in the school of speech. It is directed by Joe Miller, director of last year's show.

Architects' Frat to Honor Official of World's Fair

Clarence W. Farrier, assistant director of works of the Century of Progress exposition, will be the guest of honor at the monthly dinner of the Chicago alumni chapter of Alpha Rho Chi, architectural fraternity, at the Architects' club this evening. Mr. Farrier will speak on the architectural developments being represented in the 1933 World's Fair buildings.

Lent Day by Day

LOVE IS COSTLY.

Dr. Ernest Bourner Allen.
[Pilgrim Congregational church, Oak Park.]

"By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples if ye have love one another." John xiii, 35.

The more one sees of life, the more he knows that "folks need a lot of loving." Most of us like to be loved, but we are not so keen on loving others.

All of us are in debt to those who loved us. They have inspired us in our work and helped us do our best. The only way we can pay our debt is to love others and thus inspire and encourage them, as we ourselves have been cheered.

Loving others is costly work. It takes our lives. It compels sacrifice. It demands patience. It cannot be done in a minute—or a year! But it pays the dividends of greatest value.

Only love can make a home. It cannot be done with automobiles and houses, fame or wealth. Only love can keep life true, pure, brave and strong!

PRAYER:

Gracious God, our loving Father, help us to live lovingly every day. As love has changed and strengthened our lives, so may our love help and bless others.

Willing Shoulders Are Inevitably Given Big Loads

BY DORIS BLAKE.

There's nothing like the willing horse to have the heavy burden put upon him (or her). Did you ever see it to fail in a family of any size that the shoulders of one are looked to to carry the heaviest load? And generally with none too much thanks from the rest of the group? It would seem about time for these "put-upon" family members to form a union or go on strike and give the other members a chance to contribute their share.

There comes another tale this morning of the too-willing responsibility taker. He, the youngest son of a family of seven, now 31, has been married only a year and a half. In addition to having been the main support of his mother all along, a father who had absented himself from his family for nineteen years returned broke, five months ago, and settled down upon this son's hearthside, to the chagrin of the bride of a year and a half.

The mother is by way of being a finished grafter, too. She flits about from one of her other children to another, but the youngest son is the one she looks to for spending money. There are always excuses why the other children cannot afford to help her! With her and the recently returned father on the outs still—she cautions her other children not to go near him, telling them he doesn't deserve to have any of them friendly with him.

Well, the son probably will get his reward in heaven. In the meantime daughter-in-law can't quite see where she gets off in this financial drain to which her husband is subjected. Neither can she see the fairness of doing mother's job of sewing and mending and washing for the old man. And it does look from here as if she were asked to perform a pretty trying rôle in a domestic play.

But what she's going to do about it is something else again. You can't change the character of sons like that, unless you're a most awfully forceful wife, which isn't indicated in this one's doing the sewing, mending and washing jobs for the old gentleman, even though complainingly. In every responsibility the son assumes, he sees a plain duty to be performed, right or wrong, according to the code of others. Calling a meeting of the family group with an appeal to their better natures to share the parental responsibility might have some effect. Anyway, it's the only thing I can see that can be done.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Affair's at a Standstill.

"Dear Miss Blake: My friend owes me an apology and refuses to make it. But I like him. What shall I do? MINNIE."

There isn't a thing to do until he comes forth like a gentleman and admits he was in the wrong.

Suitor's Complaint.

"Dear Miss Blake: The girl I like doesn't care for me. All she does is to take presents from me and make a fool out of me. B. M."

You don't deserve any sympathy. Get wise to yourself and find a girl who will welcome your attentions.

Blondes Were Preferred Back in Roman Days

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I had occasion recently to do some research work on the history of hair throughout the centuries, and while it wasn't the exact discovery I was on the trail of, I did find that this much advertised and quoted male preference for blondes is an old and deep rooted instinct, apparently.

But for the consolation (catty) of the rest of us who have looked at our fair rivals with the prestige of plenty of advertising, there is this fact, supported by historical record: The blonde 'uns flourished oftener in bygone eras in the courtesan class than among the sedate and respectable. Noticeably in the Roman and Grecian periods—when the ladies that "the Greeks had a word for" were getting in their best blonde dirty work—were the fair ones favored for gay life partnership.

Not that that, in the life of current estimation, is any slam at the blonde darlings as they wreak their devastating charms in our particular era. In fact, we have no line of demarcation today in dress or in hair coloring to set any group apart as respectable or non.

The secluded matrons of Athenian life may have looked askance at the preferred blondes of their day—but such are the revolutions of women and history that our present day matrons would be more apt to look 'em over, study their style—and imitate them. I'm told this on the good authority of a two and a half million dollar annual business, which is being done by one blonde coloring product whose name you mightn't be any more familiar with than was I on hearing it, as it's advertising is being done in a quiet way. But it gives an idea of "blonde" influence.

Anyway, the blonde preference keeps on giving rise to the question of why do men fall for them? Some men will say it's a myth—brunettes only for them. Others will suggest that it is a hangover from nursery pictures of the good and rich and beautiful golden haired princess of fairy tales. Perhaps the last gent I asked came closer with his suggestion that it is the striking contrast with the male—the very feminine appearance of the blonde one as opposed to the rugged qualities of the male—that turns the trick. However, I'm not deciding. I just offer the above as a topic for argument with the boy friend whose expression of opinion may decide you to keep your nut brown or raven locks.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

SARAH B.: HAVE YOUR DRUGgist prepare this tonic for oily hair. The formula is: Resorcin, 40 grains; water, 1½ ounces; alcohol, 1½ ounces, and witch hazel, 1½ ounces. Rub it into the scalp at night. Oily hair should be washed every week at least.

R. E.: WRINKLES ABOUT THE eyes are often the result of lack of sleep and rest. Be sure to get eight hours' sleep each night. Massage the wrinkles with a good cold cream, commencing at the nose and working outward and upward.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

DROUGHT CHECKS BORER.

Corn growers in Illinois are starting out the 1931 crop year with "one eye on their fields and the other eye on the corn borer area which is but 15 miles east of the state line." So declare four men whose studies have indidated that drought of 1930 provided a substantial check to the corn pest.

"Corn Checks the Corn Borer Advance in 1930" is the title of a pamphlet that W. P. Flint, chief entomologist of the Illinois state natural history survey; W. P. Hayes, associate professor of entomology at the state university; G. H. Dungan, associate professor in crop production, and A. L. Young, associate in farm mechanics.

There is no question but that the insect will be found soon in Illinois, the strategists point out in spite of lack of advance of the borer last year. The closest approach to Illinois so far is said to be east of the state line along the edge of Will and Kankakee counties.

"Farmers in the eastern counties will be the first to feel the need of control measures," the men report. "If serious damage is to be avoided, it will be necessary to adopt rotation and farm practices that will permit the plowing under or burning of all cornstalks and weeds in and about the cornfields about the middle of May each year."

Infestation was kept down but yields were not increased in a three year test which the college and the natural history survey made near Toledo, O., to determine the merits of late plowing in corn borer control. In Illinois some of the advance defense work has consisted in the breeding of the natural parasitic enemies of the pest and the liberation of these at the rate of about 100,000 a month.

THE SIXTH JOURNEY

BY ALICE GRANT ROSMAN

SYNOPSIS.

John Falconer, a successful architect, returning home to England from Cape Town, meets Hilary Revel, author of travel books, on shipboard. During the journey home their acquaintance grows into a friendship neither wishes to end.

John tells Hilary of his daughter, Judith, born of a café singer while he was a soldier. His wife, John says, had magnanimously adopted the child. Hilary suspects such magnanimity. John's sister Gertrude became Judith's legal guardian when his wife died.

Hilary had taken her war invalided brother Hugh away from home ten years ago to give her young sister Christine and brother Stephen a better chance. Now that Hugh and dad Hilary was returning home. Her stepfather is the only sympathetic member of her family.

Shortly after their return John and Hilary become engaged.

Judith leads a lonely life in her aunt's home. Her cousin Prue is her only friend. He has a private teacher, Miss Mead, while her cousins are away at school. Her father she knows as Uncle John. She senses she is different in some way from other children. When Aunt Gertrude hears of her brother's engagement she sends Judith to the country. John is uneasy about Judith not being in school. He thinks it unfair to drag Hilary into the question of the child and Hilary feels that he has had enough management in worry for Judith. John writes Gertrude for the truth. She replies that she cannot, as a decent citizen, send a waif of dubious parentage among other children.

Judith, at the farm of her former nurse Tracy's brother, is badly treated by the old woman. She meets Clive Harpenden, the little master of the home where she delivers cream for Tracy. Judy, receiving no mail, writes secretly to Prue.

INSTALLMENT XXV.

A BUGBEAR.

There were guests at dinner that night and afterwards, when they had settled to bridge—her mother's mainstay—Hilary and Dr. Ferguson melted companionably away to the study.

"Are you quite determined not to let Christine go to Paris?" she asked as he lit his pipe.

"I knew they would enlist your aid to manage me," he said with a faint smile.

"Manage you?" Hilary cried in a tone of outrage. "Father, the word is a red rag to the bull in me; I shall never attempt to manage any one again as long as I live. I was just asking out of curiosity."

"Well, well, don't go to extremes and let any word become a red rag or a bugbear, or whatever you choose to call it, my dear," he said kindly. "As for that featherpated little rascal, she cannot paint and never has pretended that she could, and she is a good deal younger than she could bear us to know. To her innocent ears Paris sounds so deliciously fast, whereas you and I know the life she suggests to be sordid and silly unless a genuine talent drives one to it. I may not be able to prevent her being silly, but I am a conventional man and insular, no doubt. I feel we do it so much better in England."

Looking at him affectionately, she wondered what life had ever given him except his learning and his books. To the small world that cares for such things he was a distinguished man, but to his household merely a being who ruled by the giving or withholding of money. He must, she supposed, have loved her mother, who was attractive still; but to Hilary, seeing them almost with a stranger's eyes, they seemed hardly to share a common speech.

"Where is Falconer this evening?" inquired the old man. "I shall give him a medal for lending you to me for once; such altruism must be encouraged."

"He has gone down to see his sick partner, poor darling. There's a possibility he may have to go north for him, too, and be away for days."

"Dear me, that would be serious," said her stepfather with a chuckle. "You don't, I imagine, mean to go with him, though no doubt Christine would advise it?"

"I haven't been asked," she retorted, and then, "You know, father, him and I may be a pair of fools in love, but quite apart from that we are friends. . . . Oh, laugh if you like. I suppose you think it is an illusion, and every one believes that at the time."

"Illusions keep us alive, my dear. Without them we should perish of boredom or melancholy, according to our dispositions. I believe in marriage as in most adventures . . . it may be perilous, but crossing the road is fatal, and quite frankly, Hilary, I'm glad you're not going to miss the fun of it. I should still feel so even if I were not convinced of Falconer's being an exceptionally nice fellow, and the point is, this is your adventure. Keep that in mind when interfering friends and relatives come buzzing around you. It is the well meaning fools who make most of the shipwrecks in this world."

Hilary was reminded of Gertrude Livingstone and of the lovely Sylvia, her predecessor, and had an impulse to tell that story, but held back. It had been John's adventure, and interfering fools enough had had a finger in it. She would not be another of them.

Early next morning Hilary was called to the telephone, to find Prudence Livingstone at the other end.

"Third time I've called you," she announced. "You're always out when I ring up, so I thought I'd better catch you on the wing."

"I am rather busy and out a great deal," returned Hilary dryly.

"Yes, but look here, you must eat, mustn't you?" said Prudence. "What about lunch today. . . . I could run to one in Soho, not very grand, but not too dusty."

"I have an engagement for lunch."

"Oh, damn!"

Hilary suddenly smiled, for the offer of lunch in Soho had disarmed her. After all, Prudence was just a youngster, with very little pocket money, no doubt. Hilary could remember her own student days and in spite of John's arguments on the subject, she had an uneasy sense of having neglected Gervaise and her family. If Prudence had been primed by her mother to find out what was going on, it was just as well to know it.

"Wait," she said, "suppose you have tea with me at Rumpelmeyer's instead?"

"Oh, topping! I'll cut a lecture. What time? I'm generally hungriest about four," offered Prue.

"Very well, we'll make it four."

Over luncheon she reported the forthcoming meeting to John, quite prepared for his remonstrance.

"Why didn't you tell her to go to blazes," he said, frowning.

"Safety first," she declared gayly. "If I don't placate your family to some extent they may kidnap you beneath my eyes. I rather wonder Gervaise has not been in to ask you what we mean by neglecting her like this."

"Heaven forbid!" Falconer remembered his sister's letter and wished he had shown it to Hilary at the time. The very mention of Gertrude revived the question of Judith back to worry him, and Hilary was so understanding it would be a relief to talk it out. "I did have a letter the other day," he said, deciding to risk it and feeling in his pockets. Then in time he recalled the reference to Sylvia and saw his mistake. Gertrude was inordinately clever with her hints. What was it she had said? "I advise you to put Sylvia out of your mind and think of Hilary instead." No, damn her, she should not put that subtle insinuation before the girl he loved. "I must have destroyed it after all," he said. "She wrote a few nights after we were there."

"Not to applaud your choice in wives?"

"Well that may have been her intention. She did throw in a little advice about how to treat you."

"Good heavens! You won't take it, will you, John?" Hilary laughed. "I am rather a beast to dislike your sister, but somehow I hate these managing women. If you ever see any signs of it cropping up in me, just call in Gertrude and I shall be cured at once."

"That's an easy promise. And since I am to be managing director of this company, let me begin as I mean to go on. If that young hussy invites Prue to be a bridesmaid, tell her from me 'quaint fancies' should not be encouraged, and I won't have it. None of your softheartedness, now."

"I'll have a heart of flint," she assured him firmly.

When she reached Rumpelmeyer's at four, Prue was already waiting. Among her family, she looked younger and less assured. Her cropped head was hidden under a hat of fine straw, and with her navy suit she wore a cotton blouse. Jumping up as Hilary approached, she had the air of a schoolgirl, and the heart of her aunt elect, instead of remaining flint, turned to her slightly.

"You managed to get here in good time, then?"

"Cut two lectures," said Prudence tersely. "Went home to my diggings to change."

"Do you don't go home to Wandsworth every day? Living your own life, isn't that the right expression?"

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—The Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson are in Norfolk for the week-end, visiting Mrs. Stimson's brother, Mrs. James, wife of Col. Jules James. Col. James is stationed there. Mrs. James formerly was Miss Eleanor Rhodin of New York. Mrs. Stimson arrived there on Friday and the party went down by boat for golf at the Augusta Roads yesterday morning. They will return here by motor today.

Mrs. Max M. Ehlert, wife of the Chilean consul at Chicago, is visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. B. Alexander Singer in their apartment at the Shoreham. Mrs. Ehlert is better known as Fay Ehlert, novelist and playwright.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter, who has been in New Orleans the latter part of the winter, where Mr. Leiter had a house for the racing season, stopped here for a brief visit en route from Chicago to Aiken, S. C. There she has taken the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Huston Rawls, for the spring season.

Latest News on Battle of Backgammon

BY THALIA ——.

MORE reports on the backgammon situation! A student of things like that tells me that in the 17th century moralists became all excited and worried because backgammon was an obsession with the citizenry. In those days they were neglecting food and sleep to play it, and so maybe we're having another "history repeats itself" business.

Anyway, Ralph Bond is to be host at a backgammon party on a grand scale tomorrow evening. The affair is to be in the sky rooms at the Tavern, and there are fifty guests invited, all of them good players. The Tavern has a good supply of boards, but not enough to provide the party, and so Mr. Bond is having a lot of them sent up.

Two Memorials to Recall Kersey Coates Reed.

The weekly Lake Forester reports that Mrs. Walter S. Brewster has donated $1,000 to the Lake Forest public library to buy garden books. The gift is in memory of the late Kersey Coates Reed. The new public library building, into which the library is to be moved about April 15, is a memorial gift from Mrs. Reed and her sister, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe.

Another Kersey Coates Reed memorial is the Latin school's campus, also given by Mrs. Schweppe and Mrs. Reed, and bearing the name of Kersey Coates Reed campus. The field house and tennis courts will be ready for use this spring, and the athletic field, which takes longer to be gotten into adequate condition, will be ready for next football season.

Cyrena Van Gordon Plans Recital for Next Sunday.

Cyrena Van Gordon's friends have been after her for years to give a recital here and at last she's going to do it and so there will probably be a large turnout. She's to sing next Sunday afternoon at the Civic theater. She has been on a round of concert engagements since the opera season ended, and will leave here after her appearance for more singing in the east.

Add Lake Forest daughters home for their spring holiday: Elizabeth Bunting and Alma Louise and Mary Archer are here from the Holton Arms school in Washington, D. C. . . . Rosamond Baker, the E. L. Baker's daughter, Josephine Templeton, daughter of the Kenneth Templetons, and Nancy Morse have come on from Miss Master's at Dobbs Ferry. . . . Lucy Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carter Harrison Jr. also is here from Dobbs Ferry.

200 at Arts Club Hear Mischakoff and Copeland.

The Arts club, kind provider of diversion for Lenten Sunday evenings, was host last night to some 200 members and guests at a joint recital by George Copeland and Mischa Mischakoff. The program was preceded by an informal buffet supper served in the lounge from tables decorated with calla lilies and tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick had a party of eight guests, including Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Nevins Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve C. Badger, Edwin D. Krenn, and Augustus Peabody. Among others present were Mrs. De Forrest Hulburd, Mrs. Holbrook Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conrad, Miss Agnes Foreman, Mrs. Otis Glidden, Maj. and Mrs. Philip Kemp, Mrs. Edward Leight, and Mrs. Howard Ellis, who was recently hostess to the Thomas Wheelocks, William Welch, and Miss Mary Rind.

Some Future Events, Including Black Horse Troop Show.

Past and future notes—Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Thomas and Prosper Buranelli flew back to New York City yesterday after a week's stay in Chicago while Mr. Thomas filled some lecture engagements that he made before he began broadcasting for the Literary Digest at 7 o'clock each evening . . . among those who entertained for them while they were here were the Burt A. Massees, the Horatio B. Hacketts, and Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, who gave a dinner for them on Saturday evening . . . Miss Priscilla Carver of Highland Park, a freshman at Mount Holyoke college, was elected treasurer of the community government, an important extra-curricular position . . . there is to be an exhibition of riding the Black Horse troop some time in April or May . . . Mrs. Pat Campbell is to give her speech at the Skokie school in Winnetka next Friday evening.

EVANSTON GIRL ENGAGED

MISS HARRIET CUNNINGHAM.

[Telefi Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ellis Cunningham of 1583 Asbury avenue, Evanston, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Harriet, to William Lang Heiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Heiser of 612 Sheridan road, Evanston.

Linen Topcoat Is Trimmed with Velvet

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The first moment that weather permits there is going to be a fashion parade of linen crash and cotton costumes, and they will be as tailored and trim as anything made for men, but at the same time no feminine chic will be masculine. Details will announce them "for ladies only." Paris styles are forsaking the cloyingly feminine with its surfeit of fluffy ruffles in favor of this more modern and suitable femininity.

The white linen topcoat shown in our sketch indicates the kind of tailored coat that will be chic during the coming summer, and shows the uses to which linen and cotton will be put. This coat is being worn now along the Côte d'Azur and is one of the leading southern styles for warm daylight.

It is made of plaster white, heavy linen, and the black velvet collar and cuffs give it genuine distinction. The belt of black patent leather is also an important detail.

The cut of this coat is a version of the norfolk, with its deep shoulder yoke and the inverted plaits below at the sides of the front and back. There are huge patch pockets on the hips, which give it much style, and below them the skirt of the coat is flared by inverted plaits that are stitched part of the way so that the effect is tailored.

The shoes are white buckskin with patent leather toes and heels of black, and the tricorne hat is a supple black milan straw with a white velvet bow at the right side.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This smart all-occasion dress features the cowl draped bodice that is so generally becoming. The horizontal pin tucks that mark the normal waistline at the front are an interesting detail, and it is a dress that will be particularly pretty made of a printed silk crêpe in soft green tones. It will be equally pretty made of a plain silk crêpe in navy blue or the Algerian red shade. Gray is also an important spring color.

The pattern, 3014, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Rudolph Ganz Again Presents Debussy Works

BY EDWARD MOORE.

RUDOLPH GANZ, virtuoso and artist of the piano, revealed a bit of none too ancient history in his recital at the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon. He was about the first to bring to this community the news of a composer named Claude Debussy, and this was at a time when Debussy's music was far from being popular. But Debussy made his way into attention and Ganz is thereby entitled to the credit of a successful prophet.

So it was going back into the past when he put a Debussy group, twelve preludes, on his recital program. More to the purpose, he played them with the same enthusiasm that he used to when they were new, with the misty opalescence, the half concealed melody, the cloudy atmosphere that is Debussy. Before this group he played the Chopin Sonata in B Minor, in which he was a true virtuoso with imagination.

Another pianist next door at the Playhouse, Vitaly Schnee, put on a program with an unusual array of new numbers. Only one could be heard in a busy afternoon, but that was an interesting one, a sonata by the Russian composer Miaskowsky. It is constructed in great part on the melody "Dies Iræ," also found in his sixth symphony, but treated in a different way, and developed completely, logically, and continuously into a piece of much merit. Mr. Schnee is an enthusiast over music of this sort and plays with fire but also with understanding.

The Civic orchestra is larger in numbers and better in ability this year than it ever has been in its twelve seasons of existence. Conductor Eric DeLamarter took them through Deems Taylor's "Through the Looking Glass" suite yesterday afternoon, and they played it with clarity, color, and the pace of a first class concert organization. Sara Levee was the soloist, a pianist of uncommon ability who made the success of her career in Cesar Franck's Symphonic Variations.

The Chicago String quartet, continuing its series of chamber music at the Chicago Woman's Club theater, did an excellent performance in an Interludium in the antique mode by Glazounow and continued the good work with a scherzo by Tschaikowsky. Then adding Walter H. Steindel, pianist, to their group, they did an even better performance of the quintet in A by Dvorak.

Lucia Altoojian, soprano, and Florence Autenrieth, soprano, two agreeable young people who were adjudged to be winners in their respective classes in the recent contests under the auspices of the Society of American Musicians, appeared in a joint recital at the Civic theater as a token of their first place positions. They were well applauded.

Heard by deputy instead of in person, Gudmundur Kirstjansson, Icelandic tenor, would seem to have made a considerable impression at the Auditorium recital hall. The report credits him with a voice of power and quality, with an Italian technic and a personal and notable musicianship.

Food Talk.

We know there is an increasing desire on the part of housewives to serve balanced meals—foods that go well together from both the nutritive and esthetic point of view. "What foods go well with this fish, that meat or poultry?" is a question that both experienced and inexperienced ask.

A satisfactory answer to this question is too long to consider in one day. Today we will consider fish and poultry and tomorrow meats. Now custom has established certain combinations, such as apple sauce with pork and cranberries with turkey. These are excellent combinations. I have no fault to find with them, but this should not keep us from taking advantage of other combinations that are just as pleasing and good.

All meats, fish, and eggs leave an acid residue as mineral matter in the body. To maintain then the slightly alkaline balance that is essential for health it is necessary to use with these protein foods vegetables [not starchy ones] and fruits that are alkaline in nature and will counteract the acids. But in addition to getting a balance of acid and alkali it is also necessary to provide a variety of colors, textures, and flavors to have the most satisfactory meal. With both fish and poultry one should choose one starchy vegetable, one green vegetable and some fruit. A third vegetable which may be a root or green may be chosen to contribute the variety that we sometimes yearn for. Zest may be added by various sauces. Cornbread or cornmeal muffins are especially nice with fish.

With baked or boiled fish, a good combination results with escalloped or creamed potatoes, asparagus, sliced cucumbers with vinegar, salt and pepper, and cherry cobbler.

With fried fish, cucumber salad, potato croquettes, braised celery, and rhubarb sauce or pie.

With whitefish, tartar sauce, French fried potatoes, stuffed tomatoes, lettuce and French dressing, canned black cherries, and cookies.

With salmon, parsley potatoes, buttered peas, lettuce with French dressing, strawberry and raspberry or loganberry pie or shortcake.

With planked fish, border of mashed potato, baked tomatoes, stuffed peppers, asparagus salad, and sliced bananas and cream.

With chicken, cranberry sauce, glazed sweet potatoes or corn fritters, string beans or braised celery, tomato salad, and peach cobbler.

With goose, apple sauce, boiled cabbage, onions or Brussels sprouts, potatoes, orange salad, fruit ice and cake.

VEGETABLE SOUFFLE.

1 to 2 cups boiled, finely cut vegetables.
2 stale white rolls.
¾ cup milk or cream.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 teaspoon chopped onion.
2 egg yolks.
2 egg whites.
Salt and pepper.

Prepare the vegetables. Cauliflower, beans, carrots, peas, asparagus, celery, or any vegetable that has a distinct flavor can be used. Remove the crusts from the rolls and soak the inside in the milk. Melt the butter and mix the chopped onion with it. Stir in the soaked bread and mix well until a smooth paste is formed. Add the beaten yolks, vegetable cut in small pieces, and the seasoning. Lastly fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake in a water bath [a pan of hot water with the baking dish in it] in a slow oven from 30 to 30 minutes until the souffle is puffed and set. A light cream sauce is a fine accompaniment for this dish.

"NICE ENOUGH, but Notice Her Teeth

They look as if they were never brushed!"

You can brush teeth and gums faithfully, but they will continue to look neglected and offensive to others so long as you ignore the millions of germs that cause stain, ugly yellow, decay and serious gum diseases.

Ordinary tooth pastes won't help you one bit. But this new Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique quickly kills millions of germs that attack teeth and gums... and so cleans teeth as they should be cleaned—right down to the beautiful, naked white enamel—without injury.

Kolynos Will Surprise You

Kolynos is unlike anything you've ever used. The very moment it enters the mouth, this highly concentrated cream undergoes a remarkable change. It becomes an exhilarating, antiseptic FOAM that permits the Dry-Brush Technique, advocated by dentists as the one way to derive full benefit from dental cream and brush.

This FOAM goes into every tiny pit, fissure and crevice, and kills millions of destructive germs... 190 million in the first 15 seconds. It neutralizes acids that cause decay, gently erases tartar, washes away the unsightly mucoid coating and purifies the mouth.

White Teeth that Adorn Beauty

Easily and quickly this Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique whitens teeth, keeps them sound and clean, and helps to firm up gums.

Discard Incompetent Methods

Never let anyone say that your teeth look as though you never brushed them. Start using this new Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Within a few days you'll note a distinct improvement... Teeth will look whiter—as lustrous white as they were in childhood. Gums will feel firmer, appear healthier. And your mouth will tingle with a delightful, refreshing taste. Buy a tube of Kolynos from your druggist.

MINNEAPOLIS QUINTET TAKES NATIONAL TITLE

CHICAGO OWNED HORSE LOWERS TRACK RECORD

The Choctaw 2d; Sun Beau Runs 5th.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., March 22.—(AP)—Sun Beau, seeking the immortal thoroughbred throne as the world's greatest money winner, was lost in a cloud of dust as Mike Hall, owned by Robert M. Eastman of Chicago, finished in front by a neck to win the second renewal of the Agua Caliente handicap today and its prize of $100,000.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer's big bay 6 year old, favorite at post time, 1 to 2, finished fifth in such a rousing chase that Mike Hall set a new track record of 1 minutes 3 seconds for the mile and a quarter, which Victorian established last year at 2:03 1-5.

The Choctaw from the Audley farm stables came up fast for second, while Pucky Play from the Northway stable, San José, Cal., finished two lengths behind for third. Alexander Pantages was fourth, just nosed out of the show position.

Sun Beau Ahead Once.

Sun Beau made only one bid, going ahead at the half way mark, but after that it was a fight among those hard-to-be expected to figure strongly. Mike Hall, which got away last at the start-but-one, won on his terrific dash down the home stretch, passing The Choctaw in the last sixteenth of a mile. Jockey Willie Moran on The Choctaw claimed a foul but his claim was overruled in favor of the winner with Tom O'Donnell up.

The 20,000 persons who crowded the track had sweltered under a broiling Mexican sun waited six minutes for the start as Caruso, which finished third from the last, bucked and lunged at the gate. The delay was considered one of the factors which spelled Sun Beau's downfall, for the Big Train from Binghamton, N. Y., carried top impost of 129 pounds, 13 more than the winner.

Pigeon Hole Takes Lead.

Breast got away first but soon relinquished the position to Pigeon Hole, Mike Hall's running mate from the Col. P. Headley stables. Pigeon Hole maintained this post until the half way mark when Frank Coltiletti gave him Beau the whip.

It was of no use. Those who liked the big New York horse held their breath for the brief instant he was in front and then their groan was supplanted by scattered cheering as the longer shots took command.

These cheers swelled into a rousing ovation as the leaders came home in a closing finale.

The winner paid $20.80 on $2 parl-mutuel tickets, $6 to place and $4.20 to show. The Choctaw was worth $8.40 to place and $4 for third, while Pucky Play paid $14.20 for the third position.

Lady Broadcast Bad Ninth.

O'Donnell rode a smart race. He moved his horse in the early running and moved up rapidly from the last position. He was in ninth at the half way mark and third by a head as the field rounded into the last stretch.

Lady Broadcast, strongly favored to give Sun Beau the test if any of the entries would, pulled up at the finish a bad ninth.

Breast, in the contest by a last minute decision, was sixth behind Sun Beau with Pigeon Hole seventh, Caruso eighth and Sandy Ford, the one foot pitching shipped here only two weeks before the race, last.

Mike Hall came to Agua Caliente this winter from retirement. Previously, after winning approximately $50,000, his owner had sent him to stud where he fell down badly at first. The trip affected the seven year old by Hourless out of Clonaslee so much that he was retired last spring after his return. He came out here in the winter and won one race prior to today but was hardly considered as a likely winner, though he was picked six to one with Pigeon Pie and The Choctaw before post time.

Cubs Beat Pirates, 3-2, in 11 Innings; Then Win, 5-4 Game

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., March 22.—Our Cubs administered two heartbreaking blisterings to the Pittsburgh Pirates here today to make it four in a row in the series. The score of the morning game, a beautiful contest if you ever saw one, was 3 to 2 in 11 innings, and the tabulation for the afternoon game, also a snappy affair, was 5 to 4.

Each game produced many items to cause the home folks to chortle and not the least of these was the fact that Guy Bush was a great pitcher in the 11 inning performance, and Fred Blake was a success in the afternoon number.

Games Draw 24,800.

The splendid efforts of the athletes of both teams were not lost to the amusement world, for 4,500 customers viewed the morning masterpiece, while more than 20,000 saw the afternoon entertainment.

In the morning game Bush held the Pirates to nine hits, three of which, including a triple and a double, came in the added innings. For five innings, after the first session, he pitched perfect baseball with perfect support, not a man reaching first and only two getting fly balls out of the infield.

In the later moments Guy had to rely upon some brilliant work by his mates to have his hide saved. In the tenth Jensen tripled with two out and tried to make it a homer, but was speared at the plate on a dazzling triple relay, Moore to Beck to Blair to Grace. In the next inning the potential winning run was halted at third on another miracle relay, Stephenson to Jurges to English. The game was won with nons out in the eleventh on Blair's double and a two bagger by Pinchbatter Hartnett.

Jurges Stars Rally.

In the afternoon game the Cubs trailed, 3 to 2 and 4 to 2, at different stages of the contest, but in the eighth young Bill Jurges started a tying rally with a walk, a rally which featured a double by Wilson and a whizzing single by Zack Taylor. Grimm scored in the ninth on a single by Jurges after two were out.

Tomorrow the Cubs will journey across the bay to engage the Oakland Coast leaguers in one contest, after which they return to Seal stadium to do battle with the San Francisco Seals.

Bush Wakes Up Cubs.

From this point on Bush engaged in five innings of perfect pitching, for which he received perfect support.

In the third Bush started things off with a single to right and Cuyler drew a pass from Meine. Jurges flied to Mosolf, but Hornsby walked, filling the bases. Wilson was called out on strikes, but Stephenson came through with a single which scored Bush and Cuyler.

The first big game-saving fielding thrill developed in the tenth. With two out, Jensen tripled to the fence in far away right center. Beck ran at top speed to give Johnny Moore a short throw and Blair took a position on the base line. A gem of a triple relay play then ensued and Jensen was sunk at the plate.

Catch Thevenow at Third.

While not so intricate, the other relay play which saved the game also was a thriller. Thevenow doubled to the fence in left and sought to go to third. Jurges ran out into short left and took a perfect throw from Stephenson, then made one himself to English at third, who got Tommy by an eyelash.

At the end of the first inning of the afternoon game the score was the same as in the morning game—Pittsburgh, 1; Chicago, 0. Hornsby threw out L. Waner, but Thevenow beat out a roller to Bell and stopped at second when Grantham singled to left. Traynor flied to Wilson for the second out. Then Blake walked Suhr to fill the bases and also walked P. Waner to force in Thevenow. The sheriff threw out Comorosky to relieve the strain.

Wilson Overestimates His Speed.

The Cubs tied the score in the second inning and probably would have made a batch of runs but for some unbelievably sour base running by Wilson. Hack opened with an ordinary single to right, but kept on running towards second. It was child's play for P. Waner to toss the ball to Thevenow, who patiently waited for Hack to plow his way in to be tagged. Cuyler followed with a single to center, went to second on Hartnett's out, and scored on Bell's double to right.

The Pirates batted in a couple of runs in the third. Grantham singled and went to third when Traynor also got one. Grantham scored and Traynor stopped at second while Hornsby was throwing out Suhr. P. Waner singled to right, scoring Traynor.

Tie Score in Eighth.

Jurges walked to open the eighth, but was forced by English. Wilson shot a double to left center, scoring English, and went to third while Cuyler was being thrown out. Zack Taylor singled to left, putting Hack across with the tying run.

In the ninth Grimm walked and went to second on Blake's sacrifice. Charley moved to third while Willoughby was throwing out Moore and scored on Jurges' single to left.

Miss Saugatuck Wins 1931 Leg on Lipton Boat Cup

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 22.—(AP)—Willis Overton of East Norwalk, Conn., aboard his Miss Saugatuck, captured the 1931 leg on the Sir Thomas Lipton cup for class F outboards when he won two of the three heats today and finished second in the other.

SOX ERRORS GIVE GIANTS AN EASY VICTORY, 10 TO 4

Jolley, Reynolds Kick Away Two Each.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., March 22.—The White Sox were in a charitable mood this afternoon and gave away runs in a fashion highly painful to Manager Donie Bush. They were whipped, 10 to 4, by the Giants, who tonight were taking subscriptions for a fund to purchase tokens of esteem for Carl Reynolds and Smead Jolley, whose errors helped the New York cause.

Jolley and Reynolds made two errors each to cause woe among their own pitchers. Jolley dropped a fly that let the National leaguers have an undeserved run off Ted Lyons, who worked four innings. Then when Pat Caraway appeared, Jolley booted a grounder just before Reynolds muffed a fly. This permitted two runs in the sixth.

In the seventh Reynolds came along with a bigger and better loss of a fly ball which permitted the enemy to realize four more runs. This, too, was at Caraway's expense. Later the Giants earned three off Intlekofer.

Eichrodt Hits Homer.

The Sox also scattered their hits over such wide territory that they were of little productive value. The exception to this was in the seventh, when Fred Eichrodt, in the rôle of pinch hitter, pounded a homer which accounted for two runs. This happened against Bill [Lefty] Walker, who was one of three New York pitchers.

Critz, the leadoff batter, hoisted a fly to Jolley's left and the big boy let it trickle through his hands. Critz took second on the muff. Lindstrom bounced to Lyons. The play put Critz on third and he dashed home on Leslie's fly to Reynolds.

Jackson led off in the sixth with a single to left and went to second when the grounder squirted off Jolley's glove. Vergez sacrificed Jackson to third and O'Farrell walked. Walker's infield out shoved O'Farrell to second. Critz flied to right, but Reynolds let the ball pop out of his hands, both Jackson and O'Farrell scoring.

Giants Score Four in Seventh.

The Giants' half of the seventh began with a pass to Leslie after one was out. Ott singled to center. Jackson flied to right and Reynolds got his hands around the ball, but dropped it. Leslie scored. Vergez was set down when Caraway caught a wicked liner in self-defense. Caraway walked O'Farrell, loading the bases, and then forced Ott to score by passing Walker. Critz followed with a double to left, on which Jackson and O'Farrell counted.

On a double by Appling, Grube's single, and the homer over the west wall by Eichrodt, the Sox scored three runs off Walker in the seventh.

The next act in the Sox-Giants' spring show will be staged tomorrow at San Antonio.

GOLDEN GLOVES BATTLERS FACE STIFF SCHEDULE

The final week of drills for Chicago's Golden Gloves team starts this afternoon. One week from tonight in Madison Square Garden Chicago will defend its intercity boxing title against New York in the fourth meeting of the series.

There was no decision in the first Golden Gloves intercity battle, held at the Coliseum in 1928. Each squad won eight of the 16 bouts. In 1929 at New York, Chicago was overwhelmed, 11 to 5, but last year gained satisfaction by whipping the easterners, 10 to 6. That first year Chicago used two out of town judges, but the following year, on demand of the Metropolitan A. A. U., the Daily News was forced to employ New York judges. Naturally, Chicago did the same last year.

Squad Goes for Walk.

There is no reason to suppose that New York or Chicago judges would be partial to their local amateurs. But it would seem good taste would dictate that out of town judges be used to avoid any charge of favoritism. Whether the Metropolitan A. A. U. will recede from its demands for New York officials this year remains to be ascertained.

The Golden Gloves boys yesterday omitted boxing from their training, but Jabber Young took the squad for a long walk in the morning, ending with wind sprints, after which the crew went to the rubbing tables at the Illinois Athletic club.

This afternoon the longest boxing program of the training period is scheduled. Each boy will step four rounds, the maximum he will be expected to fight in New York, and this only if his bout is declared a draw at the end of three rounds.

Squad in Top Form.

While the instructions of the coaches, John Behr, Benny Yanger and Jabber Young, will improve the boxing of the squad, the most important reason for the two weeks' training is that the boys will be properly conditioned. If they can travel four rounds today without faltering they will have passed the coaches' first test. Those who show signs of weakness will be given particular attention tomorrow and Wednesday.

The intensive drills and regular training hours have brought the squad to top form. With the exception of Dick Monty, who is bothered with a chest cold; John Long, whose ailing arm, however, is nearly recovered, and Joey Kleko, who must take boxing, to my mind, he is one of the most promising bores that this generation has produced. He wrote some really great stuff on the subject of Muscle Shoals.

Washington is an ideal training spot for the development of the talent for boredom and my boy is being brought along by sound principles of training. His explanation of the Wickersham report attracted a lot of attention and one distinguished literary critic remarked, "There is a touch of genius here; it reminds me of 'Two Years Before the Mast.'"

The Kid Can't Take It.

Mr. Lewis' conduct shows that he is a boy who cannot take it. For a long time he has enjoyed himself writing that type of material which, in the sport writing business, is known as blasting or dynamiting, but when a couple of critics chanced to remark that they did not think he deserved the Nobel prize, the kid got sore and lost his head. It is fortunate for him that the members of the Rotary club and the junior chamber of commerce are all boys who can take it and smile. If they were as sensitive as Mr. Lewis himself, the kid would have spent most of his time in the hospitals having his countenance sorted out since "Babbitt" was published.

The ghost fighter plan is one which I would like to develop as it seems quite unreasonable to expect to settle matters of honor by fist fighting in person, considering that people who get into squabbles usually are unevenly matched. In the present case, Mr. Dreiser is as heavy physically as he is artistically and as well preserved as the second volume of his "An American Tragedy," the leaves of which are still uncut. Mr. Lewis, although younger, is of the skinny type physically, and people often remark on seeing him for the first time that it seems incredible that such a delicate man could have written such heavy material as he has produced.

Therefore, if they do not wish to try to outbore one another on the field of honor and insist upon a physical settlement, the contest would be more equal if they were to hire a couple of ghosts of equal weights and ratings. This would enable a couple of preliminary boys to earn a little money, and, although the outcome certainly would not decide the justice of Mr. Lewis' accusations against Mr. Dreiser, neither was the controversy decided by a couple of slaps in Mr. Lewis' face.

Most men are much less formidable fist fighters than they imagine themselves to be and, for my part, when a controversy is forced upon me, I would welcome the adoption of a plan which would permit me to say, "I will send my boy around to meet your boy, fi-

Writing Boxers Have Ghosts; Why Not Fighting Authors?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 22.—All the published accounts of the fist fight between Theodore Dreiser and Sinclair Lewis point to the need of some new arrangement for the waging of such disputes, preferably the ghost fighter system. It has long been the custom when prize fighters, even the intellectual ones, wished to express themselves in prose, to employ ghost writers because it was felt that anything which the athletes themselves might put down on paper would be likely to inflict undeserved hardship on the readers. Similarly when Mr. Dreiser and Mr. Lewis got into their fight at the club the other night their host rushed in to stop it and save his other guests from unnecessary punishment.

Or, if the two authors still insist on waging their dispute personally it would seem more appropriate for them to attack one another with their own natural weapons. Mr. Dreiser could bore Mr. Lewis with the second volume of his "An American Tragedy," and Mr. Lewis could bore right back with some of the more deadly descriptive passages from his "Main Street." Mr. Dreiser probably would win because, so far as is known, nobody yet has been able to read the second volume of "An American Tragedy," whereas there are several game endurance readers who claim to have read "Main Street" from beginning to end, without skipping. These are all book reviewers, or professional readers, of course, but it is not reasonable to expect an amateur reader to go the route. Professional prize fighters go fifteen rounds but amateurs fight only three.

Odds Favor Dreiser.

The betting odds in this contest would be about three to one on the old champion, the author of "An American Tragedy." But even though Mr. Lewis seems to be still a few years away from complete maturity as a bore, the boy undoubtedly is the logical contender and he deserves his chance. Fifty years ago the world would have refused to believe that any one would ever come along to surpass Charles Dickens, but Mr. Dreiser developed slowly, and nowadays when the champion bores of literature are mentioned the old solid man of English letters invariably ranks second.

I have a boy whom I am keeping under cover just at present because he is just beginning to develop as a bore. He is writing pro-administration stuff for some of the Republican papers out of Washington, D. C., and, to my mind, he is one of the most promising bores that this generation

Father Ryan Gets Third Place.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

De La Salle of Minneapolis is the national champion of Catholic high school basketball. The boys from the north eked out a 23 to 21 victory over Jasper academy, Jasper, Ind., before 5,000 gathered last night in Loyola university gymnasium to see the climax of the eighth annual tournament.

De La Salle, the third school of that name to hold the title, won a deserved triumph. Machinelike in its play and capitalizing the team's abilities, De La Salle jumped away to a ten point lead. This advantage, although threatened repeatedly in the closing minutes by the frenzied driving attack of the smaller Jasper players, proved a working margin of sufficient proportion to win.

All De La Salle Regulars Score.

Almost to a man the 5,000 cheered for Jasper, a popular tournament team in the national championships. With two minutes to play, Jasper was within one point of a tie, but De La Salle maintained possession of the ball and its delayed attack furnished a four point advantage and assurance of victory.

De La Salle, with superior height and better direction of play, won because all of its men were dangerous on attack and knew how to tie up the opponents on defense. Every regular scored at least once from the field, but to Capt. Ed Roy goes the greatest honor, for the last of his three field goals (all long shots) hit the net for a 22 to 19 lead which was the turning point of the contest.

De La Salle's leader was accorded fine support from his mates, in particular Odilo Buffalo, the center. Buffalo, until the closing period, took the ball on all center jumps and was the pivot of De La Salle's free throw line passing. He was chosen on the all-tournament team.

Jasper Fails on Free Throws.

Oscar Aubin, the pint sized Jasper forward, and the lanky Berger, at center, comprised the Indiana offense. Berger scored five times from the field, four in the first half, and Oscar dropped in three long tosses. Jasper's weakness, which cost them the national title, was at the free throw line. Jasper made three successful free throws in nine attempts. De La Salle registered five free throws in seven trials.

De La Salle pushed ten points through the nets before Jasper scored. Two long goals by Roy and three perfect block plays for short shots figured in production. Then, after Berger had given Jasper its first field goal, De La Salle counted again, making its lead 12 to 2 at the quarter. Jasper crept up to trail, 15 to 8, at half time.

The third period was all Indiana. Despite time outs called by De La Salle in hope the Jasper offense might be stemmed, the Hoosier lads, with the Aubin brothers, Paul and Oscar, swinging long distance shots, pulled up to a mark of 20 to 18 against them.

Jasper Attack Fades.

In the fourth period, with victory near and the thousands cheering for them, Jasper lost that uncanny distance shooting ability and De La Salle, calling on its last reserve power, again succeeded in taking the ball at center, controlling the play to work into a 23 to 19 advantage.

Seconds only remained. In that time Berger got one more field goal in a wild mixup under the basket, but before the ball was taken back to center the gun shot ended the battle.

De La Salle battled through the most difficult bracket of the tournament. In its first game last Wednesday the Minneapolis five upset Spalding of Peoria, Illinois champion, 16 to 15, in overtime. St. Mel of Chicago's west side, itself a national champion in 1924-'25, was next, falling before De La Salle, 23 to 22. Catholic High of Washington, Ind., was beaten, 22 to 17, and then Father Ryan went down, 29 to 14, in the semi-finals.

Father Ryan Wins Third.

Jasper reached the finals in more convincing style, save for its semi-final triumph over Cathedral High of Indianapolis by the narrow margin of 23 to 25. That victory was sweet, for Jasper previously had lost the Indiana title to their Capital city rivals.

Father Ryan of Nashville, Tenn., took third place in the tournament when it defeated Cathedral High of Indianapolis, Ind., 25 to 21. Superior height was the principal factor in Ryan's victory. Cathedral's poor shooting in the third period, when it had many short attempts, permitted the southerners to take a lead of 20 to 16.

When Cathedral rallied in the last period to come within two points at 23 to 21, Ryan stalled successfully, and added another goal just as the gun went off.

SHAMROCKS END HOME SEASON BY WINNING, 6 TO 3

Kansas City Proves Easy Victim.

The American league hockey season in Chicago came to a close at the Stadium last night when the Shamrocks defeated the Kansas City Pla-Mors, 6 to 3. Only one more game remains for the Chicagoans, who were unsuccessful in their attempt to reach the league playoffs. They meet St. Louis in the Mound City tomorrow night.

Taking an early lead on goals by McFadyen and MacKenzie, the Shamrocks were ahead, 3 to 0, at the end of the first period. They never were headed.

The Shamrocks drew first blood when Brydson's shot was batted back by Goalie Byrne. McFadyen shot by and snapped in the rebound from Byrne's stick. The Shamrocks shortly afterward had several chances at goals, but their shots were wild. Burns had a clear field, after eluding the entire Pla-Mor team, but Byrne made a great stop.

Run Up 5 to 0 Lead.

With about four minutes of the opening period remaining, Donnie McFadyen scored his second goal, receiving a pass from Pudge MacKenzie. MacKenzie, less than two minutes later, scored a freak goal. His shot to Byrne at the goal was deflected the wrong way by the latter's stick, the puck taking a peculiar bounce and skipping into the net.

The second period opened with the Shamrocks satisfied to keep the puck in mid-ice. However, Gordie Brydson and Donnie McFadyen decided another goal would look good in their individual scoring columns, so they teamed up, McFadyen taking Brydson's long pass to whip one past Goalie Byrne. A minute later Pudge MacKenzie scored the fifth goal for the Shamrocks on a solo attempt.

Kansas City Rallies.

At this point the Pla-Mors decided the contest was too one sided, so Biff Ranger and Slim Halderson paired to score their first goal. Ranger, after nearly 17 minutes of the second period had elapsed, paired up with Bert McLeod for the second Pla-Mor marker. A minute later little Mike Goodman also beat Timmins after being on the receiving end of a pass from Joe McCormick.

The sixth Shamrock goal was singularly unspectacular. Brydson shot for want of anything else to do and Byrne came out to save. Bouncer Taylor took the rebound and scored in an open net after 6:18 in the third period. Brydson was given an assist on the play.

Start Tourney at Coliseum Tomorrow

Harvey Heffner, Denver, will meet My Sullivan of St. Paul in one of the four ten round bouts of the Coliseum's middleweight tourney tomorrow night. Although he is but 21 years old, Heffner has fought in more than sixty professional bouts.

My Sullivan is popular with Chicago's ring fans, having appeared here on numerous occasions. His latest triumph was a one round knockout over Izzy Grove in Detroit.

During the two years Sullivan has been fighting in windup bouts he has frequently been considered by critics as a boxer of championship caliber. He boxes cleverly and hits with both hands. His only ring fault is an inclination to be temperamental.

Littman Meets Oster.

Tait Littman, Milwaukee, will meet Willie Oster in the opening bout of the evening. Littman recently lost to Harry Ebbets and will enter the ring an underdog. If he beats Oster he will be conceded an excellent chance to go a long way in the tournament.

Chief Bob Signac, Michigan Indian, who holds the middleweight championship of the Wolverine state, meets Clyde Chastain in the last bout of the evening. Chastian is from Oklahoma. His forte is speed.

The hard hitting Haakon Hanson will clash with Pete Susky in the remaining ten rounder. Susky is from Scranton. His pal and fellow citizen, Pete Latzo, won the welterweight championship from Mickey Walker. It is Susky's ambition to win the crown Walker has lost then fight him for it.

Hanson Has New Manager.

Hanson has renewed interest in winning the middleweight title since acquiring a new manager recently. He expects to show Chicagoans that he has real ability.

The winner of the tournament will be recognized as middleweight champion by the National Boxing association. The card:

Tait Littman and Willie Oster, 10 rounds.
Chauk Heffner and My Sullivan, 10 rounds.
Pete Susky and Haakon Hanson, 10 rounds.
Clyde Chastain and Chief Bob Signac, 10 rounds.

HAWKS FINISH SCHEDULE WITH 2 TO 1 VICTORY

Detroit, Mich., March 22—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks ended their National Hockey league schedule tonight with a 2 to 1 victory over the Detroit Falcons.

Doc Romnes, chunky Chicago forward, scored the first goal, late in the initial period, taking Couture's pass to beat Dolson. The game then went scoreless until late in the final period, when Vic Ripley got another for the Hawks, and Ebbie Goodfellow, Falcon scoring ace, boosted his scoring average when he scored out of a melee in front of the Hawk net.

The Hawks bored in from the first whistle, and Mush March nearly scored a minute after play started. He slipped through the Falcon defense and had only Dolson to beat, but the pudgy Falcon goalie stopped him. Then March took the first penalty, for tripping Sorrell, and the Falcons surprised the Hawks by sending a flying line of four men in on Gardiner. He stopped shots from all angles until March got back.

Romnes Scores for Hawks.

For the next ten minutes the Hawks had control of the play, passing all over the ice, but were unable to get through Dolson. Tommy Cook had the best chance when he eluded the defense and skated in alone. Reg Noble had his big chance when Goodfellow gave him a perfect pass, but he muffed the shot.

Then the Hawks got a goal, Couture passing to Romnes, who feinted Dolson out of position and put a short one past him. The Falcons tried to break through the Hawk line, but the period ended with the score: Chicago, 1; Detroit, 0.

Cook drew a penalty shortly after the second period opened, but the Falcons couldn't get a goal, although they repeatedly sent four men down. Larry Aurie slipped through for two tries at Gardiner before the defense reached him, but he had bad luck with both shots.

When Ingram took a penalty for tripping, the Falcons bombarded the Hawk net without success. Both outfits put up a great show midway in the period, the Falcons trying frantically to get a tying goal and the Hawks working just as hard to put themselves two tallies to the good.

Disallow Hawk Goal.

Romnes got a chance when he sent Graham's rebound at Dolson, but the Falcon goalie beat back the shot. Just as the bell clanged to end the period, Des Jardins gave Ingram a pass that Ingram converted into a goal, but the officials ruled that the period had ended.

McInenly went to the penalty box shortly after the third period started, but the Hawks didn't overwork in trying to score while he was off. When he came back, Noble and Cook were sent off for carrying high sticks. Dolson made three quick saves in succession when Gottselig got through alone, and Romnes and Couture followed him with rebound shots.

Sonnenberg, Wykoff Meet at Coliseum

Two former college athletes will clash tonight in the windup match of a five bout wrestling card arranged by Promoter Joe Coffey at the Coliseum.

Gus Sonnenberg, Dartmouth, and Lee Wykoff, University of St. Louis, are the rivals for wrestling honors. Sonnenberg, who introduced the flying tackle of the football field to the mat sport and won a world's title with it, only to lose again to another collegian, is on the war path for another chance at the world's championship.

Baseball, Grid Star.

Wykoff, who was a baseball, football, track and basketball star, as well as a wrestling champion in collegiate circles, has been wrestling professionally for four years. It will be his first appearance, however, in Chicago.

In St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha and in the East and on the west coast he is well known, and a great favorite. He is a six-footer, weighs 218 pounds, and is fast. Sonnenberg is five feet 10 inches tall, weighs 220 pounds. He is one of the toughest grapplers in the game, as he proved by winning from Ed Strangler Lewis, then undefeated champ, in Los Angeles two years ago.

Sonnenberg and Wykoff will share the limelight with other good wrestlers. George Calza will battle the giant Stanley Stasiak, claimant of the Polish title, in the semi-windup.

Sherry Meets Maloney.

Jack Sherry, rough and tumble grappler of Chicago, meets John Maloney, a six foot seven inch Irishman from County Clare, Ireland, and Boston.

Charlie Peterson, Swedish trial horse and one of the hardest working and trickiest of the wrestlers, meets young Karol Zbyszko, nephew of the veteran Stanislaus Zbyszko, in another one fall match, while Battling Siki, huge Abyssinian and colored champion, will clash with big Jack Roberts of Chicago in the opening bout. The first match will start at 8:15 p. m. Tonight's card:

Gus Sonnenberg vs. Lee Wykoff.
George Calza vs. Stanley Stasiak.
Jack Sherry vs. John Maloney.
Charlie Peterson vs. Karol Zbyszko.
Battling Siki vs. Jack Roberts.

WEST CHAMPIONS ARE BEATEN IN FORESTERS' PLAY

St. Elizabeth, south division runner-up, eliminated St. Patrick, west division champion, 23 to 19, in the first round of the Catholic Order of Foresters basketball championship at the Majestic ballroom, 5247 Madison street, yesterday afternoon. All west division teams fell by the wayside during the afternoon's play. St. Eugene, north division runnerup, bested Harmony, a west division team, 29 to 19, and St. Monica, north division champion, toppled Monarchs, west division third place team, 21 to 18.

St. Sabinas, league champions in 1930, found the going tough against Hofbauer, third place team in the north division, but came through to win, 24 to 20. Second round games will be played next Sunday at the Majestic ballroom, while yesterday's losers will open the consolation tournament at the same time. Scores:

Why Not a Ghost Boxer for Authors?

teen rounds to a decision, and we will just see who is a liar." It would be a pleasant relief and a great fillip to individual confidence to be able to meet all the little personal crises which arise between man and man with a belligerent "One more crack out of you and my boy will belt your boy on the jaw."

Building Up a Reputation.

It may be hard to adjust people to the idea of settling rows by vicarious fights, but it would be only a matter of getting used to it. The same principle has been in use on the race tracks for many generations and when a millionaire steps down to the judges' stand to receive the congratulations of the governor and make a speech into the microphone because his horse has won a Derahy, he is not at all embarrassed by the fact that he personally had nothing to do with the victory. A breeder raised the horse, a trainer trained it and a jockey made the victorious ride, but the honor for the triumph goes to the owner. If this plan was extended to personal quarrels, I might pick up some game, clever kid with a good punch and develop a reputation as the toughest guy in town.

HAWAIIANS TO SWIM IN A. A. U. MEET APRIL 1-4

Ten events have been scheduled for the National A. A. U. indoor swimming championships to be held April 1 to 4 at the Lake Shore Athletic club.

Every section of the United States will be represented in the meet. Besides all of the nationally known swimmers who will be here for the intercollegiate championships Friday and Saturday, a group of Hawaiian stars will make their first appearance in Chicago, swimming for the Hollywood Athletic club, last year's champions.

The championships to be contested on April 1 are the 100 yard free style and the 300 yard relay. The 220 yard breast stroke, low board diving, and 400 yard relay titles will be settled on Thursday, while Friday, the third day of the meet, will be devoted to the 220 yard free style and 300 yard medley relay events. The meet closes Saturday, April 4, with competition in the 500 yard free style, the 150 yard back stroke, and the high board diving.

Tony Canzoneri to Meet Tommy Grogan Tonight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight champion, will meet Tommy Grogan, Nebraska battler, in the feature bout at the Arena here tomorrow night. Although Canzoneri's title is not at stake, the bout is important, since Tony is expected to defend his crown against Jack (Kid) Berg in Chicago, next month. Tommy has been going well in training, having sent one of his sparring partners to the hospital on Saturday.

2 Chicagoans Crash A.B.C. Ranking List

Buffalo, N. Y., March 22.—[Special.]—Two Chicago bowlers today placed among the American Bowling congress tournament leaders in a day featured by high totals. Bob Williamson crashed through to third place in the singles with 703. He had games of 257, 224, and 222. More than 3,000 bowlers already have performed in the solo event.

Louie Haake, who counted 644 in the team event to help put the J. William Thorson five of Chicago in first place, followed with a 632 doubles count and 612 singles total to compile an aggregate of 1,888 for fourth position in the all-events. Ed Wetterman, Cincinnati, took second place with 1,899.

Sam Murray, member of the Commodore Barry five, the only team to annex two consecutive A. B. C. titles, rolled into seventh place with a 634 total. Murray counted 226, 255 and 203. A number 5 pin error in the ninth frame of the last game kept him out of the 700 class.

MERCHANT FLEET OF U. S. SUFFERS LOSS IN TONNAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Of the five Washington naval treaty powers, the United States was the only one to record a net decrease in its ocean going merchant marine tonnage during 1930. An official report published today by the United States shipping board, disclosed that while Great Britain, France, Japan, and Italy were adding to their ocean going tonnage, the United States was showing a loss for the year of a quarter of a million tons.

Notwithstanding the loss in total tonnage, the year 1930 saw American private shipyards operating at their greatest capacity since 1921. The United States during that period added fifteen ships of 143,014 tons to her fleet, the number and gross tonnage being practically double the amounts added during the previous year.

Total Volume Shows Gain.

The total volume of private American tonnage showed an increase for the year of 240,000 tons. Much of the loss suffered by the United States was attributed to the scrapping program under which the shipping board is seeking to do away with vessels unlikely to be useful for active operation. The increase in private tonnage was attributed largely to the board's policy of transferring government vessels to private hands wherever possible.

Great Britain maintained a commanding lead in volume of tonnage with more than 18,000,000 gross tons. The United States clung to second place with approximately one-half as much tonnage. The total of all ocean-going merchant fleets of the world was greater by 220 ships of a total tonnage 1,732,452 gross tons at the close of 1930 than at the close of 1929. In types of vessels, exceptionally useful for conversion into fighting ships in event of war, Great Britain maintains her lead over the United States. Only 14 vessels on the ocean have a tonnage in excess of 20,000 tons. Of this number, Great Britain has six, the United States one, France two, Italy one and Germany three. Of 42 vessels capable of 20 knots or better, 17 are owned by Great Britain, seven by the United States, six by Italy, five by France, four by Germany, and two by Japan.

Nations Show Increase.

"Last year a total of 359 ocean-going vessels of 2,000 gross tons and over, were placed in service by the principal maritime countries of the world," the shipping board announced. "Of this number, 15 were owned in the United States, 139 in Great Britain, 29 in Japan, and 12 in France.

"Merchant fleets of foreign countries, except Spain, were uniform in showing net increases throughout the year. Great Britain with 16 vessels, 93,584 tons; Japan, seven vessels, 128,-000 tons; France, 15 vessels, 104,627 tons; Italy, five vessels, 62,335 tons; the Netherlands, 16 vessels, 157,204 tons; Norway, 93 vessels, 632,334 tons; Germany, 13 vessels, 124,940 tons.

Britain Still Leads World.

"Great Britain's merchant marine exceeded all other countries on Jan. 1, 1931, both in number and tonnage, with 3,050 ocean-going vessels having a tonnage of 18,220,830 gross tons. The United States stood second with 1,624 vessels of 9,276,190 gross tons, while Japan was third in number with 631 vessels, and fourth in tonnage, with 3,051,226 gross tons. Norway was fourth in number with 575 ships and seventh in tonnage, with 2,832,377 gross tons.

DANISH PACIFISTS UPSET ON PLAN TO DISARM BALTIC

British Insist Some One Be Watchdog.

BY JOHN AHL-NIELSEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, March 22.—Danish pacificism has been knocked into a cocked hat by the British policy in the Baltic. The pacifists have learned that unless Denmark discharges its obligation to defend the Kattegat, then some other power will, and that without question this power would be Great Britain.

Copenhagen itself sits on an island which dominates the seaboards of Sweden, Finland, Soviet Russia, most of the German coast, the Polish corridor, and the shores of the three little Baltic states, Lithuania, Latvia, and Esthonia.

Stopper to Baltic Sea.

Denmark is the stopper to the Baltic sea, and that position gives it no alternative but to control it. This was made plain during the recent rigsdag committee discussions of a measure put forward by the socialistic cabinet for absolute disarmament of the country. During the debates a local newspaper sent a representative to England to study the atmosphere there and prominently displayed an interview with Admiral Sir Francis Bridgeman, former British sea lord.

"I do not understand how in the world any Scandinavian power is able to disarm itself," he said. "The Danish geographical and political position is too dangerous for such a thing.

If war came upon Europe all interested powers would race to settle themselves in Danish waters. It would be a free for all fight for the disarmed territory's position.

Bill Doomed to Die.

"I am convinced that if Denmark is able to defend herself she would be able to keep out of war, but a disarmed Denmark would be the target for the first bullets of war. If Denmark will not defend herself other powers will do it."

Various political parties in the rigsdag agreed to form a point committee for consideration of the government's plans for disarmament and to present their own views of Danish defense. The commission finished its work with negative results, for no mutual viewpoint could be found.

The government bill now before the national chamber has no chance of passage, observers declare. It provides for a "guard," not an army, armed with 40 pieces of artillery of 75 mm. caliber, and 120 small infantry field pieces. The guard would number 10,000 men, plus 6,000 reserves, to be mobilized in case of war.

2 WOMEN, 2 MEN ARE KILLED WHEN 2 AIRPLANES FALL

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—[Special.]—Misunderstandings in the air over control of their craft, today brought death in spectacular airplane crashes to two women and two men. Wilbur Wadleigh, 35 years old, a writer, and his wife, Lorene, 32, disputed over who should take "the stick" of their rented two seated open biplane while 200 feet above the United airport at Burbank. The ship dove into a railroad embankment and both were killed.

Only a few minutes later Miss Aline Miller, 22 years old, a professional aviatrix, took Ivan De Villiers, widely known as a stunt aviator for motion picture productions, into her monoplane for a short ride at Grand Central air terminal in Glendale. Again man and woman were in conflict over the controls and for a short period the ship hung motionless in the air, nose pointed upward. Then it crashed to the port. Miss Miller and De Villiers died in an ambulance en route to the hospital.

Pilot, Sweetheart Killed.

St. Louis, Mo., March 22.—(AP)—Raymond S. Bowers, 23, and his sweetheart, Miss Elizabeth Eslinger, 22, were instantly killed today when a plane piloted by Bowers fell from an altitude of 200 feet on the outskirts of St. Louis, struck high tension wires, and burned.

ANDREWS ALLEN, ENGINEER, DIES SUDDENLY AT 61

Andrews Allen, president of Allen & Garcia Co., consulting and contracting engineers, 332 South Michigan avenue, died suddenly yesterday in Jasper, Ala. Mr. Allen was in the south directing engineering projects preparatory to his leaving for Russia, where his company recently secured several contracts. He was 61 years old.

Mr. Allen was born in Madison, Wis., and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1891. On leaving school he was engaged in geological surveys for the government and engineering in Wilmington, Del. In 1899 he founded the company, which he headed until his death. He was also vice president of the Allith-Prouty company of Danville, Ill.

He was a member of the American Society of Engineers, the Western Society of Engineers, of which he was a former president; the American Railway Engineering association, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and of the Union league and Engineers clubs. The Allen home is in Glencoe.

Mr. Allen is survived by his widow, four children, Francis, Henry, Andrews Jr., and Katherine, and a sister, Miss Katherine Allen, now in Athens, Greece. Private funeral services are to be held tomorrow in Glencoe. The body is to be cremated. The ashes are to be removed to Madison on the return of his sister to Chicago.

WILLIAM MILLER, HEAD OF INDIANA BAR, DIES IN GARY

William W. Miller, president of the Indiana Bar association, died yesterday in the Mercy hospital in Gary after an emergency operation. He had recently suffered an attack of influenza. Mr. Miller was born in Nappanee, Ind., fifty-four years ago, and was educated at the University of Denver and the University of Chicago. As a leader of the bar in Gary, he had served three terms as president of the Gary Bar association before his election to the presidency of the state organization last year. He was a member of the Medinah Athletic club in Chicago.

Don't Pay

If This Fails To Knock Your Cold In Few Hours

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

Hill's Cascara Quinine is GUARANTEED to knock a cold in a jiffy. To relieve the pain, to break up tightness. If it fails, you pay nothing.

This guarantee is made to prove to those who have tried fifty ways to lose a cold that the surest way is to go back to first principles and use something that you KNOW does the work.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. You'll feel like a new person almost before you know it. Pain eased, congestion broken; your mind cleared and yourself ready to go back on the job with a wallop.

That's because Hill's is a scientific formula made to DO ONE THING WELL: to knock colds in a hurry—not to cure a score of different troubles.

Costs only a few cents at any drug store. Get a package now. Your money back if it fails. Try it—you'll be glad that you did.

TEST SANITY OF NUN AFTER HER FLING AS BROKER

Paid Out Interest, but Spent Capital.

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MALINES, Belgium, March 22.—Belgium's most picturesque broker is Sister Mary-Magdalene, a Carmelite nun. When she went bankrupt recently, her books showed a deficit of ten million francs. Sister Mary-Magdalene is now in an insane asylum for a month's observation. If she is proven sane, she will be arrested again and tried.

Malines, where Cardinal Mercier once lived, is aroused over the nun's bankruptcy. During the war days, Mary-Magdalene, in private life, Miss Marie Van Nylen, became a Carmelite nun and was considered a saint. Her hands, it was said, showed mystic stigmas on holy days; and it was claimed she had visions of the Virgin Mary and was able to predict the future.

Became Broker After War.

After the war she became a sort of broker. Although heading a Carmelite nunnery here, and bound to observe the vows of poverty, abstinence and a life of prayer and contemplation, Sister Mary-Magdalene, it is charged, saw her religious mission in a different light. She had learned from her father, an Antwerp broker, how to handle money matters, and now offered to have other people's money bear fruit.

The financier-nun paid as much as 40 per cent on capital entrusted to her by small proprietors here. Hundreds of persons turned their humble bank accounts over to the sister and obtained great results. But they never got their capital back. When one of the customers of the Carmelite nun complained to Judge Kempeneer, he looked into Sister Mary-Magdalene's books and found the nun was bankrupt.

Held for Observation.

It was revealed she had spent most of the money she collected on the Order of Carmel. Young girl who had no money but wished to become Carmel nuns could always rely upon her to provide the necessary dowry. She bought a vast estate consisting of a castle and a park, and spent $20,000 for a stone wall 12 feet high around that park so that the Carmel nuns would remain secluded.

Judge Kempeneer transferred Sister Mary Magdalene to an insane asylum for observation on three legal grounds: that by the incriminated facts she would be liable to more than three months in prison; that there are reasons to believe the accused might be mentally deranged, and that the judge "is convinced the accused is really the author of the incriminated facts."

In Malines it is declared that high church authorities will make up the losses incurred by Sister Mary Magdalene's victims.

Vienna Paper Apologizes for Attack on Jugo-Slavs

VIENNA, March 22.—(AP)—The Vienna Tageblatt, whose articles concerning Jugo-Slavia recently were the subject of a protest by the government of that country, today published a formal apology for the offending articles.

Children drink more "SELECTED" MILK because they like it more!

Ask your neighborhood Borden milkman about his customers who take "Selected" Milk.

He'll tell you that the kiddies living in "Selected" homes are unusually sturdy and healthy.

The reason is simply because "Selected" makes milk drinking more inviting, more satisfying—hence more regular.

Children just naturally love "Selected" Milk because of its "Sweet Natural Taste" and they just naturally thrive because they drink their four glasses of "Selected" a day, and enjoy every drop.

It costs only 16 cents to give your children the benefits of this better milk—the difference is so marked that you can instantly tell it by making a comparison. Make it—by speaking to your Borden milkman—or phoning us—or using the coupon.

LORD GLENAVY, IRISH LAWYER, STATESMAN, DIES

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 22—(AP)—Lord Glenavy, former chairman of the Free State senate and lord chancellor of Ireland from 1918 to 1921, died today. He was 79.

Although made a peer in 1921, Lord Glenavy was better known as Sir James Campbell, under which name he became one of the most prominent men in Ireland as a lawyer and judge. He was one of the right hand men of Sir Edward Carson in a campaign to keep Ulster from uniting with south Ireland just before the war.

Lord Glenavy made a special practice of attending meetings at which John Redmond, Nationalist leader, was speaking and replying in as vigorous terms as Redmond used. Although it came about by a logical series of events, it was always regarded as strangely ironical that the man who had fought with Carson for Ulster should in later years have become first chairman of the Free State senate.

TALKING MACHINE MERGER PROJECT STIRS WALL ST.

Sees Radio Domination in Entertainment.

New York, March 22.—(AP)—The projected merger of the Columbia Graphophone Company, Limited, with the Gramophone Company, Limited, British subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America, announced in London and New York this week, has Wall street agog over its far reaching possibilities.

Through its ownership of virtually all of the common stock of the Victor Talking Machine company, the Radio corporation controls the Gramophone company. Those companies and the Graphophone company combined produce the majority of the world's phonographs and records. Although these products have been displaced to a considerable extent in the United States by radio they are still popular in many parts of the world.

No Language Barrier.

Through the perfection of radio broadcasting the scope of the possibilities for entertainment and education of this invention steadily has been widened. From an international standpoint, however, it has more or less definite limitations because of the barriers of language imposed by national boundaries. Phonographs lack this handicap. Furthermore, some people in a position to know say the development of radio in many countries is far behind that of the United States which does much to explain the continuing popularity of the phonograph elsewhere.

However, such considerations are all of the present. One of the most distinctive characteristics of humanity is its insatiable curiosity. Human beings are always interested in something strikingly, boldly new. The present merger brings about a combination which is virtually world wide. This fact coupled with the development of television presents a prospect which even blase folk can contemplate with interest.

May Include Television.

As radio broadcasting develops it may be assumed that the facilities of the radio corporation will be available for its subsidiary units virtually throughout the world. When television has reached an appropriate stage of development it may be expected to be included in the broadcasting programs.

A number of people have worked on television for years. Definite progress has been made. Considerable work remains to be done, however, before a radio equipped with television will be as much an article of everyday furniture as the present day radio.

Announce Big New Eastern Gas Holding Corporation

Formation of Niagara Gas corporation, incorporated under the laws of Delaware as a holding company for the natural gas industry in New York state, was announced yesterday. Grouping of the Shore Gas company, the Erie County Gas company, and the Alden-Aurora Gas company under this holding company will combine properties embracing approximately 70,000 acres in western New York, centering in the Buffalo area. Interests identified with the Marine Midland Trust company and G. V. Grace & Co. were active in forming the new corporation.

Weekly Board of Trade Stocks

Although selling off slightly from their highs, stocks were strong and higher at the end of last week. Noranda Mines made the best showing with a net gain of 5¾ at 23. The largest trade was in Electric Bond and Share, up 1¾ at 58½. Walgreen advanced 2½ to close at 27 and Studebaker closed 1¼ higher at 25.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 22.—The total national wealth of the United States in 1929 amounted to $361,800,000,000, and the national income was $84,000,000,000, according to estimates made public yesterday by the national industrial conference board. The per capita wealth in 1929 was $2,977, and the per capita income was $692 for that year.

The national wealth, distributed by states, was $355,000,000,000 in 1929, and is smaller than the total national wealth because the figure does not include the value of ships of the United States navy, privately owned water supply systems, and gold and silver coin and bullion, which cannot be allocated geographically among the states.

The most recent United States census estimate of national wealth was $320,800,000,000 for 1922. In terms of 1913 dollars, which allow for the change in purchasing power of the dollar since that time the total national wealth in 1929 was $261,700,000,000, the total national income was $52,500,000,000, and the per capita income was $432.

There was an increase in national wealth and income in the fifteen years from 1914 to 1929, both in years from 1914 to 1929, both in terms of actual dollars and in 1913 dollars. In 1914 the national wealth, distributed by states, was $188,600,000,000 in actual dollars, and in 1929 it was $355,000,000,000, an increase of 88 per cent. In 1914 the national wealth, in 1913 dollars, was $193,300,000,000, and in 1929, by the same yardstick, it was $256,800,000,000, distributed by states, an increase of 32.8 per cent.

The figures of per capita wealth by states shows Nevada in first place, with $6,318 per capita wealth in 1929. Mississippi is at the end of the list with a per capita wealth of only $1,242. The total for the country was $2,977 for 1929, and the average, distributed by states, was $2,921.

NEW YORK CURB ADVANTAGE HELD BY INDUSTRIES

New York, March 22.—(AP)—The bulk of the curb market's strength has been in industrial issues during recent sessions. Utilities have had difficulty in extending earlier rallies, but the shares of manufacturing companies, reflecting the combination of a better demand and an absorption of available supplies, showed some smart gains last week.

Aviation stocks were particularly strong, brought into prominence by news of impending government orders for service planes. Metal shares did well, led by Noranda, which climbed from 18 to 27⅝ on the official announcement that drilling had disclosed new gold veins, full details of which would be revealed at the annual meeting soon to be held. Aluminum of America was the week's sensational performer, rising from 158 to 204 in a large turnover for so thinly traded a stock.

Investment trusts began to catch up with the general recovery of the market and also with their asset figures. Goldman Sachs advanced more than a point to its year's best price following the announcement that its asset worth had arisen to $15.23 as of March 13, a gain of $2.83 since Dec. 31.

WILL REDEEM BONDS.

The New Jersey Power and Light company will call for redemption on the next interest payment date, Aug. 31, 1931, all of its first mortgage 5 per cent gold series due 1956 now outstanding.

NEW BOND ISSUES IN SHARP DECLINE; PRICES CREEP UP

Call Money Rate Lowest Since June 1915.

New York, March 22.—(AP)—As a whole the bond market made an irregular creeping advance last week.

Although there was little sensational in the day-to-day trading, there were several interesting developments outside of the market. Call money on Friday receded to 1 per cent, the lowest rate since June, 1915. This easiness was regarded as an aftermath of the treasury operation at the beginning of the week, resulting in heavy government deposits after the collection of the quarterly installments of income taxes. These profits increased the supply of call funds, thus emphasizing an existent abundance of money.

The aggregate involved in the treasury operations on Monday was about $3,000,000,000, composed of new issues, old obligations retired and the collection of income taxes.

End Week Lower.

Bonds of the federal government wavered back and forth, but ended the week lower. The group started its recession on Wednesday when official estimates of at least $1,000,000,000 were made for soldier bonus loans which would require the issuance of new bonds.

New issues floated showed a sharp decrease, totaling $77,155,000, compared with $267,618,000 for the previous week. The new week is expected to produce about $300,000,000 in new issues offered, including $60,000,000 in debentures for the Consolidated Gas company of New York. Securities to refund the $55,000,000 of one year notes issued by the Fox Film corporation, which are due April 15, are expected also.

Precedes General Rise.

Declaration of the regular quarterly dividend on the stocks of the Fox company on Wednesday preceded a general rise in the bonds of amusement companies. General Theaters Equipment 6s, Loew's, Inc., 6s with warrants, Shubert Theaters 8s of 1942, and Pathe Exchange 7s made net gains ranging from fractions to 6 points.

New issues for the National Nitrate company of Chile, the Republic of Greece, the Northern States Power company, and the National Steel corporation are known to be in course of preparation.

A steady advance in foreign issues was one of the market's features last week. This movement was regarded as a reflection of more tranquil political conditions abroad and it encouraged the belief that foreign financing in coming months will increase, especially as it is known that there are many potential borrowers in foreign countries.

BANK OF ENGLAND GOVERNOR AT SEA BOUND FOR U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

London, March 22.—Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, sailed for Southampton on the Berengaria yesterday on another mission to the United States. He was accompanied by Dr. O. M. W. Sprague of Harvard who was attached to the bank last year as statistical adviser.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 22.—Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and Prof. O. M. W. Sprague, American advisor to the bank of England, who are now on their way here, will confer with officials of the federal reserve and administration officials in Washington.

Norman's conversation will continue the frequent conferences between the heads of European central banks and the governor of the federal reserve bank of New York which have been an outstanding development of international financial affairs.

Informed bankers state that Gov. Norman's visit has no special end in view. They remarked that George L. Harrison, governor of the federal reserve bank of New York, had twice visited Mr. Norman in London since Mr. Norman was last in this country.

BANK FAILURES DROP SHARPLY IN FEBRUARY

Washington, D. C., March 22.—(AP)—A sharp decrease in the number of bank failures in February as compared with January was reported today by the federal reserve board in its monthly review of business and financial conditions.

The board's tabulation showed there were 78 failures last month, against 199 in January, 344 in December, and a total of 1,345 during 1930. The decrease bore out the board's statement a month ago that the 1930 depression had the effect of adjusting the banking business and of treasury officials that the year had seen the elimination of most of the weak banks of the country. The board said the banks were now in a strong position.

Banks suspended in February had deposits of $41,968,000, while those that failed in December and January together had total deposits of $122,696,000, and those that failed in 1930 had deposits of $864,715,000.

The board said that reserve bank credit outstanding showed a further decline in February, corresponding to a decrease in member bank reserve balances, together with an inflow of gold from abroad. Member bank credit, it said, was at a somewhat higher level in February than in the preceding month, while commercial loans continued to decline. The latter reduction, the board said, was more than offset by the growth in bank's investments together with a slight increase in loans on securities.

Swift International.

The writer owns a small number of shares of Swift International @ 36⅛. Will appreciate your analysis and opinion of this stock at this price. —L. B.

Swift International, or Compania Swift Internacional, S. A. C., carries on the former South American and Australian business of Swift & Co., with which it is affiliated.

Hides, skins, fertilizers and wool are shipped principally to the United States. Meats, oils and extracts are marketed largely in European countries.

Earnings have increased steadily since 1925, last year being no exception. The favorable showing in 1930 may have been due partly to scarcity of cattle in the United States.

Net profit, available for dividends, last year amounted to $6,428,886. This was equal to $4.29 per share earned on the 1,500,000 capital shares (par $15) outstanding. There is only one class of stock and no funded debt. In 1929 net profit was $5,458,758, or $3.64 per share, against $4,556,717 in 1928, $1,977,203 in 1927, $940,102 in 1926 and net loss of $805,273 in 1925.

Dividends have been paid in varying amounts each year since 1919. With the payment of a $1.50 dividend on Feb. 15, 1931, the annual rate was increased from $2.50 to $3 per share. A $1 extra was paid Nov. 15, 1930.

The management stated that the increased rate was warranted by improved earnings last year and the present financial position of the company.

President Edward F. Swift in his report in February informed stockholders that there was no indication that the firm's business would be adversely affected by political conditions in South America.

The stock may be regarded as medium grade.

Borrowing Against Bonus.

An investment house has suggested to me to draw my 50 per cent loan on the bonus and invest it with them in a 6 per cent security. I have no need of this money, neither have I borrowed on my bonus to date. Their argument is that my 6 per cent yield and constant reinvesting will more than pay the interest due and leave me a balance. Please explain it to me so that I may not make some regrettable move.—H. W. D.

Your failure to state what the suggested investment is makes a specific reply impossible. If it pays 6 per cent there is likely to be a speculative risk involved. Inasmuch as you must pay 4½ per cent on the amount borrowed against your bonus, the bonus left is in fact practically amounts to an investment in a United States government security at 4½ per cent. This is an excellent return on such an investment.

RAILWAY PLANS A FINISH FIGHT TO KEEP PROFIT

Norfolk & Western Wars on I. C. C.

BY O. A. MATHER.

A finish fight against the interstate commerce commission's methods of railroad valuation and its effort to collect excess earnings under the recapture clause of the transportation act will be made by the Norfolk and Western railroad. This is promised by A. C. Needles in his annual report to the stockholders, made public last night.

ARTHUR C. NEEDLES.

The Norfolk and Western is one of the best earning roads in the country and even during last year's depression its earnings were equivalent to nearly $11 a share on its common stock. The commerce commission has demanded that the road surrender $15,849,344, or half of its earnings for the three years, 1924, 1925, and 1926, under the recapture clause.

Will File Protest.

"The company will file a protest denying that the values, net railway operating income, and consequent recapturable amounts are correct and lawful," President Needles says. "This protest will raise the issues which will in due course be heard and determined by the commission. If the commission should adhere to its conclusions reached in the tentative recapture report, the company will then carry the case into the courts and have the issue of fact and law authoritatively determined.

"The commission has made no report as to recapture for any year since 1926, but upon the theory of the commission's present order the company's operations in the years subsequent to 1926 would show additional recapturable income to an unascertainable amount. The task of preparing and pricing inventories of the company's property for the recapture years is about completed and the company will be ready to press for hearing and determination of the case. The cost of valuation work from July 1, 1914, to Dec. 31, 1930, has been $1,406,121."

As with all the railroads, gross revenues of the Norfolk and Western declined considerably last year, but economies absorbed part of the decrease. Net income for 1930 was $31,-[illegible], equivalent after preferred dividends to $21.97 a share on $140,648,300 common stock. Dividends totaling $12 a share were paid on the common stock and after dividends and adjustments, surplus was increased by $14,-[illegible] to $157,236,722. Net income for 1929 was $41,786,461, or $29.05 a share on the common stock.

Shed Sidelights on Trade.

Annual reports made public by several industrial companies shed sidelights on varied lines of business last year. The Central and South West Utilities company, a subsidiary of the Middle West Utilities company, reported gross earnings of its subsidiaries totaling $33,994,132, compared with $34,787,492. But in spite of this slight decline, net earnings of Central and South West Utilities were $7,364,376, equivalent after preferred dividends, etc., to $1.34 a share on 1,947,813 common shares. Net earnings for 1929 were $6,008,160, or $1.29 a share on 2,873,605 shares. Total assets at the end of 1930 were $52,-[illegible].

The decline in securities prices last year is reflected in the report of H. M. Byllesby & Co. Income from operations were $1,807,149 and dividends of $2 on the preferred and class A and class B common shares took $1,730,-070. The company depreciated its security holdings by $8,592,339 to bring them to market values as of Dec. 31, 1930, with the result that surplus was reduced by $8,515,260 to $11,130,493. However, the security holdings have appreciated substantially since the end of 1930. Net income for 1929 was $4,-392,805. At the end of 1930 the company had total assets of $49,251,321.

U. S. Radiator Report.

The slump in building construction, particularly in the latter months of 1930, brought an operating loss of $641,-972 to the United States Radiator corporation for its fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1931. After paying $7 on the preferred stock and $1.50 on the common shares, the company had a final deficit of $1,254,153, which reduced common stock and surplus balance to $2,165,-751, which affords a book value of nearly $15 a share for the 211,672 common shares.

In the preceding fiscal period net profit was $1,037,529, equivalent after preferred dividends to $3.50 a share on the common stock. The balance sheet as of Jan. 31, 1931, shows current assets of $5,682,017, current liabilities of $140,634 and total assets of $10,490,985.

PENNSYLVANIA PLAN TO ELECTRIFY BRINGS NEW ERA TO RAILWAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 22.—A new era in the science of railroad electrification will be reached with the awarding of contracts for application of the new power to the eastern lines of the Pennsylvania railroad in the near future, according to opinion among those close to the subject. Large contracts for changes on the right of way, necessitated by the improvement, have already been awarded and it is expected that orders for perhaps one hundred electric locomotives of unequaled speed and power will soon be placed.

Discussing this aspect of industrial development, Sidney Whitington, electrical engineer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, said that what he termed the "first era" of this form of industrial enterprise was now ended. This era, he said, was one of research and development begun with the electrification of the Nantucket Beach branch of the New Haven in 1895. This era, he continued, provided the answers for the questions of deciding which was the most efficient equipment and also the question of when a railroad should be electrified.

By making electricity a standard rather than a special source of power new vistas are opened to American manufacturing, it was pointed out in industrial circles. Railroad equipment companies in recent years have not enjoyed the same scale of prosperity as they have in the past. This is chiefly because the railroads have ordered equipment which, with efficient use, makes fewer units do more work than a greater number of units in the past.

Hence, it is argued, a wholesale shift to the new form of propulsion by the railroads would provide industry with an entirely new market and one that would more than replace the decreasing market for steam equipment.

GRAIN MARKETS SHOW STRENGTH IN BREAK TESTS

Bearish News Seen as Discounted.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain prices are down to the lowest in years and, although the trade largely is bearish, the market meets resistance on all breaks. It has done this for so many weeks of late that there is developing a belief in certain quarters that possibly news of a depressing nature has been discounted for the present.

With all the bearishness that has developed, coupled with the highest volume of trade in years, prices of new crop wheat futures, on which there are no restrictions, lost only ½c net last week, while old crop months, March and May, closed unchanged to ½c lower.

At the same time corn finished unchanged to ½c higher, oats gained ½@1¼c, and rye ¼c.

Sales of wheat futures for the week of 63,579,000 bu were nearly 7,000,000 bu larger than the previous week, but materially less than last year. Corn sales of 59,191,000 bu dropped over 10,000,000 bu for the week and 21,000,-000 bu from a year ago.

See Eventual Revival.

It is the general impression that business throughout the country is picking up and that eventually the grain trade will revive, especially should there be a crop scare development in the next 30 to 60 days. The stock market has had a good revival and there is large speculative trading in butter, eggs and potatoes for future delivery and there never has been a time when so many different agricultural products were handled on the future delivery basis as at present.

The system of handling grain, evolved in the last 50 years, has been brought down to a scientific basis, with actual costs minimized, so that they are the smallest on any commodity being marketed. To have a liquid market it is necessary that there should be both buyers and sellers, to keep an equilibrium.

At present there appears to be buyers on all weak spots and sellers on all bulges, so that price fluctuations are within a narrow range. Those who advocate stabilization of prices are having a good illustration in present markets, as the range on July wheat in Chicago last week was 61¾@63¼c. July and September wheat are new crop deliveries and are selling about the same price.

The farm board is not operating in new crop months, but holding March and May at the same price established last November. It is taking all the cash grain that the sellers deliver and selling fair quantities, although no figures are given.

Expect Adjustment.

It is believed by those who are interested in handling cash wheat that an adjustment will be made by which the farm board will take care of the cash delivered on May sales and that storage room will be provided. At the same time track deliveries may be made in the last three days of this month and eventually storage room will be found for the grain.

There has been no time in the history of the grain trade when a similar situation existed. What it really means in the way of prices, time alone will develop. There are traders who pre-

Colombia Gets $4,000,000 Loan from U.S.Bank Group

BOGOTA, Colombia, March 22.—(AP)—The Colombian government has announced receipt of a $4,000,000 loan from United States banks, headed by the National City Bank of New York and the First National of Boston. The government will apply the loan toward liquidation of the nation's floating debt.

Industry Is Digging Out of Worst Winter in Decade

New York, March 22.—(AP)—Spring breaks over a business world slowly digging out of the worst winter in a decade.

Industry has been so thoroughly snowed under that most observers expect the remains of the heavier drifts will endure through the summer. But the start made at thawing and digging out is widely regarded as gratifying.

Progress of the last week was marked by reports of further gains in steel, automobile, and electric power production. Acceleration in building, strength in steel prices, and, for the third successive week, relative stability of commodity quotations generally.

The steel industry is operating around 57 per cent of capacity. Another gain of 2 points, as estimated by Iron Age, compared to 41 per cent at the start of the year. Aggregate operations at less than 60 per cent of capacity can not be regarded as particularly profitable. But the steady gain since the first of the year has more than exceeded the normal seasonal advance.

Will Boost Prices.

Contrary to the understanding a week previously, Carnegie Steel, principal eastern subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, has announced an increase of $1 a ton in quotations are bars, shapes, and plates, a further step toward correction of the unprofitable price level in this basic industry. This advance will not take effect until April 1, and its influence on profits will depend upon how well consumers are supplied at current quotations.

On the basis of building contracts let during the first half of March, the month may show an increase of as much as 45 per cent over February, or nearly double the normal seasonal upturn of about 24 per cent. Residential building continues to gain, but public works and utilities are contributing the larger volume to the current showing.

Motor output continues to gain slowly. The current rate is still well below that necessary to bring the year's output up to the 4,000,000 to 4,500,000 cars generally forecast. Nevertheless consumer buying is generally reported as gaining impetus, with the veteran loans prominently mentioned as a quickening influence. Conservative producers expect this impetus to carry well into the spring months.

Textile Situation.

There have been some signs of a tapering off in the textile industry, which has been one of the bright spots of winter, but this has not reached important proportions. Reports from the shoe and leather trades in the last week were optimistic. The pre-Easter shoe demand appeared to have equaled or surpassed expectations. Reports of pre-Easter retail trade generally are somewhat spotty, but cheerful returns are by no means wanting. Retailers' profit margins are in the main very narrow.

The petroleum industry remains under a cloud with prices drastically depressed, but campaigns to limit production, particularly in Texas, are gaing in vigor, and negotiations in Washington to reach a voluntary agreement to curtail imports are expected to bear fruit. Crude output as reporting for the latest week showed another disconcerting gain, but the rapid piling up of gasoline stocks in storage was partially checked.

FAINT RAYS OF LIGHT APPEAR IN ECONOMIC SKY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 22.—In most respects the course of trade and industry is running true to form when compared with the initial period of real recovery from acute and prolonged depression.

The idea, more or less prevalent a year ago, that the upturn comes in a sudden and spectacular rush, is based on wholly erroneous recollections. The memory of such episodes in the past quite naturally recalls the moment when it came to be discovered that business was at least moving in its replenishment of exhausted supplies and forgets the invariable series of preceding months in which tentative, cautious, and irregular movement seemed to indicate little more than stationary trade activities.

On these occasions the industrial prophets, with repeated disappointment of hopeful expectations just behind them, have always warned the public not to expect too much. They even congratulate the country [as they

This 1930 tariff

Will its "flexible" provisions affect YOUR business?

DO YOU KNOW . . .

. . . THAT at this moment the Tariff Commission is considering raising or lowering the duties on no less than 35 commodities?

. . . THAT the flexible provisions give the Commission and the President considerably wider powers of upward than of downward revision?

. . . THAT if a 50% increase in the statutory rate fails to equalize the foreign and domestic costs, then the President, by proclamation, can shift the basis of valuation from foreign value to the selling price of some comparable article of American manufacture? That this applies to all ad valorem duties?

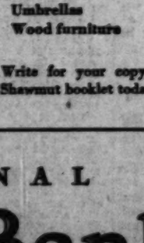
. . . THAT no corresponding provision exists for enlarging the President's powers to decrease the rates of duty?

. . . TO WHAT extent the Commission can recommend changing the duty on any one of the 35 commodities it has under investigation? And what methods of investigation has the Commission to follow?

. . . HOW to place an application for an investigation before the Commission?

THESE questions and others of vital importance to business executives are clearly expounded in the Shawmut booklet, The 1930 Tariff Act.

In presenting this booklet Shawmut preserves its strict neutrality regarding the tariff act. This booklet has been specially prepared by a former European Representative of the United States Tariff Commission for the benefit of our friends. It is written in non-technical language. A limited edition has just been printed. A request upon your business letterhead will bring you a copy, free, with our compliments.



To Executives

If a change in duty on any of the articles which the Tariff Commission has under consideration will affect your business, you will want to read the Shawmut booklet, "The 1930 Tariff Act—How Its Flexible Provisions May Affect Your Business."

Here are a few of the commodities which the Tariff Commission has under investigation:

Boots and shoes
Cattle hides
Cement
Cheese
Chocolate
Cigarette and cigar holders
Infants' wear of wool
Lace fabrics and lace articles
Lumber and timber of fir, spruce, etc.
Maple sugar
Matches
Olive oil
Pipe bowls and pipes
Refined sugar
Sugar candy
Sunshades
Straw hats
Umbrellas
Wood furniture

GRAIN MARKETS SHOW STRENGTH AS BREAKS ARISE

Bearish News Discounted, Some Quarters Feel.

dict that wheat eventually will sell at 45c and 50c. Others, however, are more conservative. Advocates of farmers' relief are having nothing to say and, to use an expression of the grain trade, they are realizing that to attempt to establish fixed prices on commodities that are raised in so many different countries the world over, is futile and becomes terribly expensive.

Statistics Radically Bearish.

Wheat statistics present a most bearish situation, but the question is how much of it is represented in present prices. The United States and Caanda have around 560,000,000 bu. There is 145,000,000 bu in leading visible supply points, the largest known. While farm stocks are given by the government as 160,000,000 bu, investigation by farm board interests indicate that they are much less than reported by the agricultural department. There is more than enough wheat in the four big producing countries, United States, Argentina, Australia, and Canada, to supply import requirements of Europe for a whole season. Canada, according to one aththority, has a surplus of 226,000,000 bu, the United States has a carryover, it is estimated, of 275,000,000 to 350,000,000 bu. An increase in the visible supply is expected in today's report, when it should show a reverse at this season.

March wheat closed at 79¾c; May, 81⅝c; July, 62¾@62¼c; September, 62¼c. Winnipeg closed unchanged to ⅛c lower for the week, with May 58⅛c and July 60¼c, and October 62¼c.

Special attention is given to the moisture situation. There is said to be a large deficit, as compared with normal in American and Canadian northwest, and while prospects in the southwest have improved it will take timely rains to maintain the present high crop conditions. Liquidation in Corn.

Corn traders who have been bullish have in some instances sold liberal sized lines within the last few days, due to reports of an increased movement into Kansas City and Omaha and to the indifferent cash demand. Outside of the industrials corn distributors are not taking hold to any extent and they report that it is easier to buy corn to arrive than to sell for shipment. Spreading operations between wheat and corn have been an important factor, corn being bought and wheat sold.

South Africa and Argentine are said to be filling up the European trade, and consumptive requirements in the interior are being reduced by mild weather and by the near approach of the spring pasturing season. March closed at 62c, May 64⅛@64¼c, July 66½c, September 66⅞@66¾c. The latter two months are around ¼c above the price of wheat, which many traders think are bearish. Prices for the week follow:

H. M. BYLLESBY 1930 NET INCOME TOTALS $1,807,149

H. M. Byllesby & Co. today reported 1930 net income of $1,807,149, compared with $4,392,805 in 1929. The report says this reflects drastic liquidation of securities values during the year, reducing the market value of the company's portfolio as of Dec. 31, 1930. It is pointed out in the report, however, that the values of these securities at present are substantially above levels of that date.

Milwaukee Road to Have Door-to-Door Service

Pickup and delivery by motor service of freight shipments moving by rail is to be provided by the Milwaukee road, effective May 1, according to announcement by E. B. Finegan, freight traffic manager. For the present the arrangement will be confined to certain points in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Illinois, including the Chicago and Milwaukee districts. Under the new arrangement all less than carload freight will be picked up by the railroad company direct from industries, warehouses or stores for shipment to any destination on the Milwaukee road or its connections. At specified points shipments will be hauled from freight depots to the address of the consignes.

FIRST FAINT RAYS OF LIGHT APPEAR IN ECONOMIC SKY

Business Seen in Definite Move Toward Upturn.

ave doing now] on the slowness with which recovery was proceeding.

Perhaps they are unconsciously so grateful that the economic picture is at least no longer growing darker every week that they ask for the present nothing more tha ncontinued trade stability. Nevertheless, that has always been the period when the first indications of approaching general revival come into sight. The dawn will certainly not yet be visible to watchers of the business horizon; but here and there, often at widely separated points in the financial landscape, faint rays of light can be discovered, which gradually become more numerous and whose meaning is unmistakable.

A survey at the moment will find a good part of the trade situation entirely unchanged. Car loadings, railway earnings, export and import trade, clearing house exchanges, company profits are pretty much what they were three months ago. But production of steel continues the gradual expansion that has thus far been visible in every week of 1931. In textile manufacture, which was one of the first lines of trade to begin the reaction, early in 1929, consumption is now running 50 per cent above production, with unsold stocks at the lowest figure since January, 1928.

Is Important Index.

Silver bullion, an important index of oriental conditions, fell 17 per cent in the first six weeks of 1931, but has recovered nearly all the loss. The monthly report on employment in the manufacturing industry has just shown the first distinct increase since September, 1929. The decline in average prices had already slackened in February, with that month's reductions mostly in grain products. In March the weekly average has advanced for the first time in the year; even in Europe some of the British monthly "index numbers" show the first change in an upward direction since the middle of 1929.

It will be observed that none of these changes is spectacular, but they at least indicate an increasingly general trend in the right direction. Even to those who have insisted that the root of the trouble has been "maldistribution of gold," last week's cessation of the French market's requisitions on an unwilling London, and resumption of the movement of incoming Transvaal gold into the Bank of England, show a change for the better.

HOOVER TO TAKE UP REQUEST FOR SILVER MEETING

Washington, D. C., March 22.—(AP)—The senate resolution proposing an international conference on methods to relieve the depressed world silver market will be among the questions pressing for consideration when President Hoover returns from his Caribbean voyage.

Mr. Hoover has been giving serious consideration to the silver problem. It was one of the many questions discussed by the President and Senator Borah of Idaho at a recent White House luncheon.

Senator Pittman, Democrat of Nevada, author of the resolution requesting the executive to call an international conference, plans to see Mr. Hoover as soon as the latter returns to Washington to learn what steps might be expected to carry out the purpose of the proposal.

New Investment House for LaSalle Street Opens Today

Announcement is made of the organization of the investment security house of Winston, Clark & Co., and its formal opening of offices today at 10 North La Salle street. The new firm, while doing a general investment business, will specialize in real estate bonds. Fred Winston, formerly with A. W. Straus & Co. and a large building operator, is president of the new company. Stephen T. Clark Jr. is vice president and Grier D. Patterson, secretary and treasurer.

6 Railroads Report Sharp Drop in February Earnings

The first six railroads to report February results showed net operating income of $1,364,000, a decrease of 30.5 per cent from $4,364,000 reported for the like month of 1930. For January of this year the same carriers reported net operating income of $3,686,000.

PRINCE & WHITELY ASSETS $15,000,000 OVER LIABILITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 22.—A schedule in bankruptcy filed Saturday in United States District court by the Irving Trust company, receivers for the brokerage house of Prince & Whitely, showed that nominal assets of the concern exceed by almost $15,000,000 the liabilities of the firm.

The liabilities total $60,974,957, according to the fifty page schedule, and nominal assets are $75,390,974, including about $50,000,000 in securities pledged with banks as collateral for loans.

The brokerage house, one of the oldest and largest in the country, was expelled from the stock exchange for insolvency on Oct. 9, 1930, and the receiver was appointed the same day. Since then the Irving Trust company has reorganized and continued the business for the benefit of the creditors. Recently the receiver issued a statement saying it appeared that creditors will receive nearly 100 cents on the dollar, and the figures in the schedule fortified this prediction, though it is not expected that the assets can be liquidated at their full nominal value.

Unsecured claims, principally credit balances of customers, comprise the number of the liabilities, $23,974,957.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY.

We Will Help the Man Who Wants to Work

We are now increasing our local and national organization in preparation for spring business. Those men who join us now will be in a position to get their full share of this enormous volume of business that will result from our current national advertising.

Our requirements are as follows: Ambition, neat appearance, good reference, between 25 and 35 years of age. To twelve such men we offer a permanent position with good pay and an assured future in the sales department of one of the leading manufacturers in the country.

Your earnings to start will be based on your own ability to understand our products and explain them to others, after we have given you, at our expense, a thorough sales training. Our unusually fair and unique method of compensation where each man shares in the profits on a liberal commission plan has enabled us to boast of one of the largest, highest paid sales organizations in America. Men who have been earning regularly from $150 to $1,000 per month, and many of these men never sold anything before coming with us.

If you think you will measure up to our requirements we will be glad to have you call today between 10-4. See Mr. Taylor, 75 E. Wacker-dr., Suite 1002, Mather Tower.

Attention, W. Side Men
Oak Park and Vicinity

THE BIGGEST COMPANY
of its kind in the world is opening up the United States territory; hundreds of men are needed for executive positions paying them $30 per week up to $20,000 per year; many vacancies along the line; advancement very rapid.

You should start to earn the first week; if you are looking for money and opportunity, let us look you over—it may mean the turning point of your life; applicants must apply in person prepared to start at once and to attend school at our nearest factory branch; interviews granted between 9 and 12 and 1 and 4 today only.

818 Harrison-st., Oak Park.
Block West of Oak Park-av.
W. C. Oakley, Eastern Illinois Division Mgr.

A Hi-Grade Connection

for several men between the ages of 21 and 35; well educated; possessing good personality. If you seek an opportunity and are willing to work hard for a worth while future, you can advance just as far and fast as your ability and application warrant with a large financial institution that is definitely going ahead.

We will train you in our business at our expense, equipping you to make a better-than-average income from the start. We need executives to open branches and these positions will be filled from within the organization, if you think you can measure up to the standard we require, phone State 7500, Monday only, for an appointment from 9 to 5 p. m.

NORTH SIDE MEN

We are expanding our operations in the United States and our programs calls for about 40 men in the Illinois territory alone.

These men will be assured of a splendid income and a good future with a financially strong old company. Inasmuch as we are the only firm in our particular field, we cannot get experienced men, but do expect intelligence, aggressiveness, and loyalty.

If you are selected you will be expected to start at once by attending factory branch school.

Add. for Mr. Gundel, 9-12 and 1-4 Monday, Suite 361 McJunkin Bldg., 4554 Broadway, corner Wilson.
